STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — To mark the opening of Penn State's new Dairy Cattle Research and Education Center, the Penn State Dairymen's Club highlighted former dairy barn student workers and the history of the Penn State dairy herd at its annual banquet. The event took place November 4 at the Penn State Ag Area.

The club also presented its 1994-95 Service Award to Samuel D. Williams. Jr. of Bryncoed Farm in Dauphin County. Sam, as he is affectionately known, has devoted 63 years to the advancement the dairy industry in Pennsylvania as well as several foreign countries.

Graduating first in his class at Penn State in 1931, Sam was a DHIA milk tester for two years, then started his Jersey farm with seven cows. He sold the milk, which won many Farm Show milk competition medals, expanding one route with seven customers to four routes with 500 customers by 1960. He and his son Tom, who joined him with running the farm, received the Master Farmer Award in 1966. They now have over 100 Jerseys.

Sam was instrumental in starting the Dauphin County Farm Bureau and supported the start of the county Conservation District and DHIA Committee. Working with the Heifer Project International and the Council of Church-

SCHAEFFERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — The Lebanon County Penn State Extension held its annual banquet and election of directors Wednesday at the Schaefferstown Fire Hall.

The meeting, open to the public, was attended by more than 200 people, including present and past extension staff, volunteers, 4-H leaders, supporters, and county commissioners William Carpenter, Rosemarie Swanger, and Phillip Feather, state Rep. Peter Zug, and state Sen. David "Chip" Brightbill.

Enos Heisey presided over the meeting.

Michelle Rodgers, interim capital region director, said that Lebanon County should be proud of its extension program, that it is regarded as a "flagship" program because of its innovation, that she said is largely due to the efforts of the volunteers and the innovation and dedication of the extension staff.

Rodgers also honored county extension director Alletta Schadler, better known as "Lettie." Schadler, Rodgers said, has held just about every position of responsibility within the county extension service and she is well known for her radio programs, public presentations and long-[illegible] committ-

GUTHRIESVILLE (Chester Co.) — If you want to do well in the world of the '90s, you are going to have to deal with machines.

Those who can cope with changing technology and pass the techniques of handling technology to their offspring will ensure a more stable world, according to a Penn State family living specialist who spoke to about 100 guests at the annual meeting Thursday evening of the Chester County Cooperative Extension.

Dr. Cathy Bowen, assistant prrofessor in the department of agriculture and extension education, spoke about how to deal with the natural resources we call life skills. For coping day to day, people must learn what she calls the three important skills we all need to learn: communication and interaction with others; solving problems and making decisions; and obtaining, evaluating, and using information.

She provided three examples into the lives of real people who face completely different coping skills. One is a teenage[illegible] with one child who moved into [illegible] apartment and has difficulty in shop-

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — "Today we have landowners in Lancaster County who are making commitments to preserve family farms, farm by farm," said Alan Mussleman, executive director, Lancaster Farmland Trust. "And this commitment is growing so that indeed, we are headed to become the most protected farm community in the U.S."

These comments were made last Friday night at the annual meeting of the Trust held at the Willow Valley Convention Center Palm Court. More than 300 supporters and land preservationists attended.

In his "State of the Trust" address, Mussleman announced that in just six years, Lancaster Farmland Trust has preserved 54 farms, totaling 3,802 acres. Added to what the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board has accomplished, the total number of farms in Lancaster County with

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally light, but was generally sufficient to keep the fully adequate to ample supply from accumulating. Live supplies were moderate; weights were in a full range and were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 47 to 58 cents. Trade sentiment was steady at best, and was affected by buyers shifting interest to stocking up on other items for the upcoming Holiday. In the parts complex, wings were adequate and in best balance. Other items were fully sufficient for current needs.

NORTHEAST LIVE HEN REPORT, NOVEMBER 8, 1994. FEDERAL-STATE

Prices were slightly higher on light type fowl for this week's slaughter. Offerings have slowed temporarily as producers hold flocks for needed egg inventories. Demand was moderate to good. Sales were too few to report on heavy hens. Availability was short to no better than in balance. Finished sales were fairly active due to seasonal buying and government purchase programs. Undertone fully steady but cautious on leghorns and at least steady on heavies.

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices were unchanged. The market tone was mostly steady. Demand was irregular, and mostly moderate. Retail specials provided the best movement, and cartoned egg demand was expected to improve steadily as the Thanksgiving holiday approached. Supplies were adequate or available in all regions, and extra eggs were usually held with varying degrees of confidence. Breaking stock supplies were adequate from regular commitments, and few plants sought additional eggs; the undertone was steady. Live hen offerings were adequate to fully adequate for the light to moderate demand, and the trade sentiment was steady.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 9, 1994

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

WHEAT PRICES WERE MODERATELY LOWER, WEAKENED BY FAVORABLE GROWING WEATHER IN WINTER WHEAT AREAS, INCREASED WHEAT STOCKS FIGURE AND DISAPPOINTING EXPORT OUTLOOK. CORN AND SOYBEAN PRICES CLIMBED SLIGHTLY HIGHER ON ACTIVE FUND BUYING ON THE BOARD AND CONCERNS THAT FINAL LEG OF HARVEST WILL BE DELAYED AGAIN BY RAIN. WHEAT 3 TO 6 CENTS LOWER. CORN 1 TO 3 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 3 TO 7 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 3 TO 6 CENTS HIGHER. SLUGGISH EXPORT BUSINESS AND INDICATIONS CHINA, RUSSIA AND FORMER SOVIET UNION WILL BE IMPORTING LESS U.S. WHEAT THAN EARLIER EXPECTED, PUSHED WHEAT PRICES LOWER. ADDITIONAL WEAKNESS STEMMED FROM USDA'S SUPPLY/DEMAND REPORT SHOWING AN INCREASE IN U.S. AND WORLD WHEAT ENDING STOCKS. BENEFICIAL RAINS FELL IN CENTRAL PLAINS AND FORECASTS FOR MORE IN WINTER WHEAT AREAS, ALSO PRESSURED PRICES. CORN PRICES EXTENDED GAINS AS ACTIVE FUND BUYING AND WET WEATHER FORECASTS FOR MIDWEST AREAS ADDED STRENGTH

TODAY'S USDA CROP PRODUCTION REPORT SPURRED EARLY PROFIT TAKING BUT SELLERS SOON BECAME BUYERS. CORN PRODUCTION WAS FORE- CAST AT A RECORD HIGH 10.0 BILLION BUSHELS, UP 4 PERCENT FROM OCTOBER 1 FORE- CAST AND 56 PERCENT ABOVE 1993 CROP. STRONG SOYOIL DEMAND CONTINUED TO SUPPORT SOYBEAN PRICES FOR THE SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE DAY AND SPILLOVER STRENGTH FROM CORN PITS WAS ALSO A POSITIVE FACTOR. USDA REVISED THEIR SOYBEAN PRODUCTION ESTIMATE TO 2.52 BILLION BUSHELS, UP 3 PERCENT FROM OCTOBER 1. THIS INCREASE HAD BEEN FACTORED INTO THE MARKET EARLIER IN THE WEEK.

MARKET COMMENT: THE MARKET TONE WAS STEADY. DEMAND COVERED THE FULL RANGE, MOSTLY MODERATE, AND BEST WHERE FEATURED. SUPPLIES OF ALL SIZES WERE ADEQUATE OR AVAILABLS. SURPLUS EGGS WERE HELD WITH VARYING DEGREES .OF CONFIDENCE, AND MOST OPERATIONS WERE HOPEFUL THAT THE UPCOMING HOLIDAY WOULD CLEAR ANY ACCUMULATION. BREAKING STOCK SUPPLIES WERE ADEQUATE FOR THE NO BETTER THAN FAIR DEMAND. DEMAND FOR FROZEN OR DRY EGGS WAS LIGHT TO MODERATE AND FOCUSED ON IMMEDIATE NEEDS ONLY. Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY
WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 9, 1994
OKLAHOMA NATIONAL STOCKYARDS WEEKLY CATTLE SUMMARY

Compared to last week: Steers over 600 lbs. steady; feeder heifers steady to $1.00 higher. Calves under 600 lbs. $2.00-$5.00 higher. Trade active. Demand very good for calves as wheat pastures are excellent. Calf quality plain to average, with modest end very attractive. Calf flesh attractive to buyers with majority of calves in slightly thin to medium flesh. Yearling demand good for light supply. Yearling quality plain to average with average to full weigh-ups and slightly thin to medium flesh. Slaughter cows $1.00- $1.50 lower. Slaughter bulls $.75 lower. Demand light to moderate for packer cows and bulls. 880 cows and bulls sold with packers taking 35 percent. 300 hi quality Longhorn cows sold in special dispersal sale. Bulk of these cows bred 4-6 months and in medium flesh. Last weekend's 2-3 inch statewide soaking rain put "icing" on early wheat pasture. More rain coming this week. The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

NOVEMBER 14-20, 1994

FULL BEAVER MOON, NOVEMBER 18.

TRAVEL IN TIME

Traveling by rail in the "good old days" was not always so good Each railroad scheduled arrivals and departures in terms of the particular city and each city set its own time (usually based on the Sun's position over city hall) On arrival, the traveler didn't know if he was "on time" or not, because of local variations In Pittsburgh, for example, the city had its official time, but each of the six railroads and the Allegheny Observatory each had its own time, too The railroads themselves used 101 different times nationwide All that changed on November 18, 1883, when the railroads adopted the four time zones we know as Eastern, Central, Mountain, and Pacific Despite dire predictions, it work out so well in the U S. that Standard Time zones soon expanded to encompass the world

Time is of the essence.

TIP OF THE WEEK

EARTHWISE

Now that the shopping season is upon us, remember to take along bags from home on your next shopping trip Canvas tote bags are great, but even plastic and paper bags from your last shopping spree can be reused (Everyone seems to have a supply of these stashed in a drawer or cupboard) If you forget, ask for a large bag with your first purchase and add all subsequent purchases to that bag. You'll avoid struggling with dozens of bags and you'll save resources in the process.

EASY POT ROAST

- 1 3-pound chuck roast
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup catsup
- 1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt

Brown roast in hot oil in a Dutch oven; remove and set aside Sauté onion in pan drippings until translucent. Return meat to pan. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over the roast. Cover tightly and simmer for 2½ to 3 hours or until meat is tender.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Seasonable and sunny, then rainy and mild, turning cold and snowy west

SOUTHEAST: Sunny, warm days, cold nights; then rain and cold, freezing rain and snow west

MIDWEST: Sunny and warm; rain, changing to snow, with severe cold.

NORTHWEST: Sunny and mild, rain and snow coast; cold, snow, heavy mountains; then clearing.

OPINION

Appreciate Blessings

The 1992 Census of Agriculture (the most recent information available) shows that the United States had 1,925,300 farms, making it the first census since 1850 with fewer than 2 million farms. The census counted the highest number of farms, 6.8 million, in 1935. The value of U.S. agricultural products sold in 1992 reached $163 billion. Even though the number of farms declined, overall farm production increased, thus continuing the trend toward more efficient agricultural productivity, The 333,865 farms with sales of $100,000 or more accounted for only 17 percent of all farms, but 83 percent of total sales. There were 46,914 farms with sales of $500,000 or more in 1992, compared to 32,023 farms of that size in 1987.

The increase in value of sales was largely due to increased crop production in 1992. Although total land in farms dropped from 965 to 946 million acres between 1987 and 1992, harvested cropland rose from 282 to 296 million acres, and crop sales rose by 28 percent in the same period. Farmer participation in Federal annual commodity programs has declined since 1987. Acres idled by those programs fell from 43 million acres in 1987 to 7 million acres in 1992.

Notable regional shifts in milk cows and hogs have been taking place in recent censuses and have accelerated between 1987 and 1992. Since 1987, milk cow inventories decreased in 39 of the 50 states. Five Great Lakes states, Wisconsin, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania had large declines. Collectively they lost 514,948 head, or 12 percent of their combined 1987 inventories. Five western and southwestern states, California, Texas, Washington, Idaho, and New Mexico added a total of 314,595 head. California and New Mexico accounted for 73 percent of that increase. Despite a nationwide decrease in the number of milk cows, the value of dairy products sold registered an 11 percent gain between 1987 and 1992 to a value of $18 billion.

There has also been a shift in hog production. It has remained strong in traditional midwestern states such as Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, and Nebraska. However, North Carolina registered a 108 percent growth in number of hogs sold in 1992 compared with 1987, becoming the second ranked state in number of hogs sold in 1992; up from sixth in 1987.

Sales of poultry and poultry products continued on an upward trend, registering a 21 percent increase between 1987 and 1992. Poultry and poultry products sales were $15.4 billion in 1992, up $2.7 billion from 1987. Alabama, Arkansas, California, Georgia and North Carolina accounted for 46 percent of all poultry and poultry products sold. The number of broilers sold was 5.4 billion.

Americans continue to have an abundant, cheap food supply. Do they really appreciate their blessings?

Now Is The Time

To Watch For Influenza In Horses

According to local veterinarians, we are experiencing an outbreak of a hot strain of equine influenza.

This virus is hopping from barn to barn and making horses very sick. First signs of the disease are running nose and coughing. Temperature may rise slightly.

If not treated, the horse could develop pneumonia or the lungs may fill with liquid. Contact your veterinarian at the first sign of a cough or running nose.

Vaccinations should help slow down the spread of the disease. However, the normal vaccination program of every three months may not be adequate for this new strain. The current recommendation is vaccinate now unless you have vaccinated in the last two months. Then repeat vaccinations every two months.

To reduce the spread of the disease, make sure your barn is adequately ventilated and practice good biosecurity. Do not allow visitors to your barn and change clothes before tending your horses or visiting other horses.

This is an emergency situation that needs your attention. Viruses may be become more pathogenic as they pass from one farm to another. The best way to keep this virus from becoming very pathogenic is to vaccinate. If you have any questions, contact your veterinarian.

To Check Your Insurance

Remember last winter? Record snow falls and ice caused a lot of damage to farm property.

Frozen pipes and fallen roofs were a couple of the loses farmers experienced. However, many farmers found out too late their insurance policy did not cover snow or ice damages.

Now would be a good time to sit down with your insurance agent and discuss your insurance coverage. Another type of insurance you may want to consider is income interruption insurance. This insurance could become very valuable in making loan payments if you have a major lose from fire, roof collapse, etc. and lose the use of your confinement animal housing.

Also, review your health, liability, and life insurance coverage. These insurance policies are designed to reduce the risk of losing your farm. The amount of insurance you need depends on how much money you can afford to spend on unexpected costs and still stay in business.

To Purchase The 1995-1996 Agronomy Guide

The new Penn State Agronomy Guides are available at your local cooperative extension office.

This 215-page book is a must reference for anyone growing crops. It includes the latest pest control recommendations, cultural practices for growing corn, sorghum, soybeans, small grains, forages, cover crops, and conservation plantings. The guide also includes information on soil fertility and proper application of animal manures.

In one book you have the seeding rate, planting time, harvesting guidelines, storage considerations, and pest control recommendations for agronomic crops. The cost is $7 per book. This is a very valuable reference book that should be on every farmer's desk.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

YOU ARE THE ONE!
November 13, 1994

Background Scripture: 2 Samuel 11:1-12:19
Devotional Reading: I John 1:5-10

Have you ever noticed how different sin appears when it is in your own backyard?

If my neighbor does something reprehensible, I generally don't have any difficulty in seeing his actions for what they are. If, on the other hand, one of my children does the same thing, I may regard it as an "unfortunate mistake," but suggest there were some reasons for it. And if, instead, I am the one who does this thing, I may regard it as quite justified and refuse to see it as wrong.

From time to time I read about a physician being sued for malpractice and, on the strength of what I read, my sympathies are usually with the patient. But I have a friend who is a physician and he was sued for malpractice and knowing the circumstances of the case, I feel that the suit is unjustified and my friend did nothing wrong. When we are close to a person, we may see his or her actions in a less condemnatory light.

MORAL SENSE INTACT

When we are the person in question—the person to whom we are closest, ourselves—it is extremely difficult to be objective. We may ignore what we don't want to acknowledge as if it never happened—and we may quickly forget pertinent incriminating details. Have you never condemned anyone for doing the very thing which you have done without remorse?

That's what makes the story of King David and the prophet Nathan so compelling. When Nathan tells the king of a rich man who took the lamb of his poor neighbor, David's moral sense is very much intact. "Then David's anger was greatly kindled against the man; and he said to Nathan, 'As the Lord lives, the man who has done this deserves to die; and he shall restore the lamb fourfold, because he did this thing, and because he had not pity'" (12:6). Our moral sense is usually quite intact when we are judging others.

How devastating, then, when having delivered himself of this ringing condemnation, David is told by Nathan, "You are the man" (12 :7). Having already pronounced judgment upon himself, it is now too late for him to offer excuses and extenuating circumstances. There is no point, now, in David saying, "Just a minute, you don't understand what was involved here."

EXEMPTED BY RANK

It was also too late for David to claim exemption because of who he was, another reason we are so varying in our judgments. As I see it, justice in our society usually varies in direct proportion to the economic and social status of the person accused. White collar crime is much more acceptable in this country than blue collar crime.

There is much less stigma attached to stealing millions of dollars from your company than stealing one hundred dollars from the cash drawer of the local gas station. If you are socially or economically prominent, your sins are more acceptable to the pubic than if you are not.

David's sin began with lust then became adultery, and culminated in murder. Sin has the nature: one paves the way for and leads to another. (In today's world, King David would probably sue Uriah for permitting his wife to bathe in a place where he, David, could see her and lust for her.) Often, the most destructive sins we commit are those that we do to hide another sin.

Most of us do not have a Nathan to confront us and trick us unto pronouncing judgment upon ourselves. But, whenever we find ourselves condemning the actions or words of others, let us remember Nathan and examine ourselves to see if his "You are the one!" could not apply to us, too.

PEQUEA

Models 510S, 515E, 520, 520H, 525 & 530T Bunk Feeders

Here's a better way to feed your herd! With the Pequea portable bunk feeder, you'll save time — save money. Load it up with silage, haylage, round or square bales or any mixture of grain and forage. Tow it into the field, and feed up to 52 head of cattle at once.

With Pequea's efficient slant-bar system cows can't push each other away from feeding spaces, so you have less feed loss from spills. Convenient low tank height accomodates any size cow.

You can save wear and tear on your pasture and they eliminate heavily trampled spots. Just move it to a new location each day.

The New 520H cattle head gate bunk feeder (below) is the modern answer for holding cattle during breeding, veterinarian, or testing purposes.

BECAUSE EVERY ACRE COUNTS.

You know every acre is important. And to make the most of every acre, plant Pioneer® brand seed corn. So see your Pioneer sales representative today. And make every acre count

3525 106 CRM
The performance leader in this maturity. 3525 is a widely adapted, stable, high-yielding hybrid. Tall plant type, excellent for grain and silage. Late flowering will limit northward movement. Outstanding ear flex and good ear attachment. Strong performer under stress.

3394 110 CRM
Record setting yields. This exciting hybrid provides impressive early growth, strong stalks and roots, exceptional stress tolerance, outstanding drydown and lengthy staygreen. Widely adapted to varying soil types, tillage methods and populations. Well-suited for corn silage. Avoid conditions where gray leaf spot is a higher risk.

NEW 3346 113 CRM
Drought tolerant yield leader. Outstanding yield potential and excellent agronomics. Exceptional stalk strength and staygreen. Early growth is slower than average. Expect some early growth "purpling" but excellent stand establishment. Strong silage potential.

3293 114 CRM
Top-end yields. Exceptional early growth. This hybrid features outstanding stalks, lengthy staygreen and very good drought tolerance. Above average grain appearance, test weight and grain protein content. A good dual-purpose hybrid for grain or silage.

IMPORTANT: Each hybrid has unique strengths and considerations. Contact your Pioneer sales representative for more complete information on these and other Pioneer hybrids.

You'll produce as much as 440 pounds of additional yield per acre with Promise alfalfa. Over a three-year stand, this fine-stemmed variety can generate yields that could amount to more than 1,200 pounds of additional forage.

In trial after trial, Promise has lived up to its name, producing added tonnage over check varieties, with many stands lasting into the fifth year. And Promise demonstrates high resistance to the Northeast's most common alfalfa diseases.

With high yields, high disease resistance and the Hoffman name behind it, there aren't any better choices That's our Promise!

Haying, Grazing Period Open

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The official grazing and haying period opened Sept. 1, for land designated as conserving use (CU) for payment under the 1994 acreage reduction programs.

"Farm program participants are now authorized to hay or graze their CU acreage," Jenifer K. Hershey, county executive director of the Lebanon County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said.

Farmers are not permitted to graze CU for payment land during the 5-month non-grazing period set by the State ASC committee. The non-grazing period in Lebanon County runs from April 1, to August 31.

The 1994 farm program enrollment report showed that 70 acres of Lebanon County cropland was diverted from production to CU for payment. "This acreage has since been planted to cover crops such as grasses, legumes, small grains or put into approved conservation practices," Hershey said.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in its programs on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, political beliefs, and marital or familial status. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.) Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communication of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, etc.) should contact the USDA, Office of Communications at 202-720-5881 (voice) or 202-720-7808 (TDD).

Lancaster Holstein Club Elects Officers

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

MT. JOY (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancater Holstein Club held its annual banquet and business meeting Thursday night at the Country Table Restaurant in Mt. Joy, recognizing member achievements and electing officers.

Three new directors were elected to the nine-man board; Tom Barley, Warren Good and LeRoy Welk. In a business meeting following the banquet, the board of directors reorganized and elected Jack Coleman president, Lynn Royer vice president, Dale Hershey treasurer, and LeRoy Welk as secretary.

Other directors are Daryl Mills and Larry Kennel.

The officers reviewed the club's past year, stating that the club is financially in good shape and that bookwork was in order.

The club also recognizes top 305-day lactation production by members' registered Holsteins.

The top milk, fat and protein producing junior 2-year-old award went to Melody Lawn Farms' Leadman Maria. Maria made 28,451 pounds of milk, 959 pounds of fat, and 874 pounds of protein on a first lactation.

The top milk-producing senior 2-year-old was Meadow Vista Farm's Bell Jill with 30,754 pounds milk and 910 pounds fat, 879 pounds protein.

The top senior 2-year-old for fat and protein production was Neffdale Farm's Steady Piggy with 1,704 pounds fat and 899 pounds of protein made on 27,537 pounds of milk.

The top milk-producing 3-year-old was Meadow Vista Chris Leona, owned by Meadow Vista Farm, with 33,509 pounds milk, 909 pounds fat, and 890 pounds protein.

Raymond and Glenn Brubaker's 3-eyar-old, Caernarvon Mark Starglow-ET, a VG 88, made 1,303 pounds of fat, and 1,025 pounds of protein in 31,468 pounds of milk.

The top-producing 4-year-old was Kenneth Zurin's Kenburn Jamacia Tulip, with 34,294 pounds of milk, 1,265 pounds of fat, and 1,055 pounds of protein.

The top milk-producing senior-aged Holstein cow was Shelmar Acres Gambler Grace, owned by Shelmar Acres, with 37,109 pounds milk, 926 pounds of fat, and 1,046 pounds of protein.

The top milk-component producing senior cow was SuKavin Bell Tina, an Excellent 90 Holstein owned by Roy Stoner, with 1,257 pounds butterfat, and 1,070 pounds protein in 29,650 pounds of milk.

Lancaster County Holstein Club junior production award winners were Zachery Meck, Jeremy Meck, Laura Blank, Lisa Blank, Jeremy Welk, Denise Bollinger, Jill Harnish, and Joe Best.

Distinguished junior members were Laura Blank, Joe Best and Jill Harnish.

In an annual program to reward junior members with the best record books for raising Holsteins, Joe Best, son of John and Carol Best, won a registered Holstein heifer calf that was sponsored by the Kenneth and Anna Mary Beiler family, and the club.

The calf prize is annually presented to the intermediate-aged junior member with the top record book. To prize to the top junior member is a show box and this year's winner was Laura Blank.

In other business, Don Eby gave a review of the Holstein futurity, and Gelnn Shirk, county extension agent, reviewed several topics of concern, including farm labor, a county wide reassessment for setting real estate taxes (he said the Farm Bureau is to hold informational meetings after assessment notices have been mailed by the county), and the Penn State Dairy MAP program.

Jack Coleman reminded members that the club's annual cheese sale starts Tuesday and members should contact a director for more information.

Joe Best, son of John and Carol Best, holds an arm around the registered Holstein heifer calf he won in an annual contest sponsored by the Lancaster County Holstein Club that rewards the intermediate-aged youth with the top project book.

son Martin was the outstanding senior member for NoSoAnn, as well as the county.

Those recognized for having the best bred and owned animals were Amanda and Allison Martin and Jesse Bomgardner.

Curtis Bomgardner was named the top Hoard's dairy judge.

Jesse Bomgardner was named outstanding dairy judging team member. The dairy judgin team won the state competition.

Jennifer Bashore was named the oustanding dairy bowl member.

And the winners of the Lebanon County scrapbook awards were Amy Habecker, Amanda Martin, and Alisha Myers.

Allison Martin was also the recipient of a Meridan Bank 4-H scholarship.

Recognition was also made to the members of the senior team to the state 4-H contest, winners at the All-American dairy judging forum, dairy bowl members, and other winners during previous contests already reported.

Winebark said that the Lebanon County 4-H Dairy club membership continues to be strong, and that members are fortunate to have such supportive and committed club leaders and industry supporters.

Jennifer Maulfair is named outstanding rookie of Lebanon County.

Maryland Holstein Offers Scholarships

DICKERSON, Md. — The deadline for submitting applications for several scholarships offered by the Maryland Holstein Association is Jan. 1.

Applicants must be Maryland residents who have had registered Holsteins as a 4-H or FFA project, and who are currently enrolled in a college-level agricultural program.

To get scholarship applications, write or call Aurthur and Peggy Johnson, chairmen of the Md.HA Scholarship Committee, at 22520 Mt. Ephraim Rd., Dickerson, Md., 20842, (301) 972-8274.

The applications must be returned to the Johnsons by Jan. 1.

Those enrolled with the University of Maryland College of Agriculture are eligible to apply for two $500 scholarships.

Those enrolled in the two-year program at the University of Maryland Institute of Applied Agriculture, or a similar program, are eligible for two scholarship.

There are two $500 scholarships available to those enrolled in agriculture at the college of the applicant's choice.

Berks Slates Conservation Tour

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The Berks County Conservation District has announced that a jointly sponsored conservation tour into the northwest region of the county has been scheduled for Nov. 18.

According to an announcement, the tour is being co-sponsored by the county offices of the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the USDA Soil Conservation Service, the conservation district, Penn State Cooperative Extension, and the DER Bureau of Forestry.

The bus tour is scheduled to leave the county agricultural center, located near the state prison in Leesport, at 9 a.m., on Nov. 18 and visit three farm conservation demonstrations; a llama farm operation; a honey processing facility; and lunch at Midway Diner (on your own).

The cost of the tour is $12 per person and covers transportation.

Since seating is limited, reservations are on a first-come basis. Deadline for reservations is Nov. 10.

For more information, visit or call the Berks County ASCS office at the county ag center in Leesport, (610) 478-7158.

Beef Association 'User's Group' To Provide Education, Representation

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

PEACH BOTTOM (Lancaster Co.) — People who own computers often belong to a "user's group." Bobbi McMullen wants southeastern Pennsylvania beef producers to know there is a "user's group" for them, too.

Recently, the Southeast Regional Cattlemen's Association was organized to "help the small producers out. We want to attract the feeders, the cow-calf people" and others associated in any way with the rapidly growing beef industry, said McMullen, who is secretary-treasurer.

As a result, the meeting of the associate, a 100 percent affiliate of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, will be held Thursday, Nov. 17, at 6:30 p.m. at the Hoss's Steak House, Rt. 100 and 113, in Lionville, Chester County. (See related story this issue.)

During a recent interview with Lancaster Farming at her farm, Wakefield Angus in Peach Bottom, McMullen spoke about what the intent and focus of the group will be to those who work in the beef industry.

The organization, she said, was started to help the small producers.

"There're a lot of people who have a few cow/calves in the backyard, breeding their own kids' 4-H steers, that type of thing, that haven't the foggiest idea," she said, about how to properly raise and care for beef animals.

As a result, based on her experiences with people who "helped me along the way," the group was molded after the by-laws of the Berks County Cattlemen's Association. "They told us what to do and how to do it," said McMullen.

One of the ways the association will help producers is by distributing information about the National Cattlemen's Association Beef Quality Assurance Program next spring. The program teaches feeders and cow-calf producers how to properly vaccinate beef animals.

"For years, we've always given vaccinations on a beef animal in the rump," she said. "But that's your top round, that's where your best meat is."

The meat from any producer's animal will end up in some way, whether as a cow or steer, in McDonald's hamburgers or steak served at home or in restaurants, according to McMullen. Producers must understand that the site of the injection damage often results in a pocket of permanent scar tissue or infection. "That ruins the cut of meat," she said.

What is surprising is that for many years, horse breeders routinely injected in the neck because of the heavily muscled rump on a horse. What took beef producers so long to catch on?

Many times, according to McMullen, producers will switch from rump to neck injections on older cattle. The cattle become used to the rump injections and often react to the change in site. But moving to a neck injection insures that little or no meat can suffer from possible injection site damage.

The efforts of the regional group will focus in on how to weather the price changes (which affect all segments of the beef industry) to often negative reports provided by the press about the industry. McMullen points out the recent story on national TV over the bacterial contamination of meat, and said that "us producers are the ones that hurt in the end."

The association will provide the necessary education and representation so vital to the continuance of the industry in this part of the region.

Already, the group has signed up 23 members from southern Lancaster and Chester counties. The group includes one cow/calf operation from Maryland. But the association remains open to producers throughout all of Lancaster and welcomes all types of breeds and variety of producer farms and beef-related enterprises.

The association will meet once a year in November. But throughout the year the association will host field days at member farms and provide other educational activities.

"We're trying very hard to focus on the youth," she said. "If you read all the statistics, the average age of the farmer keeps getting older and older. And if we don't keep the youth involved and the youth interested, we're not going to have any farmers in the future."

McMullen also serves as secretary of the Atlantic National Angus Foundation, which hosts one of the largest Angus Shows around on Memorial Day Weekend at the Timonium Fairgrounds in Timonium, Md.

Bobbi and her husband, Joe, own and operate the Wakefield Angus Farm just off 222 north of Peach Bottom. There, they maintain 60 acres (nearly all rotationally grazed) for their purebred registered Angus cow/calf herd, of which they are calving 14. They purchased the farm two years ago.

At their farm, Bobbi manages a herd begun about 11 years ago with a cow/calf purchased at their former farm in Oxford. She continues to expand the herd.

One such calf, Edna, a Feb. 1993 daughter out of the Krueger Foolish Pride dam and Differential Bull, could be a promising addition to further increase the viability of the stock.

McMullen consigns two bulls every year to the state Meat Evaluation Center Performance Testing Bull program. This year, they had the top indexing bull over all breeds and the highest selling Angus bull. She has been consigning bulls to that sale the past eight years.

Other bulls are sold to breeders in various locations. All are registered Angus sales.

McMullen said she continues to market as many bulls as she can.

McMullen recently purchased a new computer to help with registration information and to conduct business as secretary and treasurer of the association. She uses it to keep track of the genetics of the herd.

She uses all AI on the herd. "We're trying to breed for what we consider 'balance' EPDs," said McMullen. Those include moderate birth weight, high weaning weight, high yearling weight, and moderate on milk.

In the meantime, McMullen continues to refurbish the farmstead (including the 200-year-old stone house) and improve the operation.

This week, construction began on 1,500 feet of streambank fencing, including an 18-foot cattle

Cattlemen's Group To Meet

LIONVILLE (Chester Co.) — The recently formed Southeast Regional Cattlemen's Association (an affiliate of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, Inc.) will hold its first annual meeting on Thursday, Nov. 17 at 6:30 p.m. here at Hoss's Steak House, Rt. 100 and 113.

This will be the only business meeting this year. The association plans to elect directors, vote on by-laws, and conduct any other necessary business.

Membership is open to anyone interested in the Cattlemen's association from Chester and Lancaster Counties, Pennsylvania, and Cecil County, Maryland. The association will promote technical and educational assistance for all members. There will be tours, seminars, and field trips.

One of the goals of the association will be to educate the general public to the value and advantages of beef products. The Cattlemen's Association will be the pro-active voice in the community for the beef industry.

For more information, contact the Southeast Cattlemen's Association, Bobbi McMullen, Secretary/Treasurer, 2385 Robert Fulton Highway, Peach Bottom, PA 17563, (717) 548-3282 or Gary Smith, (610) 363-6110.

crossing to additional acres for pasture. The streambank fencing program is being paid entirely through the Chesapeake Bay-DER Streambank Fencing Program.

Also, through cost-share money available from the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, two circular concrete spring-fed troughs were installed on the pastures.

"We're concerned about the water quality in the creek," said McMullen. "We're only four miles from the river here, we're downstream, we're at the end of the chain."

All-American Dairy Show Annual Meeting Announced

HARRISBURG, (Dauphin Co.) — Annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association is scheduled for Friday, November 18, at 10:00 a.m. at the Best Western Motel located on Route 11, just east of Carlisle, PA. This organization is the governing body of the Northeast's largest dairy cattle show, the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

Association President, Obie Snider, of Imler, PA, invites all members to attend. All individual from Pennsylvania who exhibited three or more head of cattle at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in 1994 are considered active voting members of the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association. Out of state exhibitors and show sponsors supporters are considered associate members.

Attendance is strongly encouraged. "We need input and suggestions from our exhibitors and the show supporters to progress. It is our desire to continue to build on this prestigious show," commented President Snider.

The agenda will include a review of the 1994 show; business reports; financial report on the show; and the election of three directors to the show; and the election of three directors to serve three year terms.

Currently, the Brown Swiss breed representative is Rita Kennedy of Butler, PA, the Jersey breed representative is Lori Sollenberger of Everett, PA, and Harry Roth of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative is a representative of the dairy industry. All three are eligible for reelection. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

Campbell Brothers Combine Show Type With Dairy Management

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff
(Part 2 of 2)

FORD CITY (Armstrong Co.) — The grand champion and the junior champion Holsteins of the Pennsylvania Fall Championship Show were both owned by syndicates involving dairymen Mark and David Campbell.

Those two registered Holsteins — 5-year-old Wind-Drift A-J Natema, and senior calf Don-Ton Chaos Beauty — are kept at the Campbell's 300-acre farm, which is tucked in a hilly area about three miles from downtown Ford City.

It is a somewhat remote area, with hunting cabins speckling the big woods area to the north, a thinner soil that is good for growing about four cuttings of hay, but dependent on well-timed rainfall for good corn production.

It is the home farm of the brothers, the place where they were born and grew up with their 4-H dairy projects on their father's dairy farm. It is now the place they live and milk about 68 registered Holsteins to support their families, and their children.

Showing the champion Holsteins in a state show is an accomplishment for the brothers who are involved in the syndicate with fellow dairyman Alex Claypoole and Doug Beatty, whom Mark said is a friend and milk hauler from Lawrence County.

But perhaps more to the point of dairying is the fact that the Campbells have tied with Fantasyland Farm in Berks County for the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association's (Pa.DHIA) top herd management award.

The award is presented annually to the top finalist in a contest that awards points to various aspects of dairy herd management, with an emphasis on increased average milk production per cow. Significant production increases for an entire herd is an indicator that management for a wide variety of dairy cattle concerns.

The award formula also takes into account all the important management concerns.

While Armstrong County doesn't have many dairy operations, in comparison to other counties, the Campbell's 1993 end-of-year production was 23,211 pounds of milk, ranking them second in the county.

In one year, the Campbells increased the average milk production of their herd to 27,509 pounds of milk, 926 pounds of fat, and 877 pounds of protein. The herd now not only has the top herd in the county for production averages, but the fourth highest averaging, milk-producing herd the state.

It wasn't anything spectacular that gained them the extra milk production, but more of a concentrated effort to increase the average, according to Mark.

"We've concentrated on production a little more, and fed them a little better," Mark said. "We did it mostly to increase cash flow."

A local nutritionist helps them formulate the rations of separately fed grain, hay, and haylage and silage, he said.

"We feed grain four times per day, silage three times, and hay three or four times," Mark said, adding that the hay is mostly grass hay or mixed alfalfa.

The have two silos — one for corn silage, and the other for haylage.

Bob Morrell is at the halter of the junior champion of the Pa. Holstein Fall Championship Show, while syndicate partners Mark Campbell — who holds daughter Sarah and has his arm on daughter Rachel — and Doug Beatty — who holds daughter Lindsey — stand next to their winner. Don Eaton, breeder of the heifer, stands in back of Campbell and Beatty. The champion is kept at the farm of Mark and David Campbell who are winners of the state Pa.DHIA herd management award.

They do not use a totally mixed ration, which has been a method of feeding which generally has resulted in increased production, compared to feeding forages and grains separately.

The farm has a lot of pasture, Mark said, and the cows are milked in a 50-tie stall bank barn twice a day. The bank barn is an old one, with a 60-foot, one-story addition built in 1972. The dry cows have their own barn, and the heifers are kept in another bank barn.

"Our main thing on manageing is cow health," Mark said. "We're pretty fussy about animal health. We're on a good herd health program and try to make as good of feed as we can."

Mark said that compared to some recommendations that have come along in recent years, he and his brother don't push the high producing cows as hard as some might.

"On good heavy producers, I like to have them dry three or four months. A lot of people wouldn't agree with that," Mark said. He said he feels it is justified because, "It seems to give them a good enough time to recuperate and get back in shape." At the same time, he said, "We'll run some of those through a longer lactation."

As part of their herd health program, care of feet and legs is also key. The entire herd gets hooves trimmed at least once a year, and the trimmer is used during the year to take care of subgroups of cows in the herd, as needed.

The management decisions also include bedding with chopped straw, daily hauling of manure, with a temporary stacking pad for use during winter or when it's not otherwise feasible.

The Campbells raise the majority of their heifer calves, unless they are sold as breeding stock. The also raise some of their own bulls for cleanup, mostly on heifers.

The calves are raised in individual hutches first, then moved through a series of grouping pens, as is the current industry experts recommend.

Mark said his wife Donna feeds the calves, they use maternity pens for the cows, and they place high importance on getting colostrum into the newborns in time to utilize its benefits for health.

While their champions were purchased through the cooperative efforts of a syndicate of friends, the Campbell's breeding strategy focuses on using a lot of Canadian influence.

The Natema cow — last scored as a Very Good 88, but due to be reclassified in December — has finished a 305-day lactation started at 5 years of age, made 30,894 pounds, made a 990 pounds of fat, and 944 pounds of protein.

Mark said that while flushing her in the future for embryo transfer work hasn't been ruled out, she has been bred back to Roundale Stardust, a Canadian bull, and should freshen again next summer.

He did say that they do intend to use her genetics to improve their own herd.

However, the herd already is injected with good genetics — at last classification, there 15 Excellents.

The herd is not closed however, and probably will not be, at least for some time, since Mark said that when they see an calf or heifer that they like, and the price is right, they will buy it. Further, he said that he and David haven't made any concrete plans for expansion, but that they may well be adding more to the milking string.

"We've increased herd size in last two years," Mark said, "and we haven't sold as many for dairy purposes as in previous years. We're talking about increasing herd size a little, but not sure."

The milk is marketed to Dean Foods, in Sharon, close to the Pennsylvania-Ohio border.

While the farm is somewhat secluded, it is not unknown. Thanks to marketing genetics, and showing and winning with registered Holsteins, many have discovered its location.

"We've done business with several different counties and a lot of different states," Mark said. "Recently there's been interest in the champion."

Also, there are family concerns.

Mark and Donna have three young children — Mark, 8, and younger sisters, Rachel and Sarah. David Campbell and his wife Audrey have a daughter Alysa.

"The children are not old enough for 4-H yet, but I'm sure that they will be involved," Mark said. He said that while his son Mark will probably start in 4-H next year, he already has seen some experience in the show ring. "He showed a calf that was junior champin at the Western Pennsylvania (Holstein) Championship, last year."

In fact, family and 4-H had a big role in forming the lives of the Campbells, according to Mark.

"When our dad was with us, and when we were small and in 4-H, he began buying purebreds, and we've had purebreds ever since." He passed away nine years ago, and my brother and I took over (the farm). He's the one who got us started."

FFA Nominates Redding For Honorary Degree

YORK (York Co.) — Larry R. Redding, agricultural education instructor and FFA advisor at Dover Area High School has been nominated to receive the Honorary American FFA Degree.

Redding was nominated for the degree by the Pennsylvania FFA Association, and the nomination was approved by the National FFA Board of Directors at their recent meeting in Alexandria, Virginia. The Honorary Degree is the highest honorary award presented by the FFA. This year 69 teachers of agricultural education were nominated to receive the degree during the 67th National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, November 10-12, 1994.

Redding has been involved in agricultural education for 17 years. During the first 10 years of his career he taught at Bermudian Springs High School in York Springs, Adams County, from 1987 through 1991 he served as program specialist in agricultural education with the Pennsylvania Department of Education, and since 1991. has taught agricultural education in the Dover Area School district.

The degree is awarded on the basis of points earned by the teacher for his/her accomplishments as an agricultural instructor, FFA Advisor and participant in professional organizations for agriculture teachers. During the past 17 years, Redding has supervised students who have received the Keystone FFA Degree, Regional Proficiency Awards, The American FFA Degree, Star Agribusinessman Awards, and who have served as Pennsylvania FFA Association Officers. From 1983 through 1987 Redding served as an officer in the Pennsylvania Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association and led the organization as president for the 1986-87 term. At the 1987 American Vocational Conference in Dallas, Texas, he received the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, State Professional Development award.

Experts Call For Fruit Growers Meeting To Review 1994 Disaster, Crop Insurance Bill

YORK (York Co.) — There's not much time for fruit growers who need to learn more about recently enacted changes to federal crop insurance — the application deadlines are very soon.

Further, those who suffered large losses from an almost non-existant 1994 peach crop can find out what they may be eligible to receive to help during a producer's meeting on both recently approved disaster relief and a crop insurance reform bill.

The meeting is set for 7 p.m., Nov. 14, at the Penn State University fruit research laboratory in Biglerville.

According to information coming from the PSU Extension offices in York and Lancaster counties, fruit growers should attend the meeting for an explanation of what was recently passed by Congress.

Details of the disaster bill for 1994 losses are to be provided during the meeting. As well, John Gartside, an account executive with Agri-Business Insurance Agency Inc., and a former director of the federal crop insurance division, out of Harrisburg, is to provide insight into aspects of the reforms of federal crop insurance and what it may mean to the producer.

Some highlights of the insurance reform bill were included in a news release from the Lancaster County extension office.

According to that, while disaster payments apparently will be available to help cover 1994 production losses, it may be necessary to purchase crop insurance for next year's crop in order to be considered for future disaster aid.

Also, the crop insurance application deadline to cover the 1995 crop of apples is Nov. 20.

The deadline for the 1995 peach crop is Nov. 30.

According to the release, some other aspects of the crop insurance program are that a "catastrophic" level of coverage is available, which would guarantee an insurance income comparable to 50 percent of the expected crop at 60 percent of the market price; that the price of insurance is to range from $50 per crop, up to $200 per county; higher coverage levels are available with the promise that the federal government would subsidize up to 60 percent of the cost of additional insurance coverage; the yield guarantees are to be based on the grower's actual farm yields, with provisions to drop low-production years.

For more information on the meeting, call Gartside at (800) 233-1957.

Lebanon Farm-City Banquet Showcases Area Agriculture

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Volunteers supporting the Lebanon Farm-City program have put together a different banquet this year, one that brings together a wide range of agricultural/non-agricultural family appropriate services and activities.

The plan this year is to use the huge fairgrounds barn-style convention hall for the banquet scheduled for Dec. 6 from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The deadline for reservations is Nov. 30. Tickets can be purchased through the Lebanon Valley Chamber of Commerce, or the Lebanon Extension office.

In the center of the spacious hall is to be a dining area, with a number of tables for those purchasing the $10 tickets, or sponsoring a table for $200. Dinner is to be at 7 p.m.

As guests enter the facility, they can expect to be greeted by Miss Pennsylvania, Kristen Border, and a landscaping display, hor d'oeuvres, a CHEERS non-alcoholic dairy beverages bar, and samples of agricultural commodities, in addition to numerous displays and entertainment.

Four stages are to be set up along each of the inside walls, with each stage to feature a different musical act during the hour prior to the meal.

At one stage, the Lebanon Bologna Band is to perform; at another a band from Eastern Lebanon County, the Elco Odd Eighteen; the Salem Lutheran Youth and Adult Bell Choirs; and a three-piece blues-jazz band, Gadzooks, round out the musical pre-meal offering.

During the dinner, Lee Moyer, of Marty's Music Store, Lebanon, is to play piano selections.

Also set to be displayed around the interior of the banquet hall for participants to visit are to be a number of exhibits. In one corner, commodity representatives, such as dairy princesses, and apple and honey queens are to be available to discuss their products.

A storage shed manufacturer, a live-animal display from the Lebanon County/Cedar Crest FFA, a meat-cut identification display by Laudermilch Meats, Christmas trees, greens, a display of apple varieties, a live shawl-making demonstration, and a quilt making demonstration are also to be surrounding the dining tables and available for visiting.

The dinner is to feature barbecued chicken by Bill Troutman, and include filling, carrots, cole slaw, a roll, chocolate cake, milk and coffee.

The program following the meal is to feature Miss Pennsylvania playing fiddle, followed by presentations by job exchange participants, and auction of a wool shawl that was made during the evening, and distribution of door prizes.

For more information or tickets, call the Lebanon Valley Chamber of Commerce at (717) 273-3727; or the county extension office at (717) 270-4391.

Northeast DHIA: No Fee Increase

ITHACA, N.Y. — Members of the Northeast DHIA Board of Directors met recently to review the audited financial statements for fiscal year 1994 which ended August 31, 1994. It is the third straight year the cooperative has held the line on fees. The fiscal 1994 year exceeded budget expectations of a deficit and ended with a modest positive margin, allowing the cooperative to begin a new fiscal year without any threat of DHI fee increases to the Cooperative's members. Board members cited the strong financial position of the cooperative and the current milk prices as primary reasons for passing a deficit budget rather than balancing the budget by increasing DHI fees.

Northeast DHIA is able to maintain their current fee structure by relying on sound financial management decisions, and the conservative practices of the cooperative. Financially strong and stable, the organization looks forward to implementing a strategic plan that includes expanding the current service area while continuing to provide dependable service, and high quality dairy herd management information and laboratory services at competitive rates.

Northeast DHIA currently serves members in a nine state area of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Maine and Vermont.

Sale Every Mon., Wed. & Fri. Thereafter

STRIP YOUR TOBACCO EARLY!

609 tobacco companies are saying: get your crop on auction in December. They say they need PA 609 tobacco to blend with burley tobacco. This is good news for PA 609 as it is becoming known worldwide. Tennessee and Kentucky auctions open at Thanksgiving. Local tobacco farmers should bring some of thei: best tobacco to first sale, December 5th, with a full warehouse to attract buyers. There are reports tobacco buyers are telling tobacco companies in the south that they can buy cheaper on the farm. If this is true -- think twice!

We at tobacco warehouse want to help market your tobacco at an all-time high price. We are not in the tobacco processing business, we are in the business of selling your tobacco.

Please don't misrepresent your tobacco inside the bale with nesting. Try your best with neat bales - it's worth your time. You have worked hard to grow a good crop, don't go wrong in stripping your crop. Watch your moisture and keep green out. THIS MIGHT BE THE YEAR BUYERS WILL BE PICKY WITH STRAIGHT STRIPPED TOBACCO.

Why does a tobacco buyer want to buy tobacco on contract and say they will pay what the price is at auction? Does the buyer offer that at high offer for the season or does it stop at delivery? Keep selling your tobacco on contract for $1.20/lb. and that will be the price for the season!

You can order a bale box and take cost off tobacco check when you sell at Paradise. Cotton twine also in stock.

Rush, Barnett, Diller Honored At Cooperative Meeting

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Three deserving supporters of cooperative education programs were recently honored at the Leadership Recognition Banquet of the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives'(PCC) Annual Meeting.

Receiving the Distinguished Service Award was Jay Rush of York. For nearly a decade, Jay Rush has been a supporter of the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives. He has served the organization in many capacities, including council president and several years as chairman of the finance committee. He is also highly supportive of employee involvement, allowing for strong representation by York Farm Credit employees in local cooperative council activities.

Rush has served as president of York Farm Credit since 1984. Prior to joining York in 1982 as vice president for operations, he served in various credit officer positions with Northeastern Farm Credit in Lewisburg.

Explained nominator Harry Roth, General Manager of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, "Jay's diplomacy and judgement are strong attributes...and his forthright approach in dealing with difficult tasks in a trade association has set an example for others as they assume leadership roles. Pennsylvania cooperatives, and the cooperative industry in general, are benefiting by Jay's presence. He not only has been a beacon within the cooperative industry, he as been a fine ambassador and witness to all other areas of society in behalf of the cooperative effort."

Rush was raised on a dairy and poultry farm in Washington County. He attended Penn State, were he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Agricultural Mechanization. He then served in the U.S. Army as an engineer officer and helicopter pilot from 1969–1972. He is currently enrolled in the MBA Graduate Program at York College. Rush and his wife Joyce have two sons—Dale and Michael.

James Barnett, member relations manager of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, was the 1994 recipient of the PCC Master Educator Award; he has been a dedicated supporter of cooperative education for the past 25 years.

Barnett joined Atlantic Dairy Cooperative in 1969 as a field representative and was promoted to his current position in 1983. As such, he is responsible for coordinating member education programs, including the Young Cooperator program, which promotes leadership development and cooperative education among members ages 21 to 40.

In addition, Barnett has played an integral role in PCC activities at both the local, regional and state level. He has served as part of the on-going staff and planning committees for both the Summer Institute for youth and the Council's Young Cooperative Leaders program. He has also taken vital roles in the implementation of programs for cooperative employees and extension and vocational agriculture teachers. Barnett has served as a member of the PCC Board of Directors for 4 years.

Concludes PCC President N. Alan Bair, "Beyond these organized activities, I have observed Jim many times educating cooperative members and non-members in informal settings. His understanding of the cooperative way of doing business, along with his tremendous network of cooperative members, gives him the opportunity to educate—an opportunity he exercises naturally and routinely."

Barnett and his wife, Susan, have three children—Christina, Jason and Jocelyn.

They reside in Strasburg.

Also recognized was Fred D. Dillner, who as a lifetime educator, began his formal teaching career at Conneaut Valley High School in Crawford County and moved from there to Shippensburg where he was the teacher of agriculture and young farmer instructor for 41 years. During that time, he was instrumental in the cooperative venture of publishing an educational unit plan for teachers implementing cooperative business education with youth and adults.

Dillner and his wife, Rose, were also an integral part of the PCC's Young Cooperative Leaders Program, having served as part of the permanent planning committee for sixteen years prior to their recent retirement in 1993. Moreover, Fred has taken an active role in many state and local Council activities for youth, young farmers, cooperative directors and employees.

Jay Rush, PCC Distinguished Service Award.

James Barnett, PCC Master Educator Award.

Fred Dillner, PCC Doran Cooperative Business Educator Award.

"Fred is highly deserving of this prestigious honor," notes PCC Executive Director Crystal Smithmyer. "He truly exemplifies Hal Doran's legacy of quiet, behind the scenes dedication and involvement and his entire career has been committed to the cause of agricultural and cooperative education."

Dillner holds a Master of Science degree from Penn State. He and Rose reside in a lovingly restored farm house in the Shippensburg area.

The Doran Award recognizes individuals who demonstrate exceptional dedication and leadership in furthering the understanding and importance of cooperatives in the American business enterprise system. The award consists of cash and a Penn State Nittany Lion statue, and is sponsored by the Penn State Cooperative Business Education and Research Program. It is made possible by the Hal F. Doran endowment fund.

PA Cooperatives Council Reports Annual Meeting

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives (PCC) recently hosted their 1994 annual meeting on October 12–13, 1994 at the Penn State Scanticon Conference Center and Hotel.

Highlighting the program portion of the conference was keynote speaker Joseph Famalette, president and CEO of American Crystal Sugar Company headquartered in Moorehead, Minnesota. Famalette urged the audience of cooperative management, employees and directors to challenge existing mindsets and to face the inevitability of change as absolutely essential to productive leadership.

The keynote presentation was followed by a series of panel discussions focussing on international cooperative opportunities, director issues and membership issues. Presenters included Carol Z. Buckhout, former professor at the State University of New York at Morrisville; Robert Cohen, regional manager for Volunteers for Overseas Cooperative Action (VOCA); James Oliver, chair of the VOCA Volunteer Advisory Committee; James Barnett, member relations manager of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative; Gary Hennip, sales and service director of Sire Power; Larry Hiestand, operations manager for Northampton Farm Bureau; and Robert Reich, president and CEO of Northeastern Farm Credit. Providing a wrap-up presentation and discussion of changes and challenges faced by National Grape Cooperative was Patrick O'Donnell, general manager and CEO of the organization.

The program's second day featured an informative discussion of the PCC/Penn State Joint Agreement and the University's Cooperative Business Education and Research Program (CBERP). Participating were: Dr. Theodore Alter, professor and head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, Samual Minor, dairy producer and dairy store and restaurant owner from Washington; Dr. Cathy Smith, CBERP director; and Richard Poorbaugh, CBERP program manager.

Alan Bair, president, PCC.

The Annual Business Meeting of the Council welcomed the election of several new board members, including: Alfred Calkins, producer-director of Tri-County Rural Electric Cooperative; Bonnie Eno, manager of member relations of Agway, Inc.; Robert Thomson, producer-director of Eastern Milk Producers; and Robert Fox, director of field services of National Grape Cooperative. Re-elected was Harold Martin, producer-director for Dairymen, Inc.

The Council also voted to revise their existing dues structure to provide greater equity among members, as well as further broaden opportunities for non-traditional cooperative involvement.

The Board of Directors of PCC met for a brief reorganization meeting following the membership meeting. Highlighting their activities was the reelection of Council President N. Alan Bair. Bair serves as director of member and public relations for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative; he has served as PCC President since 1993. In commenting to the general membership, Bair noted, "Our board of directors are very dedicated and competent people . . . I plan to challenge them to define the future of PCC and its mission." He also urged PCC to keep up with the ever-changing world of business, stating that "proactive rather than reactive will need to be our byword."

The Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives is a statewide association of cooperative businesses owned and controlled by farmers and rural Pennsylvanians. Its membership includes major marketing and farm supply cooperatives and Pennsylvania Farm Credit Associations and Rural Electric Cooperatives. Organized in 1933, PCC is the voice for agricultural and rural cooperatives in Pennsylvania. For more information contact the PCC office at Building 2, Suite 104, 600 Chestnut Avenue, Altoona, PA 16601.

Northeast DHIA Imports Management Technologies

ITHACA, N.Y. — Today Dairy Management Technologies a division of Northeast DHIA announced jointly with SAE Afikim, Israel that Dairy Management Technologies will begin importing the Afikim Herd Management and automatic take-off equipment directly from Israel effective immediately. Previously the equipment was purchased by the Ithaca based Dairy Management Technologies from SAE Afikim's California Subsidiary.

This change was made to streamline the path between Northeast users of the state of the art herd management equipment and the Israeli suppliers. The result will be an immediate reduction in cost of the equipment and a more direct information exchange.

Israel has been touted as having the most modern dairy production industry in the world and has the highest herd average production.

The Afikim System is the primary cow management equipment used in Israel and is a dominant player in the European market. The equipment can serve as a stand-alone milk meter/take-off or can be connected to an automatic ID system that ties together the cow's daily production, the electrical conductivity of her milk and her activity. The identification tag includes a pedometer and is worn on the leg. The antenna for reading a cow's identification is located at each stall in the milking parlor resulting in exceptional identification rates. After each milking the herdsman can get a list of cows to inseminate and to check for sickness, based on the three parameters, her activity, the conductivity of her milk and the changes in the electrical conductivity of her milk.

"We are very proud to represent equipment like this in the Northeast and see it as part of our mission of bringing the best of herd management technology to the Northeast Dairy Herd," stated Nelvin Empet General Manager of Northeast DHIA. Dairy Management Technologies also sells and supports Dairy Comp 305 on farm herd management software, in the Northeast including, Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The group has also installed the software as far south as Alabama and as far east as Bermuda.

Purebreeds Capture Championship

Janine's hog is from the same sow as her 1994 Pennsylvania Farm Show Champion.

Samantha King, Littlestown, Pa., exhibited the reserve champion market hog. Her purebred Yorkshire was a littermate to the supreme champion open show barrow at the 1994 Maryland state Fair.

The grand champion All-Maryland market hog was exhibited by Emily Hester, Westminster, Md. Emily's pig was a home bred purebred Duroc. The All-Maryland Show is a special class open to Maryland Youth swine exhibitors.

The Eastern National Livestock Show attracts premier livestock from across the United States.

Judging Team Activities.

The Penn State Dairymen's club also finances trips for the Penn State Dairy Judging Teams through its endowment fund. The club added to the fund this year with proceeds from the sale of donated craft items sold at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

Reporting on this year's judging contests. Penn State judging team coach Dale Oliver said the Eastern States Expo team, including Owen Bowley of West Chester, Jeff Hostetter of Annville, Brenda Mihaliak of Wellington, CT, and Shannon Peterman of Muncy, was second high team overall and first in Guernseys. Brenda finished second high overall and Owen was first in Guernseys and Milking Shorthorns.

At the National Intercollegiate Judging Contest in Madison, WI, the team of Bewley, Hostetter, Mihaliak and Cathy Pavelski of Susquehanna placed fifth overall out of 25 teams and was in the top 10 in five of six breeds. Brenda and Cathy made the top 25 individual All-American list.

Jayne Hess of Gettysburg joined Bewley, Hostetter and Pavelski to compete at the all-American, where they placed ninth overall, with Cathy as the tenth high individual. A team including Lisa Olver of Honesdale, Kristie Kolosky of Belle Vernon. Hess, and Peterman went to the North American Dairy Expo in Louisville, where they placed ninth overall, third in Guernseys and eighth in reasons, Jayne was second in Jerseys, seventh in reasons and tenth overall individual, while Lisa was sixth and Kristy eighth in Holsteins.

Poage Grant-In-Aid Award

Melissa Morrow of Tyrone and Joshua Havatine of Thompson received the 1994 Poage Grant-In-Aid award for their excellence in youth dairy judging and their high academic standings. Melissa was the high 4-H individual at the 1991 Pennsylvania All-American contest, leading her team to a first place finish, Josh was the high individual and first in reasons at the 1993 North American contest.

The award was established by Warren Poage, a retired Penn State dairy judging coach, and is administered by the Dairymen's club.

Penn State Reports

Dr. Stan Curtis, head of the Penn State Dairy and Animal Science Department, told banquet attendees that the milking cows had been moved into the new free stall barn at the Penn State Dairy Research Center and that a new pasture research center had also gotton started. The new milking parlor has been in use since February. He said the Dairy Management and Profitability (MAP) program should have about 600 farms enrolled by this winter.

Dairymen's Club Officers

The Penn State Dairymen's Club, which consists of alumni and supporters of the Penn State dairy science program, elected the following officers for 1994-95; president, Craig Williams; vice president. Jennie Brown; Dale Olver, secretary-treasurer; Mike Countryman, Dave Livermore, Sharon Wagner. Dwayne Hay, Mary Ann Keith. Ken Raney, Christine Swartz, Dave Trotter and Peter Witmer, directors.

Nittany Lion Fall Classic Averages $1,524

JUDY PATTON
Union Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 11th annual Nittany Lion Fall Classic Sale held Saturday at the Penn State Ag Arena, in State College, averaged $1,524 on 68 lots.

The sale, co-managed by the Penn State Dairy Science Club and the Pa. Holstein Association, had the highest selling honors go to a 3-year-old Blackstar daugther out of a Sexation dam that was consigned by Tom McCauley, of New Direction farm in Elizabethtown.

New Direction BS Whitney-ET, bred to Leader and due to freshen December, was bought by Fred Land for $3,400. Whitney had made a first lactation record of 22,770 pounds milk, 993 pounds fat, and 796 pounds protein.

Two consignments tied for second-highest selling animal.

A Starbuck/Counselor senior heifer calf consigned by Jake and Sally Tanis, of Ideal Holsteins, in Centre Hall, was purchased by Dr. Bob Cloninger, also of Centre Hall, for $2,700.

A first choice of five Mandel pregnancies out of a Very Good Blackstar daughter with a first lactation of 24,840 pounds of milk was consigned by the Pa. Holstein Association and was bought by Jeffrey and Mary Kay Roche, of New Oxford, also for $2,700.

Penn State Dairy Science Club sale committee members were Jennifer Trat, overall chairperson; Cathy Pavelski, assistant chairperson; Adam Tanis, barn manager; Owen Bewley, animal preparation manager; Andrew Foster III, and Thad Sturgeon, animal selections; Bryan Herring, marketing and merchandising; Terry Martin, finance; Rodger Keith, arena preparation; Amy Marshall, reception; Pete Mozes, publicity; and Jen Hummel, advertising.

The sales staff included Horace Backus, reading pedigrees; auctioneers Harry Bachman and Mike Weimer; ringmen Bill Nichol, William Allen, and Donald Welk; and Creedin Cornman, as barn superintendent.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative Banquet Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative is gearing up for its 1994 annual meeting, which will be held Nov. 17–18 at the Lancaster Host Resort and Conference Center in Lancaster.

The theme of the 77th annual meeting, "Building for the Future," is reflected in Atlantic's continued success. During the 1994 fiscal year, Atlantic marketed more than 3.5 billion pounds of member milk, at a net margin of $7.3 million.

The annual meeting will begin on Thursday, Nov. 17, at 9:45 a.m. with reports by Atlantic's officers and staff. At this time, a complete financial report will be presented by Evan L. Fineman, treasurer and chief financial officer.

Robert M. Dever, chief executive officer, will present his report during the afternoon session, which begins at 1:20 p.m. Dever's presentation will be followed by Gary Hanman, chief executive officer of Mid-America Dairymen, Inc.

The annual banquet will begin Thursday night at 6:15 p.m. in the Showroom. Dr. Lamartine Hood, dean of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, will serve as master of ceremonies. The guest speaker will be Dr. Carl Hurley, a humorist.

The meeting will resume on Friday morning, Nov. 18, at 7 a.m. with the Young Cooperators Breakfast Program. At this time, the 1994 Young Cooperator winners will be recognized and the 1994 Agricultural Communicator Award will be presented.

During the breakfast program, Dick Norton of the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association will report on MAMMA's dairy promotion activities. Norton will also introduce the Philadelphia Phillies baseball mascot, the Phillie Phanatic. The Phanatic this spring teamed up with MAMMA to promote milk and the school breakfast program in the Philadelphia school district.

Following the breakfast, at 9 a.m., the delegate session will begin with action on the 1994 resolutions. James Stonesifer of Westminster, Md., chairman of the Resolutions Committee, will preside over the session, which concludes the business portion of the meeting.

In addition to the resolutions discussion, Richard McKee, newly appointed director of the USDA Dairy Division, will talk about his plans for the department.

A spouse program is planned in conjunction with the meeting. Participants on Thursday can choose between a trip to Doneckers Community in nearby Ephrata or shopping at the local Rockvale and Mill Stream outlets. The program on Friday will include presentations by Pat Kennedy of Dairy Council Inc. on "Cooking in the '90s" and Rosie Rohrer of Rosie's Creative Cakes on cake decorating.

For further information about the meeting and/or a registration form, please contact Jean Scullin, secretary to the member relations and public relations departments, at (215) 322-0200.

Conference Focuses On Expansion Strategies

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Expansion Strategies for Dairy Farms: Facilities and Financial Planning," a national conference and trade show, will be held at the Turf Valley Hotel in Ellicott City, Md. December 8 - 9. The conference is sponsored by the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES).

"Many dairy farms are at a major crossroads," said Dr. Robert E. Graves, professor of agricultural engineering in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, who provided leadership for the conference. "Economic pressures are forcing many dairy operations to expand, but this is a complex process that must be approached very carefully."

Dairy farmers must consider the long-term effects expansion will have on their finances, the health and productivity of their cows, the efficiency and comfort of their workers, and the surrounding environment.

"Expansion Strategies for Dairy Farms" will bring together experts on these and other issues. The program was developed with assistance from cooperative extension staff in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and New York.

"The conference is designed to expose dairy farmers and consultants to the many factors that must be considered when planning a dairy farm expansion," Graves said. "In most cases, a planned, step-by-step expansion is best.

"Drastically changing cow housing and management, adding large numbers of cows, hiring extra labor, and taking on large amounts of new debt can be overwhelming. An incremental approach allows growth and changes to be made at a rate that gives management, labor, and cash flow a better opportunity to keep up."

Participants will learn the many facets of planning and executing a successful expansion, from financing to manure management plans. Consultants will improve their ability to evaluate proposed dairy expansions by learning up-to-date techniques for selecting free stall floor plans, ventilation systems, milking center designs, and materials.

The conference will feature 25 presentations from specialists in dairy facilities, agricultural lending, strategic planning, facilities planning, manure handling, environmental assessment, and construction. Participants will have time to talk with speakers and each other about specific concerns and issues.

Several experts from Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences will speak at the event. Agricultural economist Stephen Ford will discuss financial analysis for various expansion strategies, and agricultural engineer John Tyson will address site evaluation.

Extension agent Roland Freund will explore cash flow analyses of various expansion strategies. Agricultural engineering agent Dan McFarland will discuss free stall barn plans and partitions, bases and dimensions.

A trade show for participants only will be held December 8 from 6 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Consultants, dairy equipment manufacturers, lenders, and others will showcase equipment and services for dairy expansions.

The conference registration fee is $160 if postmarked by November 18, and $180 if postmarked after that date or for walk-ins. The fee includes admission, two lunches, break refreshments and a 500-page notebook of information related to dairy expansions.

For a brochure containing the complete conference program and more information, contact NRAES, Cooperative Extension, 152 Robb-Riley Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853-5701, (607) 255-7654.

ment to building extension outreach into the community.

Schadler was presented with a decorated milk can by the extension association, and a Nittany Lion panther statue by Rodgers in recognition of 25 years service to the county.

Others on the staff recognized include Kenneth Winebark, with 10 years service, and who was also recognized for his significant efforts to build, coordinate and support youth extension program in livestock and dairying.

Winebark said that Lebanon Countians should be proud of the fact that two of its youth judging teams — the dairy judging and livestock judging — have won state titles this past year, continuing a several-year tradition of Lebanon County youth peforming near or at the top in the state, and that those teams have gone on to represent the state, their community and themselves well at the national level.

Martha Gregory presented 4-H leadership awards and recognized those who have volunteered their time. She said that on a national level, the average 4-H volunteer spends 220 hours for 4-H activities, drives from 300 to 400 miles and spends $50 of their own money each year for 4-H.

However, she said the true indicator of the value of 4-H can not be derived from a statistical analysis of measurable things, but rather from the personal development, sense of community and ability to achieve that is derived by both adult leaders, volunteers and youth involved in the programs.

In an election of new directors, Ann Arnold, Leon Hoover, Gail Shiner, and Frances Krall were reelected to the board, while Glen Krall was newly elected.

Entertainment was provided by William Metzel, of Lamont, who is a self-described "interant gizmologist." For most of his presentation, Metzel spoke to the mostly adult audience and said that what was needed for youth today is to get them interested in real life by working with their hands, and with tools, through making toys, and discovering what they can do.

He said that the prevelance of video games, toys and computers, and television has lead to an increasing number of youth who do not know how to work with their hands, or know what they can do because no one shows them.

He said that what children need are parents who are more than "concerned", but parents who are willing to provide attention, patience, and guidance, instead of being adults who buy toys, and then send them off to play.

Metzel said that his collection of homemade toys that he displays (not for sale) demonstrate a wide variety of hand skills that can be developed and which can help a child become an innovative, independently thinking adult.

Del Voight, who was recognized for completing his first year with the extension program, presented master gardner awards, which acknowledge successful completion of the program and the number of hours volunteered to helping others learn about gardening.

A 20-page annual report of the county's past year's extension activities was also distributed and those who received them were asked to share them with others unfamiliar with the opportunities through extension.

For more information on extension services, which are paid for through taxes, contact a local office. In Lebanon, call (717) 270-4391.

Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County extension director, holds a Nittany Lion statue she is presented in recognition of her 25 years service.

ping for basic needs; the other, full-time working suburban parents of two children, who are too exhausted to ensure that the house gets clean; and a widowed, retired man who has depended on his wife for literally everything and now must face life without her.

At some point, the teenage girl must learn how to shop for the proper grocery items within a budget. The parents should provide weekly chores for the children, so they can learn and use those skills later on. And the retired senior citizen should have been more involved with decision-making early on rather than allowing his wife to buy the groceries and pay the bills.

Those are all examples of trends in society, which includes teen parents, parents that both work, and an aging population. In Chester county alone, Bowen said, 41,000 people are 65 years and older.

Those who have learned to use the coping skills of the '90s and are thriving can think back to when they were children. "Many things that go on in your life can be traced back to what you did as a child," she said. Learning new skills is one of them that can be carried over successfully into adulthood.

Jay Irwin, retired Lancaster County extension director, spoke about the trip he and wife Betty made last year to Albania through the auspices of Volunteers In Overseas Cooperative Assistance (VOCA) program. He told those that while Romania is also, like many eastern Europian countries, struggling away from Communism, there is still a long way to go. But their visit provided the seeds of change and taught him and Betty how little we appreciate the lives we lead in our own great country.

At the banquet, board directors were elected to three-year terms. They are Richard L. Breckbill, Cathy Guest, and Eileen Schafer. Breckbill, owner/operator of Breck-A-De Farm in Oxford with wife Portia and sons Dennis and Edward, operates a dairy with 85 registered Holsteins and farms 1,500 acres. He also operates a fertilizer supply and custom-operator service. Guest, who operates Century Oaks Farm with husband, Stanley, milk a herd of 95 registered Holsteins and farm 300 acres in Pottstown. The Guests have two children, Christy, 9 and Brad, 5. Schafer, Downingtown, actively involved in nutrition education at both the county and state level, has served the extension board for the past three years and has been re-elected to serve another term.

Also, Claudette Tharp was honored with the Dewitt Wallace Youth At Risk Award at the banquet.

State Accepts Agribusiness Award Nominations

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff is accepting nominations for the Department of Agriculture's 1995 Agribusiness Achievement Awards. The awards are presented to Pennsylvania companies that have made a special contribution to the development and expansion of Pennsylvania agribusiness.

First place awards will be given in two separate categories: large agribusinesses, defined as those with gross annual sales over $5 million; and small agribusinesses.

"The Agribusiness Achievement Award is an important opportunity to recognize the people who contributed so much to Pennsylvania's leading industry," Wolff said.

Last year's award recipients were Knauss Snack Food Company, manufacturer of a line of shelf-stable meat snacks sold under the Bull and Hanna Brands; Moyer Packing Company, producers of boxed beef, ground beef, variety meats, hides, tallow and poultry meals; and the Brown Adobe, distributor of all-natural homemade New Mexican style salsas, sauces, spices and condiments.

"These award-winning firms are the kind of companies that have helped establish the reputation for high quality that consumers expect from Pennsylvania products," Wolff said.

Awards are to be presented at the annual Farm Show dinner on Jan. 7 at the Harrisburg Hilton in Harrisburg.

The deadline for receipt of completed award applications is Nov. 30. Contact the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Market Development at (717) 787-4210 for more information or to request an application.

Field Day Demonstrates New Equipment Lines

OXFORD (Chester Co.) — They put the new 200-horsepower 8300 John Deere tractor and the new 510 disk ripper through their paces Tuesday at a field day held north of Oxford along Route 10. Sponsored by Enfield Equipment, Inc., Dick Enfield, owner, and Bill Knight, manager, used the nice late fall weather to introduce these new machines to their customers.

Jerry Thomas, territory manager, John Deere Company, told the group of farmers that the new 8000 series of tractors draws on input from extensive customer and competitive owner research and more than 70 years of experience in designing tractor models. He said the tractors establish new standards in control, visibility, maneuverability, power, and ease of service.

Knight said the new disk ripper is designed to knock down the corn stalks or other trash in the fall, rip the ground and leave some of the trash on top for cover over winter to help stop erosion. Next spring, when you are ready to go, a field cultivator or disk will get you ready for planting.

As for the business outlook, Knight said John Deere is coming of one of their better years in the last several years and business has been good. This fall the weather has been good so much of the crop is already in the barns with little crop loss. Production estimates are for a large corn and soybean crop this year. But the prices are low, so the bottom line for the farmers may not be any better than last year.

About 50 farmers attended the demonstration and had a nice lunch.

Holstein Classifies Sires

MEHOOPANY (Wyoming Co.) — All Holstein sires housed at the Taurus Service Inc. bull stud in Mehoopany were classified by David Page, an official Holstein Association Classifier on Sept. 22.

Dick Wetter, president of Taurus, said that Taurus regularly scores all bulls eligible to be classified. All bulls housed at Taurus that are 2 years old or older are officially classified.

Twenty-six Holstein sires were classified in this round.

In addition to the sires housed at the Mehoopany stud, there are many additional Taurus sires at other locations that are awaiting official proofs.

The breakdown of scores from this classification show seven Excellent, 12 Very Good, six Good Plus, and one Good. Of the sires scored, 27 percent were Excellent, and 46 percent Very Good.

The Taurus sire, 76H0077 Horace was raised in score to EX-92 and classified EX-94 for feet and legs. This Mark son is for feet and leg improvements along with high overall type (+2.54) and udders (+2.28).

76H0107 Pamtom Blackstar Sunbuck was raised to EX-92. This Blackstar son of Hanover Hill Sally H 4E-96 is a brother to Skybuck. Sunbuck has sired many outstanding heifers. The oldest ones are due to calve this winter.

Eskdale Supernova (76H0257) is an EX-92 Starbuck son at Taurus with a unique aAa code of 645123. He also has a type proof of +2.49, with feet and legs at +2.56, and udders at +1.93.

Another new Excellent sire at Taurus is 76H0088 Gloryland Statesman, an Astro Jet son who will receive a proof in January.

The young sire 76H0118 Hanover-Hill Charmer scored VG-89. Charmer is a Skybuck son of Hanover Hall S.W.D. Charity, the Ex-94 daughter of Brookview Tony Charity Ex-97.

76H0252 Hanoverhill S Regency was raised to Very Good 87. This top Starbuck son as a full brother to Raider and Hanoverhill Star Roxy 2E-92. She being the dam of 76H0090 Precisonst.

76H0090 H.H. Precisonst was classified Ex-93 as was another Inspiration son at Taurus. Precisonst emerged as one of the best proven Hanover Hall sores with has first official summary in July.

Precisonst is +2.11 PTAT and +1239 TPI. He has a first proof for production with DYD of +2074M +.33% +143F +.06% +78P.

Precisonst combines two of the world's premiere cow families, the Lu Lu's and the Roxy's.

Precisonst dam is Ex-92 and a full sister to 76H0252 Regency and Raider. His second dam is the leading Star Brood cow in Canada, Mil-R-Mor Roxette EX-GMD-DOM 30*. The 3rd dam is the "Queen of the Breed", Glenridge Citation Roxy 4E-97 GMD. 76H0090 Precisonst semen is being exported to many countries in the world from Taurus Service, Inc. He is housed in the EEC qualified semen production facility at the Taurus stud in Mehoopany.

PSU Scholars Chosen

UNIVERSITY PARK, (Centre Co.) — Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science has chosen four young scholars to receive the John O. Almquist Graduate Student Research Awards. Harry Roth of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, sponsor of the awards, made the presentations to Michele Lykos, Eric Kolver, and Theodoros Lykos, and Daryl Nash at a luncheon ceremony on October 21. All four are Ph. D. candidates in animal science.

The purposes of the Almquist Awards are to assist graduate students in conducting quality research, to encourage the development of quality research proposals, and to provide experience in writing competitive research proposals. At the ceremony, Professor Gary Rogers noted that the committee decided to present four awards instead of three this year because the proposals submitted were outstanding.

Michele Lykos's research topic is The effect of insulin-like growth factor II on f casein mRNA expression in comma-D cells. Her advisor is Professor Craig Baumrucker.

Eric Kolver's topic is Synchronizing ruminal degradation of pasture N with supplemental carbohydrate to increase pasture N utilization by high producing dairy cows. Professor Lawrence Muller is Kolver's advisor.

Theodoros Lykos, whose faculty advisor is Professor Gabriella Varga, has chosen the topic, Availability of nonstructural carbohydrates affects ruminal fermentation characteristics, blood metabolite concentrations, and nutrient uptake by the mammary gland in high producing dairy cows.

Daryl Nash's topic is Genetic improvement of mastitis resistance in dairy cattle: relationships among sire-predicted transmitting abilities for somatic cell score, daughter intramammary infections, and clinical mastitis Professor Gary Rogers is Nash's advisor.

All four recipients will present their findings in the department's Colloquium series during the semester their thesis is completed. Each student will received funds to support research in pursuit of a graduate degree.

John O. Almquist, for whom the awards are named, was on hand at the presentation to congratulate the winners. Almquist, who served on the Penn State faculty for nearly 40 years, retired in 1983. He joined the research faculty in 1944, six years before his creation of Penn State's Dairy Breeding Research Center. He received the 1981 Wolf Prize in Agriculture an award referred to as the equivalent of the Nobel Prize for his work in artificial insemination for livestock improvement. Many techniques Almquist developed for cattle have been applied to other species, including humans.

Harry Roth of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative presented the John O. Almquist Graduate Student Research Awards to four students in Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science Graduate Program. W-L measures success one grower at a time.

The most important barometer of our success is the growers' successes themselves.

W-L Research has been a provider of superior alfalfa seed for over thirty years, and in that time has — through research — developed seed well-known for its value. At W-L, "value" is defined as long-term yield, persistence, and quality. These characteristics of W-L varieties are the cornerstone of our success, and we continue to measure our success as we always have — one grower at a time.

Lancaster Farmland Trust

conservation easements totals 217 farms.

Mussleman noted that because the Farmland Trust was a private, non-government fund, many of the Amish and Mennonite families who do not want to join government sponsored programs have found the Trust's work an acceptable way to preserve their farms. "Now many 'Old Order' farms are preserved in Lancaster County, and interest in protecting the land and culture is growing," Mussleman said.

Dorothy Lyet, chairperson of the Trust's annual funding campaign, reported that the Trust has raised close to $35,000 toward its $150,000 goal. "Now that we have celebrated the preservation of the 'Witness' farm with a barbecue for 800 people, we intend to turn your attention toward our need to reach this goal. With the help of Honorary Chairperson Caroline Steinman Nunan and others, I'm confident this campaign will be a success."

The Trust presented framed Farmland Preservation Deeds to individuals who purchased 500 or more deed shares to preserve the Krantz farm in Strasburg. The movie "Witness" was filmed at this farm. The Trust and the County Agricultural Preserve Board are jointly preserving the farm, and the Trust is raising its portion of the preservation costs through the sale of Preservation Deeds. The collectible deeds sell for $25 and are available until Dec. 21, 1994.

In a special presentation, Darvin Boyd, Trust president, awarded Farmland Preservation Deeds to individuals and organizations who purchased 500 or more deed shares to preserve the Krantz farm. They included Emma Krantz; Barbara McElhinny Memorial Fund; Lancaster Co. Ag Preserve Board; Lancaster County, and Tom and Katherine Daniels.

Service recognition awards were presented to board members, Jeffrey Fry, Ronald Kreider, and Paul Whipple, as well as staff member Kathleen Bridgehouse.

Mrs. James H. Binns received the 1994 Distinguished Donor Award.

The Trust presented land benefactor awards to the following farm families who permanently preserved their farm in 1994: The Hess family, who preserved the Myer Homestead in Upper Leacock Twp.; Emma Krantz for preserving her 82 acre Strasburg Twp. farm; Emma Musser for preserving her 77 acre farm in West Hempfield, making it the fifth contiguously preserved farm along Marietta Pike near Silver Spring; Robert and Patricia Hershock, who preserved their Mt. Joy farm, and the four lots which had been subdivided from the property; Amos and Esta Funk, who permanently protected their Martic Twp. farm, which had been previously been placed under a 25 year commitment, as well as three Old Order farm families who wished to remain anonymous.

President Boyd said we need to work together in order to be successful and keep the agricultural economy here. "We're not talking about stopping development," Boyd said. "There is room for growth in the County but also room for wisdom to continue to maintain the ag areas and to keep the ag economy strong and viable. We need this to contribute to the quality of life we all seek for ourselves and our children, the generations to follow. We need those areas where there is productive land or we are not going to have the quality of life to which we all aspire.

"Most people now think there is a lot of good in what we are doing. It is most exciting to me that so many great people are involved in this cause."

The elected officers at the meeting were Boyd, president; Phyllis Whitesell, vice president; Dorothy Lyet, secretary, and Kenneth Messner, treasurer.

New board members include: Dr. Stephen Lockey III; Caroline Kilgour; John Schwartz; Christopher Barton; The Hon. Terry Scheetz, and Ken Raffensberger.

Renominations included: Henry Beiler and Zoa Bashline Kile.

Agronomic Products Assn. Wins Ambassador Award

Don Lohr, chairman of the Ambassador committee, left, received the Take Pride Award from Vinnie Nauheimer, eastern manager, Progressive Farmer.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Agronomic Products Association that represents the state's fertilizer and agricultural chemical industry was honored Thursday for their efforts to educate the public about farming practices. The recognition came from a contest called "Take Pride" that is sponsored by the Southern Crop Protection Association and Progressive Farmer.

Based on a program to educate ambassadors for agriculture the award was given to PAPA because they made more presentations to civic and other non-farm groups than any other organization in the region. Don Lohr, chairman of the committee of speakers that make the presentations said they had 24 persons involved and gave 71 presentations.

"Many of our people combine their own presentations with the materials supplied by SCPA," Lohr said. "We get a lot of questions not only related to ag chemicals and fertilizers but also about how much farm equipment costs and other related things not generally known about the business of farming.

"Many people we speak to only know that chemicals are bad. and we wake up a lot of people about just how safe the applications are. We get a lot of general questions too."

The Ambassador program that provides training and materials to present to the general public was started two years ago. This was the first contest to stimulate participation. But it is planned to be an annual contest.

The announcement of the award winner was made at the fall general membership meeting.

Swine AI, If Used Correctly, Can Mean Vast Savings

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Heat detection and timing are crucial when using artificial insemination (AI) on sows or gilts, according to several swine experts.

In fact, given experience and the right genetics from a reputable firm, producers can experience enormous cost savings on boars and feed in the long run, according to David J. E. Hosterman, assistant swine herd manager at Penn State.

Hosterman spoke to about 25 swine producers and related agri-industry representatives on Thursday at the Lampeter Fairgrounds.

The seminar included information on making use of AI in the herd by Kenneth B. Kephart, associate professor of animal science at Penn State, and a video showing how AI is used, produced by the National Pork Producers Council.

For swine farmers who want to improve their herd genetics using AI, producers must be wary of where they purchase their semen.

"I would use a reputable firm, a big firm, a firm that makes their living from semen," said Hosterman.

On the Penn State herd he manages, which includes 50 sows, AI has been used the last 14 years. The herd began with about $50 worth of semen from a stud service and was built up from boars sired at the farm.

After trying a dozen different firms, Penn State settled on semen from a stud service in Manchester, Ohio.

Selecting the proper firm is important, and should include a compete catalog listing of expected prodegy differences (EPDs) with special emphasis on maternal index and terminal index of each boar. This index helps determine the size and weight of the litter. The EPDs indicate how the boar's genetics will differ from the norm of the breed, and could be used as a tool to meet the herd's genetic goals.

With experience, producers should be able to realize that by using AI, "you can do it just as good as a boar can, and probably better," said Hosterman.

After a while, the experience will help with the complete insemination procedure. There are certain elements about the sow's behavior at heat detection and during the AI procedure that can be learned to speed up the process.

Each service can take up to 5 minutes, but most could be done in half that time.

A vital element is keeping careful records of heat. The easy part is application of AI. The hard part, according to the herd manager, is heat detection.

For that reason, Penn State uses a scoring chart which ranks individual sows according to how close to ovulation they are. Four days after weaning, in the morning, records are kept on a chart to indicate how close to service each one is. Each sow is identified by the letters A, for standing heat, ready to breed; B, close to standing heat, tomorrow; C, shows no signs of heat; or D, shows no signs.

Hosterman said by using the chart, even the "shy, timid sow" in the corner of the pen will be scored. And, when ready to service, have a boar standing by outside the pen, because the boar "will tell you more than you can tell yourself," said Hosterman.

With AI, the litter size has shown a quite significant improvement, according to the herd manager. Hosterman spoke of one swine producer who went from using 65 boars to five by collecting semen from the best individual boars. The savings on feed were tremendous.

According to Kenneth Kephart, associate professor of animal science at Penn State, each dose from a stud firm can range from $20-$80, and most cost about $25-$50. To obtain maximum benefits and greatest chance for insemination to occur, dosage should range from 50-250 milliliters (100 ml about the norm), with a minimum sperm count of about 2-4 billion. Semen appearance should be creamy (opaque) and should be ready to use at about room temperature.

For producers who want to collect and store boar sperm, there are special considerations, including a storage box and other items necessary.

When using semen, producers should keep in mind that many things can damage the material, including use of latex gloves, water, sunlight, sudden temperature change, soaps, alcohol, and petroleum jelly. Insemination rods can be costly in terms of all the procedures you need to follow in order to reuse them.

For that reason, Hosterman and others make use of a disposable breeding spirette that costs about 45 cents a piece.

For maximum sperm life at service, Kephart said it is important to "get the sperm there before the eggs."

Producers should approach AI slowly, and start after the gilts have been serviced once naturally.

Afterward, Kephart collected semen from a boar that was to be sent to slaughter after it was used only for AI collection. The boar never serviced a sow naturally.

Procedures for semen collection and using AI were detailed from a variety of sources, most notably the "Swine AI Book" compiled by North Carolina State University, and an "Artificial Insemination For Swine" fact sheet compiled by Kephart.

In the end, using AI can save producers "a pile of money," said Kephart. "A lot of things take a lot of attention, however. But I am amazed at how many producers are doing just that."

Hosterman and others make use of a disposable breeding spirette that costs about 45 cents a piece. Here, he holds a special foam-tipped spirette used during the demonstration Thursday.

PA Farm Bureau Sets Annual Meeting

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The 44th Annual Meeting of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau will take place Nov. 14-16 at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center, Hershey. The presentation of awards, election of officers and setting of policies on issues affecting agriculture will highlight the three-day meeting.

Several hundred farmers, including 169 Voting Delegates. will gather to chart the future course of the organization. PFB is a voluntary, statewide farm organization which provides information, business services and a voice in public affairs to 26,167 member families. It is affiliated with the nation's largest farm group, the 4.2-million member American Farm Bureau Federation.

Harrisburg Mayor Stephen Reed will be the guest speaker at the Annual Meeting Opening Luncheon on Monday, Nov. 14. PFB President Keith Eckel will present the President's Annual Address to the convention on Tuesday, Nov. 15.

PFB Voting Delegates will be considering about 130 policy resolutions during the Annual Meeting which originated through grass-roots input on farm issues from PFB's 54 county farm bureaus. Policy resolutions will focus on issues such as the 1995 farm bill, dairy programs, farm safety, environmental concerns, water use and local tax reform. Delegates will also be electing the organization's President and State Board Members representing eight of PFB's 16 districts.

In addition to business, PFB will present a number of awards during the Annual Meeting. The Outstanding Young Farmer Award will be presented to a farm couple who have demonstrated outstanding business skills and leadership before reaching age 30. PFB will recognize a person or persons who have made a significant contribution for the betterment of Pennsylvania agriculture with its Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award. The top county in farm bureau program achievements will be honored with the All Star Award.

The PFB Annual Meeting will conclude Wednesday. Nov 16 with the election of officers and final adoption of policies for the organization.

Nine Counties Eligible For Disaster Loans

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As a result of requests for aid for Pennsylvania producers who suffered severe crop losses this year, the U.S. Farmers Home Administration has been authorized to offer low-interest emergency loans.

The loans are restricted to those producers in nine Pennsylvania counties, according to a news release from U.S. Sen. Harris Wofford.

Those counties whose farmers are eligible are Erie, Potter, Cameron, Clinton, Crawford, Lycoming, McKean, Tioga, and Warren.

Earlier this year, severe crop losses of potatoes were reported in those counties due to a late season blight, a disease that thrives in moist, humid conditions, such as was experienced this summer.

Specifically, the heavy rainfall from June 22 through August 30 contributed to numerous agricultural problems of varying degrees.

Particularly hard hit were the potato growers, and advisories have been issued through the Penn State Extension Service for producers to be cautious in their selection of potato seed for 1995, because the blight problem was not restricted to Pennsylvania, but has affected the entire potato industry, though effects were not necessarily as severe as in those nine counties.

According to Wofford, each application for disaster assistance will be considered on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, repayment ability, and other eligibility requirements.

For more information, contact a local Farmers Home Administration office.

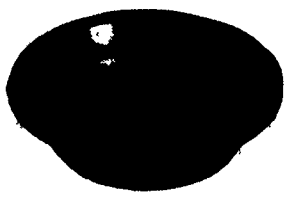
Cumberland

TURKEY PAN FEEDING SYSTEMS

SIMPLY THE LEADER

Cumberland continues being the leader in the manufacturing of poultry equipment by introducing a turkey feeding system for every application. Cumberland's Turkey Feeders have revolutionary features which make them both profitable and easy to maintain for the end customer. Cumberland Feeders deliver feed economically, efficiently, and dependably with savings for the grower. The Cumberland Turkey Pan Feeding System offers a poult turkey pan for young turkeys and two models of adult turkey pans, designed to withstand the rugged treatment of adult turkeys through grow-out.



NEW PLASTIC PAN

Easier to clean... non-corrosive... lighter... Cumberland's plastic pan for both STF and RTF Adult Pan Feeders features improved structural engineering with stronger support gussets, a more durable and effective "hanger" for cleaning and a unique set of two feed-saving "catch walls" that significantly reduce raking and billout.

GRILLESS PAN FEEDER

Growers who prefer a shallower pan for poults appreciate the classic Cumberland grilless pan feeder. Its feed saver lip prevents waste from raking and billout, while the wide center cone (with its simple and easy feed level adjustment) keeps birds out of the pan and guarantees a more efficient "first in, first out" utilization of feed. It can be mounted on the line as stationary or free-swinging, depending on your preference.

'Don't Drink And Drive,' Warns Speaker At York Farm Women Convention

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — "I'm handicapped. What's your problem?"

With that self-introduction as his title, Perry County farmer Danny Albright launched his public speaking debut before an audience of more than 200 York County Society of Farm Women members. Before the articulate 30-year-old had finished his "Danny's Story," he generated tears, laughter and earned a standing-ovation from the Farm Women for his spunk and good humor.

Albright was the featured speaker at the York Farm Women's 55th annual convention, held November 4 at Wisehaven Hall. Society members listened spellbound as the wheelchair-bound cattle broker related the chain of events that changed his life forever.

The son of Ralph and Gladys Albright, Landisburg, Danny grew up as an almost constant companion to his grandfather, Alfred. In addition to the family's Alrada herd of registered Holstein cattle, the Albrights operated a well-known cattle dealership.

"I got my first checkbook when I was eight," Danny related, telling how he began buying calves for his grandfather's customers. Until they came to know Danny, cattle auctioneers were initially reluctant to acknowledge bids from a child.

At ten years old, Danny recalls accepting the Lord into his life during services at the family's church, "not knowing the trial's I'd face later."

Active in both 4-H and FFA, Danny was a member of the state 4-H dairy judging team; and in 1981 took third-high individual honor in youth dairy judging at the World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wisconsin.

He spent two years in California working on a large dairy operation, returning to Perry County in 1989 to continue pursuing the family's cattle dealership business. While that enterprise was growing well, Danny developed personal problems.

"I got involved in drinking and in drugs," he flatly states.

In December of that year, just a few months after buying himself a sporty new car, Danny crashed it on a bitterly-cold night on his way home from partying after a particularly successful cattle deal. Only a mile and a half from his home, Danny lay unconscious at the accident until he was found at 4:30 the next morning. Temperatures had dipped into the teens and hypothermia from hours of exposure had dropped Danny's body temperature to 80 degrees. And the accident had broken his neck.

"I woke up in Harrisburg Hospital hooked to all kinds of machines and people standing around my bed crying," he remembered.

"And I wanted a second opinion," he quipped, displaying the humor and spunk that kept him going through the ensuing six-months of hospitalization and physical therapy. Initially led to believe that his paralysis injury was "incomplete," or temporary, Danny was convinced he would walk again. Doctors eventually had to tell him that the injury was not a reversible one.

"Don't drink and drive," is the message that Danny hopes to impress on others by sharing his life-changing experiences of the last five years. He has done a public service announcement for Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) and friends are encouraging him to further share his message.

A licensed cattle dealer, Danny attends sales usually at least three days weekly. With the assistance of a homemaker and two drivers, along with family and friends, he maintains his personal and business independence. A computer helps him write and keep track of records.

"I rededicated my life to God laying on my hospital bed. God has blessed me with a lot of good people to help me," he testified.

Along with Albright's message, a spirit of giving to others and a cheery sunflower theme further brightened the spirits of the York Farm Women participating in their annual gathering. Attendees piled several tables to overflowing with contributions of non-perishable food items that were packed for delivery to four York County organizations which feed the hungry. Recipients of the food contributions were the Dover Food Bank, Mason-Dixon Food Bank, Lehman Center for families in crisis, and Our Daily Bread Food Kitchen.

Contributions of $550 each were presented to the York County 4-H Center and the York County Literacy Council. The $1,100 of donations was generated through chances sold on reproduction coverlets and place mats woven in the county by the David Kline family. Using antique jacquard looms, the Kline's have woven reproduction floor coverings and coverlets for restored homes and museums across the country.

President Carolyn Neal presided over the re-election of the county's treasurer, Treva Stiles, Group 18. Other officers for 1995 are Arlene Keener, vice president, Lois Manifold, second vice president, and secretary Trudy Reichard. State president Dorothy Strickler installed the county and group officers and announced in her report the date of the 1995 Spring Rally as May 23.

In her compiled group report, vice president Arlene Keener noted that York County presently has 36 active Farm Women societies and 1 inactive, with a total of 485 members. Collectively, the 36 groups donated more than $4,600 to various community and charitable causes through the past 12 months.

Five 90-year-old members and 16 who turned 80 years old during the year received special pins of recognition. Recipients of the 90-year awards were Beatrice Leib, Group 4, Mary Wise, Group 12, Sara Myers, Group 17, Lula Rennoll, Group 20 and Pansy Leibhart, Group 25.

Awards for 80-year-olds went to: Grace Stump, Group 5; Irene Rentzel, Helen Bentz and Mary Rohler, Group 7; Viola M. Hauer and Eleanor Mummert, Group 8; Esther Dehoff and Ruth Gable, Group 9; Edith Slenker, Group 10; Kathryn Shultz, Group 12; Ruth May and Ruth Hobbs, Group 14; Effie King, Group 15; Margaret Bailey and Estelle Dellinger, Group 20; and Kathryn Resline, Group 25.

Fourteen members who died in the preceding year were memoralized in a service of scripture and floral presentation remembrances. Remembered during the ceremony were Estella Crowl and Amy Miller, Group 1; Donna Jones and Mildred Fink, Group 5; Ethel Gross, Group 6; Ruth Runkle and Beatrice Bacon, Group 12; Virginia Halbalch and Doretha Peters, Group 14; Ruth McCurdy, Group 17; Helen Smith, Group 18; Evelyn Stock and Margaret Johnson, Group 27, and Yetta Grove, Group 21.

"Don't drink and drive," is the message of Perry County cattle dealer Danny Albright. He shared with York Farm Women his story of recuperation, rehabilitation and rededication of his life to God after his neck was broken in an automobile accident five years ago.

TAKING TIME

by Rebecca Escott

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Lehigh County

Single Parents Need Time Too

I was reviewing some statistics on families in the United States. The number of single-parent families has more than doubled in the past 15 years. Approximately 11 million children under 18 years old live with a single parent. One million of those live with their dads. Demographers estimate that 70 percent of the children born after 1980 will spend some of their first 18 years in a single-parent home.

Many families are experiencing what this means personally. The challenges for these folks are great. Economic pressures top the list of concerns for single parents. Cindy Fletcher, extension family economist at Iowa State University, reports, "Divorce results in reduced income for all income groups...Per capita income in female-headed household is about half that of two-parent household."

But economic pressures are not the only concerns. Like most parents, single moms and dads also struggle with having too much to do and not enough time and energy to do it. The good news is that studies are now documenting that "Children receive as much support and discipline in mother-headed homes as in two-parent homes." according to Virginia Molgaard, another family life specialist at Iowa State University. However, single-parents are often not supported by others to the same extent that they offer support to their children.

If you are a single-parent, you can make choices that will help your family. First, it is very important for you to carve time out of your schedule to be with other supportive adults. Relying on your children as your primary source of emotional support can be damaging to your kids. Molgaard emphasizes that, "When the parent receives support from other adults, children are more likely to be healthy and happy."

University of Illinois researchers agree. They have found that single-parents who have a strong social support network experience fewer psychological stresses and parent more effectively. By taking time to be with other encouraging adults, you're not only helping yourself, you're also helping your children.

Secondly, take five minutes to write down the good things about your family and your adult life as it is today. Tape this to the dash of your car or the refrigerator door. Single-parents may get trapped in a rut where they only notice the things that are "wrong." Remind yourself often of the positive things about your family.

Third, treat yourself to a class or time to work on a special project. People who build skills feel better about themselves and are better able to address new challenges. Use a pottery class, karate lessons, or desktop publishing assignment as an opportunity to develop a new skill. Set a goal or schedule a discussion with a child's daycare provider or your banker. Don't do it all. Tackle one area that you want to improve. Concentrate on that until you feel comfortable before moving on to other projects.

Finally, when the pressure is too much, and you're about to lose your cool with your children, your parents, or your boss, try these coping tips:

• Put yourself in time-out for a few minutes to think about your anger. Who are you really mad at? Take at least three slow, relaxing breaths before returning to the group.

• Go into the bathroom and splash cool water on your face. Wash your neck and hands.

• Do 50 sit-ups or get outside for a walk.• Phone or visit a friend.

Even if you aren't a single-parent, you probably know one. Take time this week to be a supportive friend to baby-sit while she gets her hair cut, to complement him on something he's doing well, to "play catch" with her kids, to welcome his family to your home for potluck dinner.

Beans The Cancer-Fighting Food

(NAPS)—What food is low-fat, low cost, packed full of essential nutrients and helps reduce the risk of cancer and heart disease? If you didn't think about beans, then perhaps you don't know beans—about beans.

"Medical and nutritional experts have found that adding beans to your daily diet can reduce the risk of cancer and heart disease, as well as help control weight gain," says Gene Hermenet, president of Brooks Foods, a leading producer of beans. "Eating beans represents an excellent step in the right direction toward a more healthy lifestyle."

Beans bear powerful assets: B-vitamins facilitate cell production as well as healthy skin, eyes, hair and nails; iron is essential for healthy blood production; calcium is key for strong bones and teeth; and protein is essential to proper functioning of every cell in the body.

"Beans help fight weight gain because they provide lots of protein, but include only a tiny fraction of fat compared to equal servings of meat and poultry," explains Hermenet. A one-cup serving of beans contains about one gram of fat; a 3½ ounce serving of ground chuck contains 23.9 grams of fat.

Calories from beans come mainly from carbohydrates and protein. The high carbohydrate content in beans means calories taken in are burned up quickly and converted into usable energy.

Beans reduce the risk of cancer and heart disease because the high fiber content—12.2 grams per one cup serving—is more than half the recommended daily requirement. Soluble fiber, along with a low fat, low cholesterol diet, also aids in reducing blood cholesterol levels (a major factor in heart disease) by blocking the amount of cholesterol the body absorbs.

Beans regulate blood sugar levels and are an excellent way to manage diabetes because of their high carbohydrate and fiber content. Experts recommend that about 60 percent of a diabetic's calories should come from complex carbohydrates. Consuming just one cup of beans provides more than half the daily adult requirement of complex carbohydrates.

"Americans are more health conscious than ever, and can find great tasting low-fat alternatives in creating bean dishes like rice and beans, fajitas and chili," says Hermenet. "Beans provide 'one-stop shopping' if you're looking for a cancerfighting, low cost, goodtasting nutritional value."

Somerset Farm Women Celebrate 80 Years

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — The Somerset County Society of Farm Women held its 75th Convention recently and celebrated its 80th birthday since being founded by Flora Black of Holland Farms, near Garrett, in the year 1914.

Black is said to have believed that farm women didn't get out enough socially and that gathering together once a month would be something special for them. Her idea became so popular that Society of Farm Women was launched. Later, a memorial recognizing that it all began in Somerset County, was placed beside Route 219 near Garrett.

The theme, "Up! Up! And Away, We Are Eighty Today," titled the convention program booklet for the 130 women who attended. Included were six past state presidents, including Luella Duppstadt and Mary Boyd, Somerset County; Edith Diehl and Martee Mentzer, Cumberland County; Marie Baughman, Franklin County; and Naomi Bupp, York County.

Dorothy Strickler, the current state president, presided over the installation of new officers: president, Becky Swallow, Central City; first vice-president, Nancy Jackson, Indian Lake; second vice-president, Sandy Wojcik, Cairnbrook; secretary, Shirley Weitzel, Central City; assistant secretary, Eleanor Cannoni, Windber; treasurer, Audrey Gilbert, Jennerstown.

Swallow succeeds Marion Sjoberg as county president.

Giving annual reports were presidents of the 12 county societies, with the exception of Number Nine, which is currently inactive.

They were Evelyn Hillegass, Society One; Dorothy Brougher, Society Two; Josephine Kerin, Society Three; Nancy Jackson, Society Four; Frances Werner, Society Five; Maxine Leventry, Society Six; Audrey Gilbert, Society Seven; Anna Jean Ferguson, Society Eight; Violet Shuster, Society Ten; Connie Sturtz, Society Eleven; and Gladys King, Society Twelve.

The memorial service was conducted by Society Five which had one deceased member, Betty Deal, 1921 - 1994. Society Six also lost one member, Mabel Miller, 1914 - 1993. Two members of Society Ten died during the year. They were Anna C. Kormanik, 1927 - 1994; and Ruth V. Weaver, 1914-1994.

Anna Glessner, aged 90 years, was honored by Society Two.

A presentation by the Pennsylvania state dairy princess Natalie Welch, was a treat during the afternoon session.

Soloist Jill Pulido sang during the forenoon session while the McFarlings provided afternoon entertainment.

Raye Diehl lead group singing, accompanied by Frances Ross at the piano.

Chaplain Kathryn Miller and assistant chaplain, Thelma Long, lead the group in devotions.

Annual reports are being given at the Somerset County Society of Farm Women 75th Convention held in Berlin.

#16T CHERRY STONER

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

If Mother Nature's 12-month year could be packaged into a box of crayons, November would be the still-sharp one when I'd worn down the rest of the colors.

First to be crayoned in would be the soft shades of green and pastel floral shades of awakening springtime. Then we'd turn to the bright deep greens of summer lawns, dotted with vermillion, scarlet, neon pink, magenta, glow grange and sunshine yellows of hot-weather flowers.

Early fall would have us picking up the hues of gold, rust and red-orange. And down to a nub of colored wax would be the selections of blues, grays and ivory from crayoning the constantly changing shades of the sky and clouds.

November, however, is the brown crayon, a shade of Mother Nature often associated with negatives like muddy water. Soggy, dead leaves. Or the manure tracks dotting my kitchen floor. Again.

But driving home through the countryside on a recent drop-dead gorgeous, early-November afternoon, I suddenly realized that what seems in a quick glance as drab brownness of late fall scenery isn't. It's a whole separate, sort of subsidiary crayon box of more gentle shades, beautiful in its own way.

Just ahead along the road, in a lush green pasture framed with white fence, grazed three chestnut-colored horses. It would be impossible to see the glistening, chestnut-colored coats of these graceful animals and not appreciate the beauty in that particular shade and in that lovely setting.

Beyond the horse pasture on the horizon stretched a "brown" woods. Except it wasn't. Tree trunks were charcoal, silvery gray and black, mingled among oak stands holding lingering leaves in shades of mahogany. Poking through the woodlot were fading accents of gold and yellow.

Harvest equipment lumbered through "brown" fields of corn and soybeans. Which aren't. Ripe stands of field corn turn the color of khaki or warm beige. And soybeans, denuded of their leaves by maturity, are a cheerful, rusty shade.

Even scrubby, forgotten corners of meadows and unkempt roadside banks which seem to be brown are really a potpourri of other hues. Sumac bushes and briar patches fade from life into a dark maroon color. Weedy flowers in their last days hold airy, gray-white dried blooms above beige stems.

But there are some honest-to-goodness browns of November. Like the deep color of chestnuts, smooth and shiny like polished mahogany. (How many kids today know what a chestnut is, or what a roasted one tastes like?)

Or the soft, fuzzy brown of the cattail heads framing the pond. I try to preserve some every fall, spraying the heads heavily with hairspray to keep the millions of milkweed-like seed-fluff from flying into every corner of the house.

And then there's the most beautiful brown of all: the color of the damp soil of the fields, stirred just enough to make a receptive seed bed to nurture a November planting of wheat. Without the brown of earth, there would be no trees or flowers of brighter colors, and more importantly, no food and fiber to feed and clothe the multi-hued peoples, animals and birds.

I really must use that brown crayon more often.

Farm Show Needs Ice Cream Churn-Off Contestants

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Icy weather brings thoughts of snow tires and long winter days. But the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Partners are thinking ice cream.

Contestants are needed for the 1995 Farm Show Ice Cream "Churn-off." Held on Tuesday, January 8, the "Churn-off" requires contestants to create their own flavors of homemade ice cream. The winner of this contest will take home a top prize of $300. Second and third place recipes will receive $150 and $125, respectively.

Eight qualified entries will compete in the "Churn-off" Contest. All entries must use Real dairy products. Only original, unpublished recipes will compete in the contest. Judges will use the following criteria to select the winner: effective use of dairy products (30%); taste and visual appeal (30%); recipe originality and creativity (30%); and ease of preparation (10%).

The "Churn-off" will kick-off events for "Dairy Fun Night." Come out and cheer on State Representatives as they challenge their dairy knowledge and go head-to-head in the "Dairy Feud" game show contest. Presented for the first time ever, the 1995 Dairy Olympics will test media and local celebrities in such contests as cheeseburger eating, cow milking/butter making, ice cream sundae build-off and "cow pie" tug-of-war.

The Ice Cream "Churn-off" is open to all Pennsylvania residents, except those who have an affiliation with the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Partners. Persons with professional status cannot enter the contest. The "Churn-off" contest is limited to one entry per family, FFA chapter, 4-H club, or other organization. Entries for the "Churn-off" must be received in the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program office by December 14, 1994. Entries must include the name, address and telephone number of all contest participants and recipe. Mail to: Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408.

Dairy Fun Night is jointly sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Partners. Further information about "Dairy Fun Night" is available by calling (717) 787-6903.

Sweet Potatoes Spud Great Taste

Sweet potatoes are one of nature's most nearly complete foods! An average-sized sweet potato baked in the skins provides an excellent source of Vitamin A providing 500 percent of the dairy recommended amount and 47 percent of Vitamin C. It is low in sodium with 12 mg per potato and 118 calories.

Some people like potatoes plain but many like sweeten them up a bit. Many people, such as Dave Dennis, find that almost any pumpkin recipe may be used by substituting sweet potatoes in place of pumpkin. Dennis wrote, "It's the spices that flavor the pumpkin, so it makes little difference whether it's pumpkin, squash, sweet potatoes, or even carrots."

Ivamae Love, East Waterford, agrees. She wrote that she made sweet potato pie and her family thought it was pumpkin pie. They thought it was so good that she plans to make it again without divulging that it is really sweet potato pie.

Try these recipes to find out how many ways sweet potatoes may be served and how great they taste.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

Sweet potatoes
¼ to ½ cup brown sugar
½ cup crushed pineapple and juices
½ stick butter
¼ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
5 to 6 slices cooked bacon, crumbled
Small jar cherries

The ingredients vary as to how many potatoes you will be using and how many guests you are serving.

Bake sweet potatoes in oven or microwave until soft. Peel and slice and put into buttered oven-safe dish.

Simmer pineapple and juices, brown sugar, butter bacon essence and pumpkin pie spice.

Pour above over sliced sweet potatoes. Top with crumbled bacon and cherries.

Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. This dish may be baked or warmed in microwave.

PRUETT'S SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

29-ounce can sweet potatoes, drained, mashed ½ cup butter, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon cinnamon
½ cup coconut
1 cup mini marshmallows
½ cup chopped pecans

Mix sweet potatoes, butter, vanilla, sugar, eggs, and cinnamon thoroughly. Fold in coconut, marshmallows, and pecans. Transfer to deep casserole dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Remove and top with the following:

Topping:
½ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons melted butter
Mini marshmallows to cover top of casserole
¼ cup shredded coconut
¼ cup chopped pecans

Sprinkle brown sugar and butter over top. Cover with mini marshmallows, coconut, and nuts. Return to oven until lightly browned.

"Talk about good — this is outstanding. Love it, love it," writes contributor.

SWEET POTATO COOKIES

1 pound butter
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar. Add one egg at a time. Mix and add remaining ingredients. Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake for 12 to 15 minutes at 375 degrees. When cool, ice with orange icing.

Orange Icing:
1 pound confectioners' sugar, sifted
1 grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice

Mix together and ice cookies.

Bridgeton, N.J.

Be creative in your use of sweet potatoes. Readers write that they find that almost any pumpkin recipe is interchangeable with sweet potatoes. Both are good sources of beta carotene.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

4 cups sweet potatoes, cooked and mashed
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup melted butter
⅔ cup canned milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
¾ cup brown sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup flour
⅓ cup melted butter

Mix sugar, sweet potatoes, eggs, butter, milk, and vanilla. Place in a casserole dish. In another bowl, combine the remaining ingredients and mix well. Sprinkle on top of potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

"Listen to the raves of those who don't like sweet potatoes!"

YAM PARFAIT

First layer:
1 cup flour
1 stick butter
1 cup chopped nuts

Mix together and press in bottom of 12x8x2½ -inch pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

Second layer:
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup whipped topping

Whip together until light and fluffy. Spread over crust. Next layer the following ingredients:

2 cups yams, whipped, sweetened
12-ounce can crushed pineapple, sweetened and thickened
4-ounce package vanilla instant pudding (according to package directions)

Top with whipped topping. Garnish with nuts and cherries. Chill. Cut in 24 2x3-inch pieces.

YAM CANDY

2 cups sugar
½ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup butter
1 cup chopped pecans
½ cup cooked, mashed yams
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons marshmallow cream

Bring sugar, milk, and butter to a boil for 2 to 3 minutes; add pecans and yams. Cook until it starts to sugar. Remove from heat; add vanilla and marshmallow cream. Beat until candy loses gloss. Pour into buttered dish. Cut into squares. Makes approximately 42 small pieces.

When you buy sweet potatoes, choose firm, well-shaped potatoes with bright, clean, and smooth skin. Always keep sweet potatoes dry and never refrigerate except after cooking.

Sweet potatoes are one of the most nutrtionally complete foods. One medium sweet potato provides almost twice the recommended daily allowance of vitamin A and more than one-third of the vitamin C needed in the daily diet. Sweet potatoes also contribute vitamin B6, iron, potassium, and fiber and are extremely high in producing beta carotene.

The following recipe is from the Louisiana Sweet Potato Commission. If you would like more sweet potato recipes, write to the Commission at Post Office Box 113, Opelousas, LA 70571-0113 or phone (318) 942-3689.

SWEET POTATO MUFFINS

¼ cup oat bran
¼ cup whole wheat flour
⅓ cup sugar, granulated
1½ teaspoon cinnamon, ground
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup apples, skinless, finely chopped
1 cup baked, mashed or canned sweet potatoes
1 whole egg, large
2 egg whites, large
3 tablespoons canola oil
⅓ cup low-fat plain yogurt

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In bowl, combine bran, flour, sugar, cinnamon, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and apples. Add sweet potatoes, egg, egg whites, oil, and yogurt. Stir all ingredients thoroughly. Spray muffin tins with vegetable cooking spray. Spoon ¼ cup of batter per muffin.

Variation: Ad 1 cup raisins. Yields approximately 20 muffins.

Lancaster Farm Women Review Year

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — About 300 women celebrated the Society of Farm Women of Lancaster County's 78th annual convention on November 5.

It was a time for the members to review their activities throughout the year and to enjoy a day of renewing friendships.

"The cows would give more milk if you dressed like this for them," a husband told his wife who made a quick transition from barn clothes to dressy ones before arriving for the all-day affair held at the Farm and Home Center.

It's the versatility of farm women to fulfill many roles that best exemplifies Farm Women members that make up 29 societies within the county.

Concern for home, farm, and community encourage members to "brighten the corner where they are" in order to make the world a better place.

Lots of happiness, cheer, and encouragement were spread to many retirement centers, children's homes, and in personal visits by the 720 members of the county society. Thousands of hours were spent sewing in area hospitals, cooking and serving meals to shut-ins and those who have a family member with a terminal illess, for Meals on Wheels, and farm sales. Societies have supplied food to community food banks, assisted fire companies with food and food baskets. Some of the organizations that were benefitted by farm women's generosity include the Heart Association, Cerebral Palsy, libraries, FFA and home economic classes, EFNEP, historical societs, shoe funds, heifer project, self-help stores, fairs, festivals, farm shows, and local youth organizations.

In addition to fundraisers held by the 29 individual societies and for state projects, the members also worked together to present a check for $3,775 to be used for repairs to the Farm and Home Center. Not only does Farm Women use the center for meetings throughout the year but also it is used by hundreds of other agriculture and community service groups. Built in 1968, the building needed to have the heating system replaced and have an elevator installed to comply with the Americans With Disabilities Act.

Throughout the year each of the societies have held educational meetings on legislation, safety, and health. Time was also found for recreation and entertainment by visiting local attractions and neighboring states.

Installation of Pauline M. Risser as secretary and Martha Gerber as treasurer resulted in the two joining other county officers Joyce Slaymaker, president; Kathryn Fry, first vice president; and Allegra Leininger, second vice president.

Althea Engle, Lancaster Extension home economist, addressed the group. She told the audience about her background in nutritional research and stressed the importance of eating five fruits and vegetables daily to maintain a healthy diet to help prevent cancer and dietary illnesses.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Carolyn Blevins, Warwick, Md., would like a recipe for Black Forest Cake made from scratch.

QUESTION — Denise Kahler, Dornsife, lost her favorite recipe for pumpkin cranberry bread. It was a recipe from Libby's featured in a woman's magazine several years ago.

QUESTION — Faye Detter, Mechanicsburg, is looking for a recipe for Friendship Cake that is made from fermented fruit.

QUESTION — Barbara Phillips, Hamburg, would like a recipe for baked lima beans using dried beans that need to be soaked overnight.

QUESTION — Becky Shires, Oxford, would like a recipe for lemon meringue cake. She had a piece at Miller's Smorgarsbord near Lancaster recently. The layer cake had a filling between layers and pecans on the outside.

QUESTION — Theresa Moore, New Park, would like a recipe for poppy seed salad dressing.

QUESTION — Ellie, no address, would like a recipe for chocolate chip cookies made without flour.

QUESTION — M.J. Howard, Columbus, N.J., would like a recipe for the ham and bean soup that was sold at the Gordonville Fire Co. Builder's Sale on October 16. She writes "it was wonderful and I bought every container they had left."

QUESTION — Andy Andrews, Brownstown, would like a recipe for pumpkin-flavored candy apples.

QUESTION — A Lancaster County reader would like a recipe for pepper jelly made with Karo or white corn syrup.

QUESTION — D. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., would like the following recipes to replace those she lost — strawberry shortcake with a cooked frosting and a Spiedie Marinade for meat.

QUESTION — Do any readers have a recipe for homemade ice cream made with potatoes?

QUESTION — A Chester County reader wants to know if wine or brandy can be made from pears.

QUESTION — LaFaye Burkholder, Fredericksburg, would like to know how to dry sunflower seeds and also how to wash them. Should the seeds be taken off the head to dry?

QUESTION — Gwen Webster, Glen Rock, would like a recipe for grape bars. She had purchased some at the Grape Festival in Naples, N.Y. The bars were delicious with a graham cracker crumb crust with fruit on the top.

QUESTION — Aida Mothes, Renick, W.V., writes that she was in Norway, a quick bread that was often served in restaurants was a fruit or nut bread that was very moist. She would like the recipe.

ANSWER — Linda Stoltzfus, New Providence, wanted a recipe for barbecue sauce. Thanks to Dave Dennis, Fredericksburg, for sending a recipe.

Barbecue Sauce

1 cup catsup
1 large onion, finely chopped
⅓ cup water
1 tablespoon paprika
1 teaspoon packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash tabasco sauce (optional)

Bring all ingredients except lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce to boiling over medium heat. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce and heat until hot.

ANSWER — G.E.Ross, Douglassville, requested some recipes for paw paws. He thought perhaps some elderly folks would have some paw paw recipes for the young folk to enjoy. Thanks to Elva Bernard, Marcus Hook, who sent in recipes that she said is from one young folk to another. She also suggests the cookbook, "The Wild Flavor," by Marilyn Kluger. It is distributed by Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston. The book includes recipes of delectable wild foods to be found in field and forest.

Paw Paw Puree

Use ripe paw paws only! Squeeze pulp out of skins and puree in a food mill. Sprinkle with lemon juice (to prevent puree from darkening) in the proportion of 1 teaspoon lemon juice per cup of puree.

Paw Paw Bread

1 cup paw paw puree
⅓ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs
1¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, beat until fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in paw paw puree. Sift together remaining dry ingredients and add in four portions, beating smooth each time. Pour batter into a greased, floured loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for about 50 minutes or until a toothpick inserted comes out clean. Cool on rack. Makes one loaf.

Serve with butter or cream cheese.

Note: To vary, add 1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice and ½ cup chopped pecans.

ANSWER — Lorraine Bannon, Waymart, would like a recipe for ham loaf. Thanks to Faye Detter, Mechanicsburg, and Dave Dennis, Fredericksburg, for sending recipes.

Ham Loaf

2 pounds smoked ham, ground
1 pound pork, ground
1 cup finely ground cracker crumbs
2 eggs
½ cup milk

Sauce:

1 cup brown sugar
⅓ cup vinegar
⅓ cup water
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Mix all ham loaf ingredients and bake for 1½ hours from 325 to 350 degrees. Heat all sauce ingredients and baste ham loaf often during the last hour of baking.

Currant Ham Loaf

5 cups ground cooked ham
1 pound ground pork
2 eggs
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 cup tomato sauce
2 tablespoons chilli sauce or catsup
10 ounces currant jelly
⅓ cup salad mustard

Combine all but last two ingredients and form into a loaf. (May be made ahead and frozen at this point). Bake uncovered 90 minutes at 350 degrees. Combine jelly and mustard thoroughly and pour over the loaf.

ANSWER — Anna Cruzan, Leesburg, N.J., wanted a recipe for refried beans made from raw pinto beans. Thanks to Dave Dennis, Fredericksburg, for sending a recipe.

Refried Beans

2 cups dry pinto beans
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
5 tablespoons bacon fat
Ground cumin to taste, optional
1½ cups cubed cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese, optional
Finely chopped jalepenos (optional)

Wash beans. Soak overnight or bring beans to a boil with six cups water, cook 2 minutes, then remove from heat, cover, and let stand one hour before cooking further. Simmer beans 90 minutes or until tender. Add salt and pepper. Heat bacon fat in skillet. Drain 1 cup beans, reserving liquid, and put in skillet. Mash thoroughly, adding ½ cup of the reserved liquid. Stir and cook several minutes. Add and mash more beans with more reserved liquid. Repeat with remaining beans and liquid until the mixture is smooth. Stir in any or all of optional ingredients and cook until cheese melts.

YAM BRAN BREAD

½ cup butter
¼ cup sugar
2 egg whites
1½ cups flour
½ cup oat bran
3 tablespoons sour milk
1½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 medium yams, baked, peeled, and mashed

Combine butter, sugar, and egg whites. Add remaining ingredients until moistened. Place in muffin tins or a greased and floured loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees until toothpick inserted comes out clean. Yields 1 loaf or 12 muffins.

Sweet Potatoes

SWEET POTATO AND APPLE CASSEROLE

6 to 8 sweet potatoes
6 to 8 firm cooking apples
1 cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups boiling water
½ cup butter

Parboil sweet potatoes and cut into slices. Peel apples and slice. Mix sugar, cornstarch, and salt in saucepan; add boiling water and butter. Stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil.

Butter a large casserole dish. Layer sweet potatoes and apples in dish. Pour sauce over all and bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

SWEET POTATO PIE

⅓ cup butter, softened
½ cup sugar
2 eggs, lightly beaten
¾ cup evaporated milk
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
1 unbaked pastry shell

In a mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar. Add eggs; mix well. Add milk, sweet potatoes, vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt; mix well. Pour into pie shell. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees, bake 35 to 40 minutes longer or until a knife inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool. Store in refrigerator. Serves 6 to 8.

Those Intriguing Spiders

Donald J. Frederick
National Geographic News Service

Most spiders are downright ornery.

Nearly all of these solitary creatures end up fighting or cannibalizing each other when they get together.

Among the 34,000 spider species, only about 18 cooperate in a big way. almost no invertebrates except social spider and ants do this to such a degree, says Leticia Aviles, an evolutionary biologist at the University of Arizona.

"These very social spiders nest and stay together all their lives," she says. "They share food and cooperate in prey capture, web-building and maintaining the nest. In some cases they even take care of each others' broods."

As befits their laid-back lifestyle, all of these eight-legged groupies live in tropical and subtropical regions.

Aviles discovered three species of social spiders in the rain forests of her native Ecuador. So far, none has been officially verified in the United States, although researchers from the University of Tennessee think they have located a colony along the Clinch River in the eastern part of the state.

Susan E. Riechert, a zoologist at the Tennessee University, theorizes that social spiders prefer warmer climates because they don't hibernate for long periods like their cousins in cooler places. "They can just continue to keep going and producing individuals, so you have some continuity of overlapping generations," she says.

They do a lot of producing, because most nests average 10 females to one male. Unless disrupted by outside conditions such as severe storms or large animals that destroy their homes, the spiders stay together indefinitely and usually don't mingle, even with spiders of the same species in other colonies.

When calamity strikes, the animals migrate as a group to a new location. Aviles watched 45 nestmates in Ecuador follow each other single file through thick undergrowth for two days. "Only one spider out of the group got lose," says Aviles, whose research has been supported by the National Geographic Society. "The rest remained together."

Despite inbreeding, the social spiders persist, perhaps because they've been doing it for millions of years.

Australian social spiders prepare to make a meal of a grasshopper tangled in their web.

Inbreeding probably accounts for the predominance of females. "It would be silly to produce more males, because they'd be competing with each other and they're genetically identical," says Riechert. "Besides, females are the workers of the colony. It's really the females that are sort of carrying the males along."

So when dinner's served, it's usually compliments of the females, who closely coordinate their hunting activities.

In Ecuador, Aviles observed females, positioned along the edge of a nest closest to a struggling insect, launch a joint assault. They then hauled the hapless victim away to share with nest mates. "Most social species just drag home their prey, and it's not very organized," says Avile.

Not so with a small, yellow Ecuadorian spider that captures unwary victims in a sticky web that coats both sides of leaves.

Aviles watched three females join forces to carry a large ant from the upper to the lower surface of the nest. After pieces of the web were snipped to free the catch, one ant pushed, another pulled and the third lifted the prey to keep it away from the sticky surface.

"Once at the edge," Aviles observed, "the ant was successfully moved to the other side by having one spider hold it from above as it from above as it walked toward the edge while the other two supported the item and pulled it from below. It infers some kind of communication."

By coordinating their web-building talents, social spiders can build large structures to snare oversize prey suitable for a communal banquet. The menu might include large katydids, beetles and moths.

Kid-Friendly Microwave For After School Hunger Pangs

Today's on-their-own children are learning cooking independence first-hand by mastering the microwave, whose speed, simplicity and relative safety are attractive to junior chefs. In less time than it takes to turn on the television, a tasty and often creative snack debuts.

Adults, too, appreciate the safety of a microwave oven. The microwave oven turns itself off automatically, so less supervision is needed. The problem of scorching, resulting in messy pots and pans, is eliminated, so the dreaded task of clean-up is minimized.

The following American Dairy Association recipes are simple enough to encourage the most reluctant of youngsters because they use products kids generally like and most families keep on hand.

Before your child assumes the helm, here are a few tips to make microwave cooking safe and easy. We recommend reviewing them with junior chefs to ensure successful results.

- Read each recipe carefully.
- Gather all ingredients before you begin.
- The microwave oven cooks food fast so be sure to set the timer for the shortest amount of time and add extra seconds as needed.
- Never operate the oven when it is empty.
- Use glass or plastic dishes, not metal or foil.
- Keep hot pads nearby to use when removing a dish from the microwave oven. The heat of the food may make the dish hot.
- Ask Mom or an older brother or sister to help you with things you haven't done before like chopping and measuring.

MEXI OR ITALIANO POTATO
1 serving

- 1 medium-sized Idaho potato, scrubbed
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 3 tablespoons mild salsa*
- 1/4 cup (1 ounce) shredded Cheddar cheese
- Sliced pitted ripe olives
- Tortilla chips, if desired

Pierce potato all over with tines of a fork. Place potato on paper towel in microwave. Microwave on High (100%) for 2 minutes. Turn potato over. Microwave for 2 to 3 minutes more, or until potato is tender when pierced with a fork. Carefully remove from microwave. Place on plate. Slit top of potato. Top potato with butter, salsa and cheese. Microwave on High (100%) 20 seconds, or until cheese is melted.

GOOEY CEREAL CRUNCH BALLS
Yield: 36

- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 4 cups toasted rice cereal
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 2/3 cup EACH: raisins, mini semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Place unwrapped cream cheese and butter in 4-quart microwavable mixing bowl. Microwave on High (100%), uncovered, 2 to 2 1/2 minutes, or until butter is melted and cream cheese is soft. stir with a whisk until well combined. Whisk in honey and cinnamon. Stir in cereal, marshmallows, raisins and chocolate pieces. Form mixture into 1 1/2-inch balls.

Mexi Potato — hearty, quick and easily prepared by the resident junior chef. Gooey Cereal Crunch Balls are great with a glass of milk for dessert.

Lancaster Farm Women

The theme for the day was music and the importance it plays in lives. The talents of members were showcased by Sylvia Kuch of Society 8, Allegra Leininger of Society 3, and Joanne Hershey of Society 26.

David and Sylvia Kuch played ragtime music and spoke of the origin of such music. In their musical act, David, who is called Discord Dave, plays the piano while his wife, nicknamed Soapy Sil, plays a washboard by wearing thimbles on her fingers and rings a cow bell.

Allegra Leininger of Society 3 amazed the group by playing beautifully haunting music on the marimba.

Joanne Hershey, a member of Society 26, spoke about the harmony of music in life and of God as the source of all harmony. She inspired members to "remember the impossible is always possible."

For reaching her 90th birthday and remaining an active member, Margarite Kreider of Society 9 was presented with a special pin from the society.

"There have been happy times in the gaining of 11 members and sad times with 14 resignations and 10 deaths," said first vice-president Kathryn Fry.

A memorial service recognized the following members who died within the last year: Miriam Weaver, Society 19; Shirley Newcomer, Society 4; Estie Swarr, Society 8; Violet Esheleman, Society 11; Ruth Shenk, Society 17; Mae Wenger, Society 17; Ingernia Wanner, Society 18; Jean Wood, Society 20; and Dorothy Hoak, Society 23.

The attendance awards went to Society 28 and to Society 1.

The Great Pumpkin With A Whole Patch Of Giant Peers

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — When the "Great Pumpkin" visits the home of Barbara and Alfred Sarver of Manns Choice RD 1, it meets a whole patch of giant peers.

Al and Barbara Sarver have been raising and entering pumpkins in the competition at the annual Pumpkin Festival at Old Bedford Village for the past four years.

Grown on two acres of farmland in the southern part of Bedford County, the pumpkins are an Atlantic Giant and Prize Winners cross. Al says he uses the largest pumpkins each year for seed.

This year, as in years previous, the Sarver pumpkins placed first in Bedford County competition. "We usually get beaten by a few pounds by pumpkins from elsewhere," Barb says. "But, the judges always say that if they were judging for beauty, ours would win all awards."

A deep golden color puts the Sarver pumpkins in the asthenic spotlight.

This year, the Sarver entries weighed in at 262, 200 and 182 pounds. One of the entries was that of Lisa Daulton, a niece of the Sarvers who enjoys helping with the pumpkins each summer.

Al credits Miracle Grow and cow manure with the success of his pumpkin patch. He also waters on a daily basis if there is no rain.

The Sarvers are very aware of the role pumpkins play in today's health conscious diets.

Pumpkins are an excellent source of vitamin A and if the added fat and sugar are kept low, it is surprisingly low in calories.

The big orange fruit plays an important role in Thanksgiving and, while we are all used to the traditional pumpkin pie dessert, there are many other ways to use pumpkin in our daily diets.

Baked pumpkin halves can be stuffed with meat, rice, or vegetables.

Grate raw pumpkin into your Thanksgiving stuffing or substitute pumpkin in any recipe that calls for winter squash.

The easiest way to cook a pumpkin or winter squash is to halve it, scoop out the seeds and stringy pulp and bake the rest in the rind until tender.

Sprinkle the halves with spice, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, allspice, or mace, and microwave cut side down or warp in plastic until tender, 6 to 7 minutes per pound.

Of course, these suggestions work better with pumpkins smaller than those raised by the Sarvers.

VELVETY PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 baked 10-inch pastry shell
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
3/4 cup brown sugar. packed
1 1/3 cups mashed, cooked pumpkin
2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/4 cup slivered almonds
1/4 cup chopped dates
3 tablespoons crystallized ginger

Bake and cool pastry shell, Soften gelatine in water. Beat egg yolks; add brown sugar, pumpkin, pumpkin pie spice and salt. Mix well, then stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring until it begins to boil Then cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add softened gelatine, stirring until melted. Cool.

Beat until smooth and add almonds, chopped dates, and ginger. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Add the 6 tablespoons of sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time,beating until stiff but not dry. Fold into pumpkin mixture. Chill. Top with whipped cream.

HEART HEALTHY PUMPKIN PIE

1 9-inch baked pie shell
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 Pinch of ground cloves
1 16 ounce can pumpkin puree
1 1/4 cups evaporated skim milk
3 large egg whites

Preheat oven to 350°F

Bake pie crust until lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Remove from oven and let cool to room temperature.

Preheat oven to 450°F.

In a large bowl, beat all filling ingredients until no lumps remain. Pour into pie shell and bake 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325°F and bake 50 minutes until a knife comes out clean.

PUMPKIN TART WITH GINGER MERINGUE

1 pie shell
1 tablespoon currant jelly
2 eggs
3/4 cup cream
1/3 cup sugar
3/4 cup cooked pumpkin puree
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
meringue topping
2 to 3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon crushed candied ginger.

Preheat the oven to 400°.

Brush the pie shell with currant jelly.

Beat together the eggs, cream, and sugar. Beat in the pumpkin and spices. Pour into the prepared shell and bake for 10 minutes. Lower the oven temperature to 350 and bake for 25 to 30 minutes until the filling is set. Chill the pie.

Beat the whites until foamy and add the cream of tartar. Beat until just stiff and beat in the sugar. Beat until stiff peaks form and the whites are shiny. Preheat the oven to 450°.

Cover the chilled pie with the meringue. Be sure to spread the topping over the edges of the pie or it will shrink from the edges while browning. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon crushed candied ginger. Bake for 4 to 5 minutes until the meringue is browned. Cool and serve.

Create Holiday Memories To Last A Lifetime

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

PRESCOTT (Lebanon Co.) — The main purpose of the Create a Holiday Memory program is neither to teach the more than 1,000 participants who attend how to make the most stunning holiday decorations nor to prepare the most elaborate food, although that seems to be a fringe benefit.

Instead, the goal is to give participants ideas for doing things with family and friends to create memories that will last a lifetime.

"This is the place to look at something, get an idea, and adapt it to something else," said a participant at the annual holiday program presented by Lebanon County Penn State Cooperative Extension.

The same workshop presented three days and two evenings last week, was packed with ideas for holiday gifts, food, and making and preserving memories.

Workshop instructors encourage the audience to adapt ideas to use items they already have in their home. Here are some ideas from the sessions.

• Grocery bag ornaments — trace patterns, layer with thin piece of batting, and stitch, trim with pinking shears, embellish with buttons and trims.

• Save small boxes in which food or clothing is packaged. Carefully separate to lay the box flat. Iron on fabric with Wonder-Under and refold the box for use in gift giving.

• Used neck ties can be transformed into a patchwork vest or as a closet deordorizer. Stitch one end of the tie, fill with cedar chips, and hang in closet.

• Strip quilt a jacket by stitching fabric unto an old shirt or sweat shirt.

• Make a snowman by rolling up quilt batting and tie with string to make snowball appearance, tie a scarf around neck, put on a straw hat, and glue on buttons.

• Apple candleholders can be made by turning blossom side up, core, and push candle and greenery into the apple by using floral sticks.

• Place brown paper on table. Allow children to sponge paint it. Or, pre-wrap some packages and then sponge them.

FLORENTINES
(Lace Cookies)

1⅓ cups brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons plus ¼ teaspoon shortening
2 tablespoons cornsyrup
½ cup cake flour
¼ cup water
½ cup cake flour
1 cup ground toasted almonds
1½ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream together sugar, salt, shortening, and cornsyrup. (Do not substitute butter or the cookies will burn). Add ½ cup cake flour and blend well. Add water in two stages and cream thoroughly. Sift the remaining ½ cup flour, blend with the nuts and cinnamon and fold in until smooth.

Mixture may be made ahead of time. Do not refrigerate, mixture will keep several weeks in tight container. Bake right before serving. Put mixture about the size of a penny on lightly greased or paper-lined pans. Allow 2 inches between cookies for spreading.

Bake at 380 degrees until medium dark brown (7 to 10 minutes). Allow the cookies to cool and sandwich them with jam, fudge or chocolate. These cookies are generally striped with a sweet chocolate or may be partially dipped in sweet chocolate. The cookies may also be shaped into hollow shapes by place around a wooden spoon handle to form while warm. Fill with fudge or ganache. Makes 125 cookies.

Ganache:

10-ounces semi-sweet chocolate (melt in water bath)
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons cream

Combine melted chocolate and cream. Fill hollow Florentines by using a parchment paper triangle. Fill it with melted chocolate, cut slice off bottom, and decorate with chocolate lines.

CHRISTMAS MEMORIES

Make an audio tape of your children singing or playing an instrument. "You do not need to be trained to make a musical tradition. Your child will never again be three years old, but will enjoy hearing the tape as they grow older," said Bryce Donley, a musical professor.

POMANDERS

6 to 8 assorted firm, thin-skinned apples, oranges, lemons, and limes.
½ pound whole, large-headed cloves with strong scent
¼ cup ground cinnamon
¼ cup ground cloves
2 tablespoons ground nutmeg
2 tablespoons ground allspice
¼ cup powdered orrisroot
Nut pick or slender knitting needle for piercing fruit (optional)
Ribbon (optional)
Small paintbrush

Hold fruit firmly, without squeezing. Insert the cloves at ⅛ to¼ -inch intervals in rows or at random over the surface; the fruit will shrink as it dries, closing up the spaces. If you have difficulty inserting the cloves, you can pierce the fruit first with the point of a nut pick or knitting needle, but take care to keep the holes small or the cloves will fall out when the fruit dries. If you intend to hange your pomanders from ribbons, leave a 1-inch path around the fruit to provide a channel to keep the ribbon in place.

Blend the spices and orrisroot in a small bowl. One at a time, roll each piece of fruit in the mixture, coating it generously to keep air out. (Any pomander you start should be completed to this point within 24 hours to eliminate the possibility of mold forming).

Place the spice-coated fruit in a large bowl, cover with the spice mixture, and set in a warm dry place to dry. Turn the fruit daily, making sure the spices are evenly distributed. Drying can take from two weeks to a month, depending on the size of the fruit. The pomanders will be hard when they are completely dry.

TEA SANDWICHES

Spread bread cutouts (made with biscuit or cookie cutters) with mayonnaise, sprinkle with celery seed. Add sliced hard-boiled eggs and paper-thin sliced cucumbers. Garnish with paprika and sprigs of parsley.

To a 6-ounce can tuna, add one tablespoon each finely chopped basil and mint. Add enough mayonnaise to bind together. Serve on bread squares (crusts removed and cut into squares) that have been dipped in melted butter and fried or baked until crisp.

EUROPEAN COOKIES
LINZER DOUGH

1½ cups butter
1 cup plus 3 tablespoons sugar
6 ounces ground hazelnuts
⅔ cup yellow cake or bread crumbs
3½ cups cake flour
Pinch cinnamon
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon plus ½ teaspoon baking powder

Cream together butter and sugar. Add hazelnuts and crumbs. Sift together cake flour, cinnamon, and baking powder and add to creamed mixture. Chill dough, roll out to ⅛ -inch thick and cut into shapes. Two cut outs are needed per cookie. One should be a round cookie, the other should be the same size but have a cutout hole in the middle.

Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes until golden brown. Fill bottom cookies with raspberry jam. Dust tops with confectioners' sugar and sandwich bottom to top pie.

Sand rough edges. Wipe clean with a damp cloth. Paint each piece with one coat of Gesso and at least two coats of the red Oxide. Be sure to let each coat of paint dry completely before applying another coat.

Cut sponges in desired shapes. Use the Indigo Blue and Harvest Gold to create colorful designs. Let paint dry completely.

John Enterline arranged this seasonal tablesetting demonstrating the "The Pleasures of Tea." Notice a loaf of bread is used to insert bittersweet, wheat, and strawflowers.

Delicate European cookies are not as difficult to make as they appear if directions by Pastry Chef Brian Peffley are used.

Don't know what to do with old ties? Try making a patchwork vest for yourself or a family member.

Displays by Susie Iezzi and Christenna Stamm show how items you have around your own home can be artfully arranged for the holidays. Notice the pomanders using apples, oranges, lemons, and limes.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The leaves are almost all off of the trees in our meadow and now I can see the Conestoga River again. Lately I've spent some time close to the river as I went fishing two evenings. After picking up corn in the fields and husking it, I had found some big earth worms. So, I found a quiet place and fished for an hour and caught 11 fish by using only two worms. Allen skinned the catfish for me but I scaled the others. The next time that I went only five fish got caught, but they made a nice meal.

Recently, I've gotten several calls asking if I have old pictures of landmarks in my area. It seems that people are interested in times gone by and like to compare now with then.

My mother was raised in the village of Oregon and she had a camera which she used to record many buildings. Some of these like an old rifle factory nearby, where the so-called Kentucky rifle was made, have disappeared long ago. A mill that my great, great grandfather owned has been converted to offices.

At one time Oregon was called "Catfish" as there were many of these fish in the Lititz Creek. The village had cigar factories, a dry-goods store, a hotel, a shoemaker, blacksmith shops, two butcher shops, an undertaker, and a Union Church.

In recent years it has been rejuvenated with a restaurant, various shops and offices. Nothing stays the same—in our homes or in our towns.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 9

The October meeting of Berks, Group 9, Society of Farm Women, was held in the home of Pat Haas, Douglassville. The group is planning to make wind turners as a Christmas craft. The annual Christmas party will be held December third at Stopper's Restaurant The group will be making family activity baskets for the State Convention in January. Elections were held. Joan Hafer will serve as vice president; Winnie Hayik, secretary; and Pat Haas as treasurer.

Berks Society 3

A Halloween party was held for Group 3 of the Berks County Society of Farm Women at the home of Mayetta Shane, Valley Road, Boyertown. Thirteen members attended.

Lillian Bucks, president, conducted the business meeting. The state convention of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania will be held on January 9 in Harrisburg. Group 3 is responsible for five table centerpieces for the convention.

Following the business meeting, members enjoyed playing games and ghost stories were read to the group.

The next meeting will be a craft night at the home of Sonya Moyer, Boyertown, R.D. 4.

"Efficiency Is The Key To Profit"

Consuming Thoughts

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

The first Thanksgiving was a celebration to give thanks for the bountiful harvest. Today, Thanksgiving has become the "pig-out" holiday, where people enjoy overeating. In fact, Thanksgiving heralds in the holiday season of festivities that usually includes over-indulging in many favorite holiday foods that are high in fat and cholesterol. By the time January comes around, many of us find we have wider waistlines and tighter clothes. It doesn't have to be this way. You can come through this holiday season unscathed by using modified recipes and following these suggestions:

• Don't starve yourself before a big dinner. It is too easy to overeat when you are very hungry.

• Start the meal with a clear soup such as chicken or vegetable soup. These relatively low-calorie soups will fill you up so you don't overeat other high calorie foods.

• Take a walk. Walking after a meal can aid digestion and help burn off some of the calories.

• Modify recipes whenever possible. If you must serve creamed dishes, make the sauces without added fat and use evaporated skim milk instead of cream. Try finding alternatives for high fat, high calorie foods. Try reducing the fat or sugar in a recipe. In some recipes, solid shortenings can be replaced by vegetable oil, reducing the amount by 1/4–1/3 of the amount called for in the recipe.

• Plan before you go to a party. Have a cup of soup and a salad just before you go. Try to eat conservative amounts of foods, and drink plenty of water or seltzer.

Don't give up on your old favorite recipes for the holiday! Instead, sit down and adjust them for less sugar, salt, and fat.

The following list can help you with these changes, and the recipes are examples of what can be done in preparation and ingredients.

Instead of:	Use:
Butter, shortening, lard, bacon fat, stick margarine, coconut or palm oil	Canola, corn, sunflower, safflower, or soybean oil; soft tub margarine (use slightly less oil when substituting for a solid fat). Use nonstick cooking spray.
Sour cream	Low-fat yogurt; 1 cup low-fat cottage cheese plus 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1 can evaporated skim plus 1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 ounce square baking chocolate	3 tablespoons cocoa plus 1 tablespoon vegetable oil or margarine
Pistachios, peanuts, filberts	Walnuts
Whole eggs	1 egg white plus 2 teaspoons vegetable oil; decrease number of eggs; or use egg substitute
Whole milk	Skim or low-fat milk
Whole milk yogurt	Low-fat yogurt or non-fat yogurt
Heavy or whipping cream	Evaporated skim milk
Whipped topping	1/4 cup skim milk beat with 1/4 cup ice water, add lemon juice and sugar to taste
Gravy from meat drippings	Heated beef broth and cornstarch. Chill, then skim off fat. Limit the amount used.
Sauces, dressings made from creams, fats, oils	Sauces, dressings made from vinegar, tomato juice, fat-free bouillon, low-fat yogurt.

York Farm Bureau Honors Pat Sueck

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

AIRVILLE, (York Co.) — Rarely does York County farm woman Pat Sueck find herself at a loss for words.

But being named the Distinguished Service Award winner by the York County Farm Bureau recently left this agriculture activist groping for her thoughts.

"I was speechless," she admits, adding, "And I knew I was getting the award. But I was really touched by it."

The award was presented at the group's annual meeting, held in early October. Because she is a member of the county board and rarely misses a meeting, Farm Bureau county board members were unable to keep her selection a secret.

Pat Sueck is a nurse by profession, a farm woman by marriage, and an agriculture leader by her natural ability, outgoing style and dedication to the industry. She and her husband, Elmer, and the seven children they raised, moved to their Airville farm near Muddy Creek Forks in 1969, from suburban Baltimore. Along with their off-farm professions and agriculture leadership, the couple has bred and raised hogs.

Active in numerous agriculture organizations, Pat has served on the county Farm Bureau board and the state and national Farm Bureau women's committees. She is the president of Penn's AgriWomen and a member of the York County Society of Farm Women.

Pat has been a director of the York County Conservation District since 1990 and was recently elected second vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts. The organization promotes the local conservation districts, networks with other state and national conservation, agriculture and environmental groups.

"I especially like the networking with the Department of Environmental Resources. It's a good opportunity for dialogue between conservation and environmental. With conservation districts being the implementers of programs, we can convey a lot of positive grassroots input on how they relate to environmental issues," she says.

Since early 1993, Pat has been serving as the executive director for the Agriculture Awareness Foundation of Pennsylvania, parent organization for the Ag In The Classroom teacher education program. Working out of an office in the Suecks' cozy, woodland home, Pat handles public relations and fund-raising, attends conferences around the region, sets up displays, speaks to groups, and networks with related organizations by phone and FAX to educate the public about food production.

"Our focus is to educate kindergarten through sixth grade, teaching teachers what agriculture and farmers are about, how to integrate agriculture information into their classrooms and the myriad of careers that are available through agriculture. So many people do not realize the impact agriculture has on so many other parts of the economy, the processor, the

Heat Your Home, Farm or Commercial Buildings with Mahoning Outdoor Furnaces

The Mahoning Outdoor Multi-Fuel Furnaces provide thermostat controlled heat by economically burning wood, coal, oil or gas. A furnace is placed 25-100 feet outside the structure to be heated; connections between the furnace and building are buried underground. Wood or Coal is the primary burning fuel lasting 8-12 hours in the furnace.

Now the Mahoning Outdoor Furnace can be equipped with Corning Catalytic Combusters Burn 90-95% of the smoke, increase efficiency 50%, reduce wood use 1/3 Now you can burn wood or wood waste products in an outdoor furnace and also be environmentally friendly No longer does an outdoor furnace have to be a smoke belching nuisance.

"We want to teach that without agriculture, they won't have anything to eat." Pat estimates that more than 8,000 Pennsylvania children, through 121 participating teachers, have been touched with the foundation's agriculture education outreach in the three years of Ag In The Classroom seminars. The 90 teachers who took the 1994 five-day course at Penn State in July, from urban, suburban and rural schools, were so enthused with the program that they raised more than $500 among themselves to fund a scholarship for a teacher to attend next year's seminar.

"I can't praise these teachers enough," smiles Pat. "They give up a week of their own time, get deeply engrossed in the subjects, ask amazing questions and really want to interact with farm families. They are just so enthusiastic."

Twenty-two of the leaders involved with the 1994 Ag In The Classroom program were previous graduates who returned to help teach the sessions. Topics covered a broad range of agriculture commodities, conservation, nutrition, research, agronomy, with lively hands-on activities like making ice cream in a tin can. Farm and processor tours were especially popular, while a resource fair gave teachers the chance to gather materials and information from participating agriculture and agri-business groups.

Foremost goal of the Agriculture Awareness Foundation is the education of educators, giving them background in many facets of agriculture and resources to find information that is factual, rather than that based on emotional appeal.

"Another goal I would like to see reached is the development of a sort of Weekly Reader publication on agriculture for children," Pat says of her wishes for the Foundation's future. "We also hope to put together some guideline information for farmers who host tours for children on their farms, including some emphasis on the myriad of agriculture-related careers.

Bubbling with enthusiasm over the potential for teacher education about agriculture, Pat chuckles that her husband warns people they should not ask her to explain Ag In the Classroom because they will not be able to stop her once she begins talking. That enthusiasm carries over in the fund-raising and promotional presentations she makes to organizations in working to generate financial support for the foundation.

Recently, while visiting with a local organization of community and business leaders, Pat explained the plight of agriculture with a personal example. Because the market price of hogs has dropped well below their cost of production, the Suecks have been dispersing the breeding hog herd they've built over the last two decades. In the middle of her speech, Pat suddenly found tears rolling down her cheeks as she related that decision. Her tears embarrassed Pat. But it vividly pointed out to her listeners just how much Pat Sueck cares about farmers and the agriculture industry and why her peers chose tc

Give Hand Up Instead Of Handout

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — The Lititz Church of the Brethren will host the seventh annual Heifer Project International "Living Gift Fair" November 26 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Held the day after "Black Friday"—the biggest shopping day of the year— the fair provides conscientious Christmas shoppers with an alternative to the materialism of the holiday season.

This year's fair also doubles as a birthday party for HPI, which marks its 50th anniversary in 1994. Free cake and ice cream, compliments of Turkey Hill Dairy, will be served from 12 noon as long as supplies last.

Sponsored by HPI and staffed by an ecumenical group of more than 50 volunteers, the fair enables people to deal with two problems at once—holiday shopping and global hunger.

Shoppers purchase animals or shares of animals in the name of a friend. The friend receives an attractive HPI gift card. A family in need receives the HPI animal that is purchased. Colorfully decorated tables provide information about how the HPI animals benefit poor families in the U.S. and around the world. Shoppers can choose from a variety of HPI animals, ranging from cows, to yaks, to honeybees.

Those wishing to take something home with them can choose from Discovery Toys and farm-related toys. Additional items include homemade baked goods, arts and crafts, HPI souvenirs, and more. Homemade soups and sandwiches will be on sale for lunch.

Special events for children include a Petting Zoo from 10-2, and puppet shows at 10, 11 and 1 by "Mark's Minstrels." The puppeteers from the Ephrata Church of the Brethren will depict the history and work of HPI.

A nonprofit Christian organization that works in partnership with 13 denominations to provide animals and related services, HPI was founded by Church of the Brethren layman Dan Nest, whose dream was to give "not a cup, but a cow"—to provide families with a source of food rather than short-term relief.

Since a heifer named Faith sailed to Puerto Rico in 1944, HPI has supplied more than one million families in 110 countries with food—and income-producing animals, along with training in animal husbandry; ecologically sound, sustainable farming; and community development.

Today HPI provides families in 31 countries with 20 different kinds of animals. A unique feature of HPI is the requirement that recipients "pass on the gift" by sharing an offspring of their gift animal with another needy family.

Last year's Living Gift Fair raised about $12,000. Fairgoers purchased 3 heifers, 5 yaks, 6 sheep, 21 rabbits, 24 packages of honeybees, 34 guinea pigs, hundreds of chicks, ducks, and fish, and more.

Donations of arts and crafts and baked goods will be accepted up to the day of the fair. For more information, contact Dan Fitzkee at (717) 665-5743.

The Lititz Church of the Brethren is located at 300 W. Orange St., in Lititz, directly across from Warwick High School.

When Is Fruit Ready To Eat?

UNIVERSITY PARK, (Centre Co.) — Health-conscious Americans are eating more varieties of fruit than ever before, yet many consumers are at a loss when it comes to determining ripeness.

A typical shopper might buy a bunch of green bananas and store them in a fruit bowl with apples and pears, only to return a few days later to find his bananas softer than a one-minute egg.

"Sometimes, even I can't tell how ripe something is by just looking at it," says Kathleen Evensen, associate professor of postharvest physiology in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "It's best to find what you like and then look for the characteristics of that fruit."

Evensen says the best way to ensure tasty fruit is to know how it ripens. She explains that horticulturists have divided fruit into two categories: climacteric and non-climacteric.

Climacteric fruit (apples, pears, tomatoes, avocados, bananas, peaches, nectarines and other tropical fruit) can ripen after being picked. Climacteric fruit also emits a colorless gas called ethylene, which acts as a ripening agent.

"Ripening apples, pears and bananas can give off a lot of ethylene," Evensen says.

"In an enclosed area like a fruit bowl, mixed fruit can ripen very quickly," she adds. "In fact, if you put a ripe banana in a bag with an apple, the banana will ripen the apple—but the apple will smell like a banana"

Non-climacteric fruit (citrus fruits, grapes, strawberries and small berries) is ripe when picked and does not give off ethylene unless the fruit is infected by a fungus. Evensen says these fruits do not improve with age. "You buy them, you refrigerate them and then you eat them," Evensen says. "For instance, strawberries should be refrigerated immediately, even if the berries have some white on top. They are never going to get any riper."

Evensen warns that ripening varies with each type of fruit and even within the same species. However, you can ripen most fruit by remembering just a few guidelines.

For example, bananas are picked green and shipped to U.S. ports where they are treated with ethylene for about 24 hours. Stored at a warmer temperature than other fruit, the bananas will continue to ripen during shipment, in the store and in your home.

"Refrigeration slows down ripening in bananas, but the cold temperature makes bananas, a tropical fruit, turn black and go soft," Evensen says.

Tomatoes are also picked green and treated with ethylene for 24 hours so they ripen during shipping. Evensen does not recommend refrigerating tomatoes. If tomatoes still show some green, leave them out to ripen.

In many cases, refrigeration will stop the production of ethylene in apples and some pears, giving these fruits a longer shelf life once they're purchased.

Apples are picked at what growers call "optimum maturity," just before they start to ripen. The fruit is then stored at low temperatures and with low levels of oxygen and carbon dioxide (called "controlled atmosphere") to retard ripening. "Apples can be kept by growers for 12 to 14 months in controlled atmosphere storage," Evensen says.

"If you buy something that's not as ripe as you would like, just leave it out for a while and then refrigerate it," Evensen says.

"Growers are producing fruit that is firmer, in order to stand up to shipping, so it's harder for consumers to really tell if it has reached the right ripeness," Evensen says.

Non-climacteric fruit such as oranges, lemons, grapefruit and limes can be treated with ethylene as well, but the gas only makes the fruit's rind turn from green to a color consumers are familiar with. "That's called de-greening, but that doesn't affect the taste of the fruit. It will taste the same the moment you pick it from the tree as it will after you've bought it in a store a week later," Evensen says.

Another indicator of ripeness is what fruit experts call "ground color," Evensen explains. Ground color is the level of green color still in the fruit. Simply put, the less green you see, the riper the fruit. For example, a Golden Delicious apple can be quite green in a store bin, losing that color over time until it turns yellow. The trick, Evensen says, is to find out what stage of ripeness suits your taste.

The taste of some climacteric fruits, such as melons, do not improve much after harvest, because they get most of their flavor from the plant's vine. For cantaloupes, shoppers can smell the fruit or look at ground color beneath the rough exterior of the melon. "If it doesn't smell like a cantaloupe, it's not ripe," she says.

Kiwis also can show ripeness through ground color. "You can see green beneath all that fuzzy stuff," Evensen assures.

Watermelon ripeness is harder to determine, Evensen says. "The best method is to knock on them. They're supposed to sound kind of hollow."

Folk wisdom about ripening fruit, like sticking a nail into the bottom of a pear or apple, is largely baseless. "If you puncture fruit it will produce ethylene, but who would want to eat it after a nail has been in it," she said.

Still, Evensen says that one bad apple really does spoil the whole bunch. "A rotten apple will overripen the fruit near it and pass on any disease to its neighbors," she said.

Christmas In Lititz House Tour

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — The tenth annual Tour of Homes features eight of Lititz's finest homes, a church, an historical educational building, and a conservancy and museum in the greater Lititz area. The Christmas In Little House Tour is Saturday, December 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The homes offer an interesting range of styles, size, and age. Included are an elegant Virginia Tidewater style, a lovely Georgian, a unique Victorian, an idyllic country bed and breakfast, an historic "oldie" Pennsylvania Field Stone, and more. From traditional to contemporary, the tour offers something for every one.

Tickets may be purchased in advance for $5, $6 the day of the tour. Bus tickets may be purchased for $8 advance by December 1, 1994. The bus departs from St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 12:00 noon and returns at approx. 4:15 p.m. The church is located at 200 W. Orange St.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Cedar Crest FFA Attends Leadership Training

Seventeen members of the Cedar Crest FFA recently attended an FFA Leadership Training Conference at the Northern Lebanon High School. The purpose of the event was to familiarize FFA officers and members with their duties and responsibilities as chapter officers. The conference also included sessions on developing leadership skills.

The group was greeted by Darla Herr, Lebanon County FFA president. Theresa Inhof, state FFA vice president, eastern region, and Marci Harnish, state FFA vice president, gave inspirational speeches on "Unlocking Your Keys to Success."

First year FFA members from Lebanon and Schuykill counties competed in a quiz contest. Participants had to answer questions about the FFA. Heather Koch, Joe Perry, and Crystal Stevenson competed for Cedar Crest. A cafeteria meal was then served to everyone.

After dinner, the FFA'ers were divided into three groups. The groups were as follows: official dress and etiquette, supervised agricultural experience, and what does the FFA have to offer. While in the group, members learned to improve both their chapter and themselves.

Other members from Cedar Crest who attended were Charlie Aurentz, Heather Orner, Jacob Frazier, Jon Harnish, Mike Hostetter, Stacy Krall, Andy Martin, Jamie Risser, Keith Wartluft, Shawn Weaver, Jeff Zimmerman, Bill Smeltzer, Mindy Hostetter, and Sean Weaver.

The results of the quiz contest were as follows: 1. Ryan Spatz, Northern Lebanon; 2. Heather Koch, Cedar Crest; 3. Andrea Bashore, Northern Lebanon; 4. Crystal Stevenson, Cedar Crest; 5. Justin Van Fleet, Northern Lebanon; 6. Todd Getz, Elco; 7. Kim Getz, Annville-Cleona; 8. Brooke Stehr, Tri-Valley; 9. Joseph Perry, Cedar Crest; 10. Danielle Mays, Elco; and 11. Elizabeth Ericson, Elco.

Joy Crothers Joins PDPP Commodity Marketing Board

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.,) — With the reorganization of the 1994-95 Commodity Marketing Board, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program welcomed Joy Crothers to the board.

Raised on a dairy farm in western Pennsylvania, where her brother and parents still farm, Crothers has an extensive dairy background and quite an active one, too. A Bachelor of Science in home economics education from Penn State University and a Master's degree in dairy science extension education from Louisiana State University round out Crothers' education. She is also a former Pennsylvania dairy princess.

While living in Maryland, Crothers worked with the Maryland Cooperative extension service, Dairy 4-H Youth program, and the Maryland Dairy Princess Program.

Crothers and her husband, Tom, now live on a small, family-operated dairy farm in Chester County. The Crotherses milk 45 Holsteins and 12 Brown Swiss.

Among Crothers' many activities, she also sits on the board of directors for the Dairy Council, Inc., Southampton, as a representative for independent dairy producers. Crothers serves as the co-chairperson for the Chester County Promotion Committee and works with the Chester County Dairy Princess Program.

Crothers' involvement in so many aspects of dairy promotion should serve her well as she seeks to fulfill her personal goal as board member of the PDPP Commodity Marketing Board. Her priority is to work toward a unified, efficient use of dairymen's dollars. A strong supporter of the school breakfast program, Crothers sees this as another opportunity for the dairy farmer to better his market position by increasing school dairy consumption and in turn receiving a higher price for milk.

Crothers is quick to applaud Dairy Management, Inc. for taking a great step forward on behalf of dairy producers. Such steps, according to Crothers, should be carried through to all levels of dairy promotion. Crothers will join the other 20 members of the Commodity Marketing Board in directing the activities of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program.

Childhood Illness Workshop Planned

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — "Recognizing and Dealing with Childhood Illnesses" is the topic of a workshop planned for child care providers. It will be held on Thursday, November 17, at the Wysox Presbyterian Church Hall from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m with registration beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Penn State Cooperative Extension of Bradford County is sponsor of the training. Registered child care providers who attend will receive two hours credit toward required in-service training hours.

Child care providers who participate in the training will be able to:

- identify the difference between infectious and contagious diseases;
- recognize signs of sickness or illness in children;
- plan an environment that will prevent the spread of infectious diseases; and
- recognize symptoms of specific childhood illnesses and appropriate treatment for these illnesses.

There is no fee for child care providers to attend the workshop. However, reservations are required. To make a reservation, contact the Extension Office at 701 South Fourth Street, Towanda, PA 18848, phone (717) 265-2896.

4-H Happenings

York County 4-H Capon Roundup

The York County Capon Club held its annual roundup and sale at Rentzel's Auction Barn on October 20. The judge for the event was Herb Jordan, retired poultry specialist from Penn State University.

Twenty capons and one turkey were exhibited for evaluation. Four of the capons were exhibited by Cloverbuds. Cloverbuds is a relatively new area for 4-H in which youngsters seven years old may participate, but are not in competition with regular 4-H members.

Taking home champion honors with her capon was Shanna Daugherty of York. Glen Rock State Bank purchased the champion for $19 per pound. Reserve champion went to Jessica Klock of York. The reserve champion sold to the Ray Hoover Family for $18 per pound. Average prices with the champions was $9.20 per pound and without champions $7.30.

If you are interested in purchasing a dressed capon from a 4-H member, additional information may be obtained from the Penn State Cooperative Extension office at (717) 757-9657.

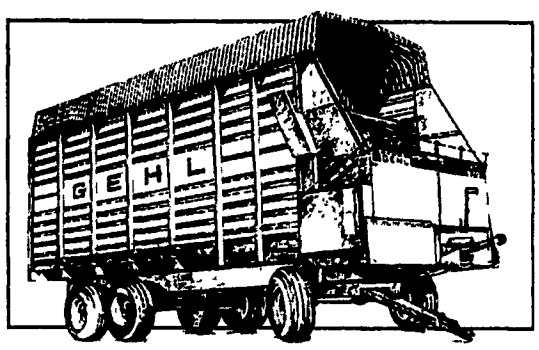
GEHL®

NORTH AMERICA'S
#1 FORAGE BOX



Gehl makes the best selling forage box in North America Here's why

- Five sizes deliver the capacity to match your forage harvesting operation
- 10-Year Warranty against rust through on sides, endgate, stakes and roof
- Wide 23-1/2 inch cross conveyor extends nine inches beyond the box side, for easy positioning to the blower
- Even-Feed third beater has extended tines to break up clumps for smooth crop delivery to the cross conveyor
- Four-speed drive system features #50 roller chain for added durability
- Heavy-duty Gehl running gears match the capacity of Gehl forage boxes

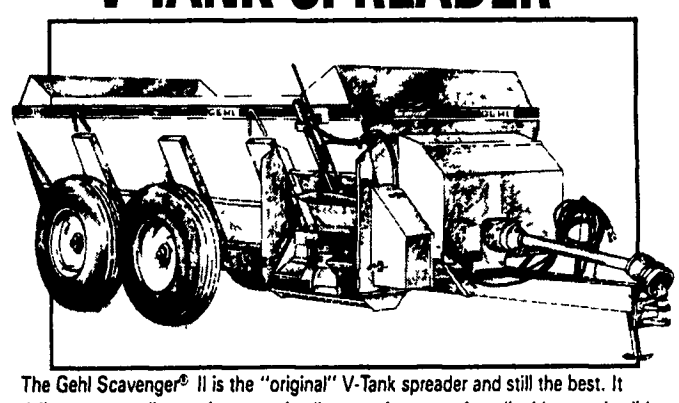
V-TANK SPREADER



The Gehl Scavenger® II is the "original" V-Tank spreader and still the best. It delivers outstanding performance in all types of manure, from liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure.

- Patented square-tube auger – Hydraulically powers up and down to break up solid material.
- Variflo discharge – Spreads smoothly and evenly for complete application control.
- Five models – From 192 to 596 bushel heaped capacities to match your operation.
- 10-Year warranty – Against rust-through on the tank for peace of mind.
- Options include – Truck-mounted units and hydraulic lids.

4-H HAPPENINGS

UNIVERSITY PARK, (Centre Co.) — With an estimated 200 million firearms in homes in the United States, it's more important than ever to teach young people about gun safety, says Earle Robbins, Tioga County extension agent and state shooting sports coordinator for Penn State Cooperative Extension.

"Many shooting deaths are accidental," Robbins said recently. "Teaching youth about gun and archery safety can save lives. This is the primary emphasis in all 4-H shooting sports programs."

About 100,000 youth in 33 states are enrolled in 4-H archery, air pistol, air rifle, .22 rifle, black powder rifle and shotgun sports. In Pennsylvania, about 1,715 boys and 496 girls participate in 4-H shooting activities.

Robbins works with 4-H'ers ages 8 through 19 in the shooting sports program. He also is a Pennsylvania Game Commission hunter-trapper education instructor and a National Rifle Association training counselor, certifying instructors in shooting sports.

"Youngsters in the program learn to always be aware of people around them when they're shooting and to treat every gun as though it is loaded," Robbins said. "They learn to always point guns and archery equipment in a safe direction and to be sure of their targets and backstops before releasing the arrow or pulling the trigger."

By striving to improve their marksmanship, participants also get experience in establishing goals and working toward them. They learn that practicing is the only way to excel. "You have to practice keeping track of five or six things at once when you're shooting," said Robbins. "It takes a tremendous amount of self-discipline."

Developing good sportsmanship is part of the experience too. "When you're developing a new skill or competing in matches, you have good days and bad days," Robbins said. "When kids learn that, they can keep things in perspective. They can apply this insight to other areas of their lives."

In addition, participants learn about wildlife habitats and natural resource conservation. "Some of our 4-H'ers get involved in hunting, so we emphasize ethical hunting practices and respect for nature," said Robbins.

4-H'ers in the shooting sports program also can participate in county, regional and state competitions. After graduating from the program, they can become one of the nation's 10,000 adult volunteer 4-H instructors.

4-H in Pennsylvania is coordinated by Penn State Cooperative Extension through the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is open to all youths between the ages of 8 and 19, regardless of race, color, religion, sex, national origin or disability. If you are interested in enrolling your child in 4-H, or becoming an adult 4-H volunteer, contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

4-H Horse Program Offers Equine Educational Exhibits

For a second year, the Pennsylvania 4-H Horse Show in Harrisburg provided an opportunity for 4-H youth to exhibit acquired horsemanship skills through equine educational exhibits.

Each county was invited to enter one educational exhibit to be put on display throughout the horse show for exhibitors and spectators to view. This year, exhibit themes ranged from fire safety around the barn to different types of horse shoes.

Judging the exhibits this year. was Dr. Stan Curtis, department head, dairy and animal science, Penn State.

Westmoreland County won the overall grand champion award and was presented a perpetual trophy donated by Hoy's Awards and Trophies of Export. The overall reserve champion was Berks County. Receiving third place overall was Franklin County. All three counties received a permanent plaque and ribbons.

The following counties won a blue ribbon in their district for their exhibit: District 1, Berks County; District 5, Clinton County; District 6, Franklin County; District 7, Blair County; District 8, Elk County; District 9, Mercer County; and District 10, Westmoreland County.

All counties are encouraged to participate in the Equine Educational Exhibit Contest during the 1995 State 4-H Horse show next October. For more information regarding this educational contest, contact Beth Lair, (412) 662-3141 or your county extension office.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Maryland State FFA Convention

The 66th Annual Maryland State FFA Convention was held in June at the Ramada Inn in Hagerstown, Md.

More than 300 FFA members and guests participated in convention activities, including delegate sessions, committee meetings, leadership contests, and chapter competitions.

The convention activities were directed by the 1993-1994 State FFA Officer Team.

Special activities of the convention included presentations by the National FFA vice president, Steven Mitchell, and the retiring addresses of the state officers. Other activities included the record book awards program sponsored by Maryland Farm Bureau and the American Royal Ambassador Scholarship Program sponsored by the Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore.

Recognition of individual FFA members included state agriculture degree recipients Brian Spielman and Heather Cronice of Boonsboro; Matthew Ernst and Chuck Munday of Clear Spring;

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for the answers.

"You Ask — You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask — You Answer, Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522.

QUESTION — A reader from Manheim would like to know where to purchase a blackboard that is about 3x2-feet.

QUESTION — Henry F. Stoltzfus, 24 Queen Rd., Gordonville, Pa. 17529, would like to know where he can buy paw paw fruit, seeds and seedling trees.

QUESTION — Nelson Austin, Shinglehouse, has black walnut trees, but he cannot get the nuts to dry without them molding. What must he do to dry them and remove the green shucks?

QUESTION — Harriet Brown, Mifflintown, would like the address of the Echo Prestiege Stainless Cookware. The cookware was demonstrated in the home by preparing a dinner with it. The hostess invited friends and neighbors to the demonstration and to enjoy the dinner. She needs the address.

QUESTION — A Lehighton reader writes that she has a poinsettia plant with some problems. After it bloomed, she cut it back and new green leaves appeared, but now some of the leaves turned yellow and are falling off. Some leaves have white on them that look like mold. Is there an organic way to solve this problem?

QUESTION — Bob of Bob's Radiator Repair in Woodstown, N.J., writes that his daughter is collecting wood items called Woody Woodpecker. She has a few pieces such as a knife holder, canister set, and wax paper holder. She would like to know how many pieces are in the whole set and what each piece is named.

QUESTION — Stanley Siedlecki, Jarrettsville, Md., writes that his woodburning stove emits a strong wood burning smell during humid days and nights. The flue has been cleaned. Is there something that can be done to prevent this odor or condition?

QUESTION — E. Otis Dyer, Rehoboth, Mass., would like to know the name of the company in Pennsylvania, the address, and if the company is still in business — the one that makes a farm fence kit consisting of two channel irons and hinges. The farmer supplies the wooden cross piece measuring 2x8-inches and barbwire strands.

21ST CENTURY TECHNOLOGY TODAY

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

Dusty True, J.R. Barnes, Robbie Shriver, and Samantha Iliff of Flintstone; Laah Broadwater of Oakland; and Greg Winter of Smithsburg. Also recognized: Hope Burrier, Sabrina Butler, and Joann Hagelin of Frederick High; Chris Crum and Christine Daley of Walkersville; Tracy Clagett of South Carroll; Amy Webber, Brunswick; and Jennifer Dorsey Catoctin and Richard O'Hara of Linganore.

State Proficiency Award winners were Seth Burrier, Frederick High (diversified livestock), Tracy Clagett of South Carrol High (beef production), and Mark Spurrier, Linganore High (fish and wildlife management) and American FFA Degree candidates were Robert Dinsmore of Brunswick High, Seth Burrier of Frederick High, and Jeremey Peterson of Walkersville High, as well as honorary Agriculturist Degree recipients Elaine Bailey, Gene Bollinger, Katrina Bradshaws, Joseph Free, R. Douglas Hering, Mr. & Mrs. William Hubble, Judy Loars, Richard McCrobie, Dr. Merl Miller, and Cathy M. Schwab.

Three special VIP awards were presented to recognize outstanding contributions to the Maryland FFA Association. The Blue and Gold Award was given during the banquet session to Susan Summers. The Distinguished Service Award was also presented during the banquet session to Central Maryland Farm Credit. The award was accepted by Ron Byrd president.

Roy S. Walls received the Maryland FFA's first ever MVP Award. Walls, a past Blue and Gold Award winner and honorary state and American FFA degree recipient, continues to provide distinguished leadership to and support of countless FFA activities.

The Maryland FFA Foundation, Inc. gave special recognition to the sponsors of FFA activities during the third convention session. The Eastern Equipment Dealers Association was selected to receive the (outstanding Sponsor Award. According to Dr. Boyd Robinson, Jr., chairman of the foundation board of trustees, "The FFA Foundation had a banner year in solicitations for support of Maryland FFA activities."

During the session, 28 contest sponsors and 17 convention sponsors were recognized.

Robinson noted that "the generosity of Maryland's agricultural industry and agricultural organizations in providing financial support for the sponsorship of the various FFA contests is genuinely appreciated by FFA members across the State."

The American Royal Ambassador contest has been one of the highlights of the annual state FFA convention in the past. This year that contest included both male and female contestants who ware interviewed and winners were announced during the American Royal Ambassador Dance that evening. This year's American Royal Ambassador candidates who will represent Maryland at Kansas City in the American Royal Ambassador Contest are Monica Harshman of the Linganore FFA Chapter and Scott Page of the Frederick FFA Chapter. As state winners they will each receive a $500 scholarship from the Farm Credit Bank.

Candidates for the 1994-1995 state FFA officers were interviewed and installed during the awards banquet by the outgoing team.

Members of the 1994-95 State FFA Officer Team are: state president, Tracy K. Clagett; vice president, Christine Anne Marie Daley; state treasurer, Richard A. O'Hara; state sentinel, Carrie Eleen Kurtz; state secretary, Samantha Lynn Iliff; state reporter, Hope S. Butler.

American FFA Degree

Rhick Johnson, son of Mr. & Mrs. Jerry Johnson of R.R. 2, Middlebury Center, is one of 37 from Pennsylvania to be awarded the American FFA Degree.

Rhick lives with his wife, Monica, and their two daughters on the family farmstead near Shortsville.

The degrees will be presented at the 67th National Convention in Kansas City, Mo. in early November.

Rhick, a 1991 graduate of Cowanesque Valley High School, is the fifth Cowanesque FFA member to earn the highest degree in the FFA organization. Others to have earned the degree from Cowanesque were Steve Ackley, Yvonne Doan Zerby, Deborah Palmer Kibbe, and John Painter II.

Rhick's supervised agricultural program involved sheep, swine, and beef breeding enterprises, along with beef and swine finishing. Along the way, Rhick and his father purchased performance-tested sires to use in the beef and sheep breeding programs.

During his senior year in high school, Rhick began working at the Exxon Station in Westfield. Upon graduation, he worked with Rosenbloom's Furniture of Westfield in the installation of floor covering. Later on, employment was with Cornell Brothers Agway of Middlebury Center. All the while, Rhick continued his livestock enterprises and helped out on the family farm.

During high school, Rhick was involved in various county FFA skills contests, including dairy, livestock, land, and forestry judging, record-keeping, and creed speaking. He entered the state livestock contest in 1990, placed third in the state, and was a member of the team representing Pennsylvania at the national contest. His 1990 recordbook earned a state award and was the county winner of the Northeastern Farm Credit Award. The state degree was awarded to Rhick in 1991, the same time he received a silver award for the state sheep proficiency. The Lynn Doan Outstanding Senior Agricultural Memorial was awarded to Rhick at graduation.

Rhick has assisted his local chapter in their BOAC program, the Food For America program, the Tioga County Conservation Tree Sales, and the chapter's annual citrus sales. Since graduation, he and his family have hosted the county FFA livestock judging contest, assisted at the Tioga County Fair, and the Junior Livestock Sale. Rhick has served as a junior director to the Tioga County Sheep and Wool Growers.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, would like the complete address for the Schrader Co. that makes automotive tire repair accessories. He needs parts for #5235 valve vulcanizing tool.

ANSWER — Mrs. Alvin Hoover, Lewisburg, wanted to know where Danskin tights can be purchased. In addition to the York location listed last week, there is a Danskin Factory Outlet at 350 N. Park Rd., Wyomissing, PA 19606 or phone (610) 374-6231. And, one at Danskin Round the Clock Hosiery, 801 Hill Avenue, Reading, PA 19606 or phone (610) 372-6051. Thanks to Pat Fogel, West Chester; Lou Ann Snoke, Reading, and Anita Moyer, Bernville, for sending there addresses and phone numbers.

ANSWER — Shirley Bray, Manchester, wanted to know why all products are required to print "Reg. Penna. Dept. Agr." on their label even if it isn't produced in Pennsylvania. Thanks to LeRoy Corbin, director of Bureau of Food Safety in the Pa. Dept. of Ag, who sent the following fax.

"That question is asked with good timing because there has been a recent change in the registration process due to a recently-enacted Food Safety Law.

The state Bakery Law of 1933 required bakery products to include potato chips and pretzels to come from licensed bakeries. The law was designed to assure consumers that the establishments received food safety inspections. If a producer wanted to sell bakery products in Pennsylvania, no matter where they were located, they had to purchase a license and display the "Reg. Penna. Dept. Agr." statement on their packaging. For efficiency, they usually had the statement printed on all of their packaging, wherever it was sold. That's why we see bakery products in other states, and even other countries, carrying this statement."

Act 70 of 1994 repealed the Bakery Law, but the new Act has provisions allowing food establishments to use 'Reg. Penna. Dept. Agri.' on their products. The statement is now limited to products produced in Pennsylvania, but has been expanded from bakery products to now include all food products. There is a $35 fee to be registered with the Department. This fee is the same as the previous bakery license fee.

You still may see products from other states and countries with the registration statement on their packaging. That's because they have been given until January 1996 to exhaust their supply of labels. You should also begin to see more of these statements on packaging since registration is available for a wider range of products that are produced in Pennsylvania. It's your assurance that the products come from food establishments that are routinely inspected and in compliance with state food safety laws."

TED MAURER'S ANNUAL FALL AUTOMOBILIA AUCTION

10 A.M. Saturday, November 19, 1994

Ridge Fire Co. Pavilion

Along Rt. 23, between Phoenixville, PA and Rt. 100, we are on the road that goes from Valley Forge to the Dutch Country in Lancaster Co.

We will be selling a huge collection (one half ton), which represents a 20-yr effort to satisfy a hunger for auto history. Sales literature of all kinds, both pre- and postwar factory photos, gas station signs & collectibles, automotive toys, and auto related advertising ephemera. The auction will begin with the usual hard stuff: fenders, bumpers, trim, starters, generators, plugs, etc. After a couple of hours of that, we will proceed to the advertising and paper goods. Sales literature will run from the Thirties to case lots of Seventies showroom brochures. Ford Tractor and Farm literature is included. Some Corvette showroom prints and posters. 1963½ Ford Galaxie 500 XL H.T., 1973 M.G. Midget Conv.

Plan for a long day, plenty to sell.

A 10% buyer's premium will be charged. Exhibition Friday night, 7-9, Saturday from 8 A.M.

MANAGEMENT SCIENCE FOR POULTRY DECISIONS

Dr. William B. Roush
Associate Professor
Poultry Science

Traditionally, poultry management has dealt primarily with the husbandry aspects of raising poultry. Optimal decision making approaches, another aspect of management, have been made more available to poultry managers through the development of computers and software.

The discipline associated with optimal decision making is management science. Why haven't we heard of management science applications to poultry decisions?

Twenty to thirty years ago, the amount of investment in the poultry industry was generally not very large. For example, a one percent improvement in a $10,000 business would yield only about $100. Now companies involved in the poultry industry have sales in the millions and billions of dollars. A small percent improvement in a million (or billion) dollar business can result in savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Management science is also known as operations research and systems analysis. Management science is commonly used by Fortune 500 companies to make tactical and strategic business decisions.

Specifically, management science is concerned with providing decision makers a scientific approach to the analysis of problems and identification of solutions to those problems. Poultry management problems are generally very complex, involving a number of alternatives and a number of uncertainties. Particularly unique to animal management is the variability associated with biological responses which must be considered in the decision-making process.

The management scientist approaches complexity and variability by structuring the problems with quantitative models. The modelling of the variables is fundamental to management science.

This represents the question to be asked and is crucial to obtaining an effective answer. This may seem self-evident, but defining the question is sometimes the most elusive part of the decision-making process. From the model, one or more solutions are generated which become candidates for the solution of the original problem. How effective these solutions are depends on the ability of the model to capture the important features of the problem. Ultimately the decision maker makes the final decision judgment based on his or her ability to manage risk and uncertainty.

There are many decision tools for management science. The decision tool familiar to most poultry managers is linear programming for least-cost feed formulation. There are many other tools available in the Management Science "toolbox" which may have application to poultry optimization problems.

These tools include decision analysis, scheduling techniques, transportation algorithms, waiting line analysis, inventory control, and dynamic programming, to name a few. Some applications of decision tools to poultry problems made by researchers at Penn State University have been mentioned in previous columns. These successful applications include decision analysis for caged laying hens (June 5, 1993) and stochastic nonlinear programming for feed formulation (November 14, 1992 and November 20, 1993).

Opportunities for making optimal decisions in poultry management abound in such areas as processing facilities, control of animal environments, transportation of feed and products, nutritional database, quality control in feed mills, etc.

Management science is a discipline that offers the poultry manager an approach to solving these complex problems.

USDA Approves Additional EEP Allocation For Pork Sales To Russia

DES MOINES, Iowa — U.S. Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy announced an additional 20,000 metric ton allocation under the Export Enhancement Program (EEP) of U.S. pork for various republics of the former Soviet Union.

The National Pork Producers Council (NPCC) has been working closely in recent weeks with pork industry supporters in the Congress and the U.S. Department of Agriculture to secure this additional EEP allocation.

"We are extremely pleased that Secretary Espy has announced the approval of the additional 20,000 metric ton allocation under the Export Enhancement Program," said NPPC President Glen Keppy, a pork producer from Davenport, Iowa. "Given the low market hog prices which producers are currently experiencing, this EEP allocation is especially critical to our industry."

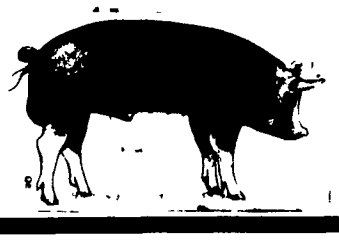
The EEP is expected to result in an increase in value of approximately $1.38 per head in the fourth quarter of 1994. The 20,000 metric tons is equal to 44 million pounds of pork. It represents more than 220,000 head of live hogs, which is equivalent to every hog going to market in Iowa and southern Minnesota for two full days. It takes little more than 2.9 million bushels of corn to feed the number of hogs represented in the allocation.

Rep. Tim Johnson (D-SD) and Sen. Bob Kerrey (D-NE), along with approximately 60 other members of Congress, recently wrote to Secretary Espy requesting the additional U.S. pork EEP allocation. NPPC representatives met with Secretary Espy to discuss the need for an additional EEP allocation in response to the recent 22-year low in market hog prices.

"U.S. pork producers appreciate the leadership of the members of Congress who wrote to Secretary Espy and called the White House to press for this additional pork EEP," Keppy said. "It will help level the playing field for U.S. pork products against foreign competitors who receive export subsidies and fill a need in Russia where there is an extremely high commercial interest in additional EEP sales."

Last year, NPPC worked to secure an initial EEP allocation of 20,000 metric tons of U.S. pork for the former Soviet Union. That allocation was approved in January of 1994 and sales were completed last month.

In 1993, Russia was the fourth largest importer of U.S. pork in volume and value of sales, according to USDA. Russia purchased 16,895 metric tons of U.S. pork, valued at more than $26 million.



Farm Link Program Holds Regional Workshop For Beginning Farmers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Hoping to reverse the decline in family in Western Pennsylvania and in turn contribute to the revitalization of our rural communities, the Pennsylvania Farm Link program is sponsoring a beginning and retiring farmer workshop at the Armstrong County extension office, in Kittanning, on Dec. 9.

According to Farm Link Coordinator Marion Bowlan, "The number of farms in Pennsylvania has declined by 55 percent since 1960. Half of our farmers have to work off the farm to make ends meet and over 65 percent of our farms gross less than $40,000 annually." She says these adverse economic conditions have caused people to leave the farm sector, some involuntarily.

USDA economic research indicates that as much as 25 percent of the recent decline in farm numbers is primarily due to reduced farm entry. Just as adverse economic conditions in farming caused people to leave the sector, they also discouraged new people from entering farming.

Bowlan said the future of Pennsylvania agriculture depends on young people being able to enter farming. Because it is a capital-intensive business, many young people do not have the economic resources needed to start — up a farm. At the same time, many older farmers are finding it difficult to phase out of farming and maintain adequate resources for retirement.

Pennsylvania Farm Link brings together experienced farmers nearing retirement, or other interested landholders, with beginning farmers looking to operate their own farm. Hoping to help beginning farmers realize their dream of obtaining their own farm, Bowlan said the program "needs farmers nearing retirement and landholders who would like to leave a living legacy—a working farm family—on their land."

The regional beginning farmer workshop will address farm transfer issues, estate planning, business planning, farm loan resources, marketing ideas, start-up strategies, and goal setting. Participating agencies and individuals include Pennsylvania Farm Link, Armstrong County Cooperative Extension, Pennwest Farm Credit, Armstrong County Farmers Home Administration, and a panel of local farmers.

Individuals from the western region of Pennsylvania who would like to enter farming or farmers considering retirement are invited to attend this workshop, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Lunch will be on your own. The Armstrong County Extension Office is located on Route 85, two miles east of Kittaning. Please contact the Farm Link program at (1-800)9PA-FARM to make reservations.

Hesston 1160 Mower Conditioner

When you're doing high-capacity haying, our Hesston 1160 Hydro Swing Mower Conditioner gets right down to business.

We built it with a center-pivot design that gives you all the benefits of a self-propelled—without the extra expense. And it's made for consistent, even cutting.

Once you've entered your fields, the 1160's fully engaged 110" conditioner goes to work for fast drying and even, well-conditioned windrows. You can even adjust the forming shields to produce everything from a swath to Hesston's unique fluffy windrow. Whatever the crop conditions, the 1160 tailors itself so you can harvest the highest quality hay and save lots of time in the process.

See your AGCO/Hesston dealer listed here and ask about our flexible financing plans on the 1160. Or on our wide selection of other equipment, all backed by the AGCO Warranty Program.

Pleasure Horse Seminar Set

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The program for the Maryland Pleasure Horse Seminar has been announced by the Carroll County Cooperative Extension Service.

Participants have the opportunity to choose three different seminars from nine offered. Dr. Thomas Fretz, dean, College of Agriculture, University of Maryland, is the keynote speaker. He will discuss his "Visions for the College of Agriculture and Impacts on the Maryland Horse Industry."

The Maryland Pleasure Horse Seminar will be Saturday, December 3, at South Carroll High School, Route 26. Many exhibitors will be on hand to "show and tell" about products and services available to horse owners. The program desk and exhibits areas will open at 8:30 a.m. with seminars beginning at 9:15 a.m. and ending at 3 p.m.

Seminar choices offer a variety of topics, including Dr. James Lewis, practicing veterinarian, alternative therapies, acupuncture, chiropractic and homeopathy and Dr. Martin Furr, Md.- Va. Regional College of Veterinary Medicine, equine disease update and general health plan.

Two nutrition topics will be presented by Dr. Tim Potter, University of Connecticut, nutrition for performance horses and nutrition-forage first, then the grain. Of course a key component in any feeding program is hay. Dr. Les Vough, University of Maryland, will have hay samples to support his discussion on tips for buying and Selecting hay.

Mary Harcourt, co-author of a book on horse barns, will discuss specific needs for the design and use of horse barns - large and small. Tom Miller, regional agronomist, University of Maryland, will answer the question is TS the next challenge for horse owners? A financial management for horse operations session will offer guidance for developing, organizing, and presenting financial records when requesting credit.

Advanced registration is requested. Cost for the day, including seminars, lunch and materials, is only $15 per person. In addition, day-care is available for children ages one to eight for a small fee. To assure your place at the seminar, register by contacting the Carroll County Extension Office at (410) 848-4611.

Cash Picks Junior Angus Winners At State Fair Of Va.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Junior Angus breeders from throughout the state exhibited 38 head of Angus heifers at the State Fair of Virginia Junior Show in Richmond. Erskine Cash, University Park, Pa., judged the show.

In the owned heifer show, Jason Michael of Mt. Solon, Va., exhibited the grand champion female that first won the senior heifer calf division. She is named B&J Lady Chelsea and is an October 1993 daughter of Leachman Tonto.

Skyway Hills Rose 6807 was named reserve grand champion owned female after topping the junior heifer calf division. She is a January 1994 daughter of D H D Traveler 6807 and is owned by Justin Updike of Washington, Va.

In the bred-and-owned heifer show, Darren Eversole of Blacksburg, Va., exhibited the grand champion. She is named D M E Eulima Lady C2 and is a July 1993 daughter of Smithcrest Rito 1Z85.

The reserve grand champion bred-and-owned heifer was Tontos Black Jasmine owned by Linda Harris of Roanoke, Va. The May 1993 daughter of Leachman Tonto first won the reserve intermediate honor.

Horse Council To Sponsor Expo

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Many people who are interested in someday owning a horse don't know where to go for the horse sense. Taking lessons, attending hands-on clinics, and meeting other horse owners would help if the maverick knew where to start.

The Department of Agriculture's Extension Service or livestock columns in newspapers will probably know if there is a local (volunteer) horse council.

In eastern Pennsylvania, the oldest horse council in the state, the Lehigh Valley Horse Council (LVHC), was formed for the purpose of keeping local non professional horse owners up to date on various equine-related issues.

On November 19, the LVHC will sponsor its third annual Expo and Trade Fair at the Days Inn Conference Center at Routes 22 and 309. The program will consist of four professional lectures complemented by many trade and vendor displays. The registration fee at the door will be $25.

This year, the first speaker will be Sue M. McDonnell, Ph.D. She will discuss equine behavior. Her work has received international recognition. She holds an honorary doctorate and gold medal from the University of Krakow for her work with horses in Eastern Europe. She is on the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School, as head of the equine behavior program, and she was recently featured in Equus.

Other speakers will be Skip Kralick, project writer for the Da Vinci Horse, Inc.; Laurie Beim, director of communications from the United States Equestrian Team and executive assistant for the National Horse Show; and Karen Porter, Prestige Saddle and Harness, who will discuss saddle fitting.

During the past year, other LVHC clinics have addressed lameness, horse pastures and barn management, training and general health maintenance.

Van Dale Introduces Belt Feeders, Conveyors

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. — Van Dale, a major manufacturer and marketer of farmstead equipment, announces the introduction of the new Maxim I™ line of belt feeders and conveyors for livestock feeders and dairy farmers.

Maxim I belt feeders and conveyors are designed for high capacity, fast delivery, easy maintenance, and low power requirements. The new Van Dale Maxim I line includes a belt feeder and conveyor with single V-belt drive and a belt conveyor with a hydraulic drive system that is unique to Van Dale.

All units feature a 16-inch wide high capacity belt which rides in deep trough concave sections. Belts are made of 120 pound polyester cord construction, with low temp PVC coating to withstand silage acids and temperature variations. Feeder and conveyor sections are constructed of 16 gauge. weather-resistant galvanized steel and are able to span distances of up to 20 feet without additional support.

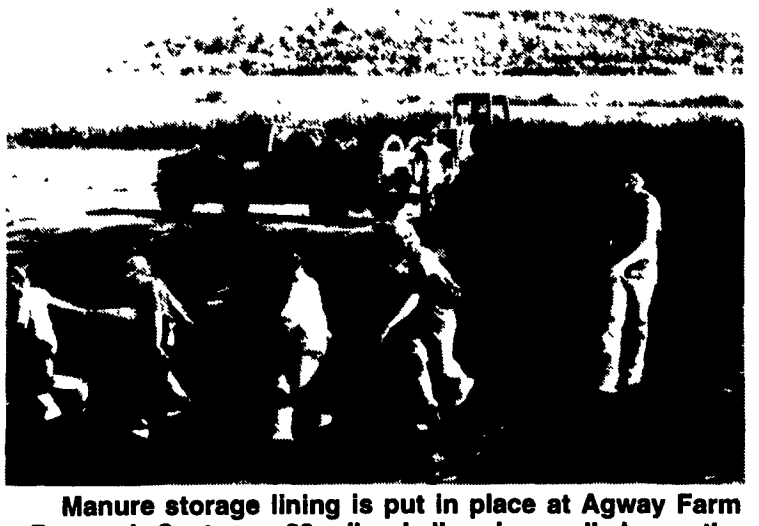
Poly-Lined Manure Storage Is N.Y. First

TULLY, N.Y. — Nearly 300 farmers and guests saw the first poly-lined manure storage installed in New York during Nutrient Management Field Days recently at Agway Farm Research Center (AFRC).

While liners are not yet required in New York, Pennsylvania-based Manada Construction has installed more than 40 liners in that state. Two other New York farms are scheduled to have liners in place before year-end. A 20-year warranty against leakage accompanies each liner.

"Management of manure and other farm nutrients is a leading concern for today's farmers," said Dr. Stan Weeks, director Agway Farm Systems Research and Product Development.

"With the Agway research herd increasing over the past two years, we had outgrown our current manure storage facility," he says. "We definitely needed to make changes and the poly-lined storage was the best way to store most of the manure away from the buildings while being conscious of environmental concerns. Plus we'll get twice the storage capacity for half the cost when compared to a concrete storage."



Manure storage lining is put in place at Agway Farm Research Center as 60 mil poly-liner is unrolled over the top of geo-textile material creating a secure barrier.

The poly liner at AFRC was completed in two days. First, a geo-textile material is laid down in strips and sewn together. Next strips of the 60 mil poly liner are put over the geo-textile. The heavier-than-landfill pole liner is then welded together creating the leak-proof encasement.

Storage capacity of this installation is one million gallons. It measures 225 feet x 100 feet x 12 feet and holds six months' manure from 350 animals. However, Larry Brubaker. owner of Manada Construction, said his company has installed liners up to five million gallons.

Agway recommends using a squeezer/separator to separate manure solids from liquids. By doing so, manure is easier to move to a remote site for irrigation or hauling. In fact, a four horsepower pump is used at Agway Farm Research Center to move the liquids over one-half mile through a six-inch pipe at a rate of 250 gallons per minute.

Agco To Acquire McConnell Tractor Assets

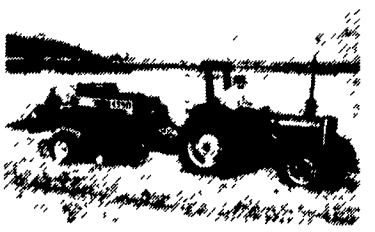
ATLANTA, Ga. — AGCO Corporation (NYSE-AG) has agreed to acquire the assets of McConnell Tractor, Inc., which is headquartered in Kinston, N.C.

Under the agreement, Agco will acquire certain assets of the company including accounts receivable, inventories, technology and production tooling. The acquisition price is estimated at approximately $3.5 million.

McConnell Tractor manufactures and sells high-horsepower, four-wheel-drive, articulated tractors and parts through a network of approximately 200 dealers throughout North America. These tractors, which are known as super-tractors, provide diesel engines with a range of 350 - 425 horsepower with unique features for pulling large implements and specialty farm equipment on large acreage farms.

The new tractor line, which retails in the $100,000 - $150,000 range, will be offered by Agco as a separate brand through a dealer network. Marketing plans are being developed for entry into the North American market in mid-1995. Agco plans to relocate the manufacture of the super tractors to one of its North American facilities.

4-Wheel Drive Utility Tractors Available



New 4WD utility tractors from Massey Ferguson®—MF® 240 (41 PTO hp) and MF 253 (48 PTO hp-shown). Both new 4WD tractors handle many applications from loader to tillage operations and mowing hay to spreader chores.

ATLANTA, Ga. — The MF® 240 (41 PTO hp) and MF 253 (48 PTO hp) are two of Massey Ferguson's best-selling two-wheel-drive utility tractors. Now both tractors are available in new four-wheel-drive models with the added versatility farmers are looking for in a mid-range tractor.

"These two tractors will handle many applications from loader work to small tillage operations, and from mowing hay to spreading manure," said Dennis Heinecke, Massey Ferguson marketing manager. "The MF 240 or MF 253 4WD tractor is the ideal small utility tractor on a large farm or the main workhorse tractor on a hobby farm, and can also handle almost any task in a landscaping operation."

The 4WD MF 240 and MF 253 tractors are the same overall length as their 2WD versions, resulting in a shorter wheelbase for better maneuverability. This is achieved by mounting the 4WD engagement clutch on the center housing, eliminating the need for a spacer containing the 4WD gears and maintaining the short wheelbase.

Four-wheel-drive is engaged on-the-go with a T-handle at the operator's left. When 4WD is needed, the operator simply pushes down on the handle. There is no need to stop or use the clutch.

Miller Promoted At Keystone Farm Credit

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Bruce Miller has been promoted to the position of vice president credit operations at Keystone Farm Credit. The announcement was made by Senior Vice President James R. Jonik.

Miller grew up in Red Lion on his family's crop and livestock farm. He attended school in the Red Lion Area District where he was active in the vo ag program and local, county, and state FFA. He was graduated from Pennsylvania State University with a degree in food science and agricultural education.

An employee of the Farm Credit System for 16 years, Bruce has spent the last four years as branch manager at the Lancaster office. Prior to joining Keystone he was employed by York Farm Credit. In his new position he will be responsible for supervising the Lancaster, Quarryville, and Silverdale branch offices.

Case Builds Corporate Structure, Intensifies Focus

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation has announced a new corporate structure designed to further strengthen the company's customer focus and create a new global product management function which will speed the development of new products.

The reorganized structure will provide worldwide leadership for new-product development; encourage cross-functional teams throughout the organization to more effectively design, manufacture, market and support Case products; integrate product development, engineering, purchasing and manufacturing operations on a global basis; provide increased focus on development of international markets.

"This new organization enables us to remain close to our customers worldwide," said Jean-Pierre Rosso, Case president and chief executive officer. "This will ensure that we continue to develop products that meet the unique needs of the markets we serve."

Victoria L. Rickey has been named to the newly created position of senior vice president, product management and strategic planning, reporting to Rosso.

Kenneth Q. Kessler, previously senior vice president, engineering worldwide, has been named senior vice president, product planning.

Thomas E. Evans has been named to the newly created position of senior vice president, operations, reporting to Rosso. Evans will have global responsibility for manufacturing, engineering, purchasing and quality.

Additionally, R. Gary Diaz has joined Case as senior vice president, product development and engineering, reporting to Evans.

Alfred J. Mulvey, formerly vice president, purchasing, becomes vice president, purchasing and component manufacturing, reporting to Evans.

The Case International Business Group, formerly headed by Rickey, has been realigned. Phil R. Moore, formerly general manager, Australia, has been named general manager, Asia-Pacific. Sales and distribution responsibilities for Eastern Europe, the Middle East and Africa are being assumed by Steven G. Lamb, executive vice president and general manager, Europe.

Richard M. Christman will continue in his position as senior vice president, sales and marketing-North America. Harold D. Boyanovsky and Dennis E. Schwieger continue in their respective positions as vice president, parts operations, and vice president, North American marketing.

As part of the reorganization of the field sales organization, Herman F. Kosten has been appointed vice president, North American agricultural equipment sales and Jon R. Carlson has been named vice president, North American construction equipment sales.

As part of the new structure, John M. Johansen has been appointed operations manager for the North American agricultural sales organization, reporting to Kosten. In addition, the ag field sales organization will be grouped into three regions led by Kosten. Brian H. Kirkpatrick has been named region manager for the North Region, James L. Irwin becomes region manager for the Midwest Region, and Larry J. Adams will be region manager for the South Region.

Reporting to Jon Carlson, William R. Seidel has been appointed manager, North American construction equipment sales operations, and Glen E. Miller has been named region operations manager for the newly created North American CE regional office in Racine.

Under the reorganization, five North American construction equipment regions have been established and five sales managers named: Robert F. (Robin) Killian, northwest region; James E. McCullough, northeast region; George L. Wells, southwest region; Randy V. Platek, southeast region, and Fred C. Hnatiw, Canada.

Powley Named Dauphin Extension Director

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Patricia L. Powley has been named county extension director for Penn State Cooperative Extension in Dauphin County. She succeeds James Welshans, who has returned to full-time educational programming responsibilities.

Michelle Rodgers, interim director of the Capital Region of Penn State Cooperative Extension, announced Powley's appointment. "I am very pleased that Patricia has accepted this important assignment in Dauphin County," Rodgers said.

"Patricia's broad leadership experience, as well as knowledge of the county and educational programming, will be an asset as we strive to provide relevant educational programs and assistance to the citizens of the region."

Powley joined Penn State Cooperative Extension in 1970 as assistant home economist in Adams County. In 1972, she assumed duties as home economist in Dauphin County. Powley was promoted to senior extension agent in 1984. In 1988, she began delivering educational programs on financial management in a four-county area She will continue this educational effort in her new position.

Powley has a bachelor's and a master's degree in home economics education from Indiana University of Pennsylvania. She also completed course work from the Institute of Financial Planning in Denver, Colo., and is a certified financial planner. She is pursuing a paralegal certificate.

Powley also has applied her expertise in financial management by serving on local, regional, and state community and extension committees. She is a member of the National Association of Extension Home Economists (NAEHE) and has held various leadership roles in professional associations, including treasurer of the NAEHE and president of the national Epsilon Sigma Phi Honorary Fraternity.

Powley has received many awards and honors, including the national outstanding home economist award from NAEHE in Wichita, Kan.

Agco Introduces 3 White Tractors

KANSAS CITY, MO — An extended line of White Workhorse tractors was unveiled by Agco Corporation at a special product introduction held here for its dealers.

Functionally designed for rugged performance and dependability while emphasizing greater customer choice, White's three newest entries in the high-horsepower tractor market collectively offer increased power, more transmission choices, and superior operator control.

Expanding White's 6100 Series tractor line, introduced in 1993, the new 6124 and 6144 Workhorse models boast a powerful Cummins "B" Series six-cylinder, 359-C.I.D. (5.9 liter), liquid-cooled, diesel engine. For optimum torque output and fuel performance, the 6124's powerplant, rated at 124 PTO horsepower, is turbocharged while the 6144, rated at 142 PTO horsepower, is both turbocharged and aftercooled.

Combining the economy and value of a synchronized transmission with the convenience of the 6100's full powershift transmission, the innovative Quadrashift transmission offers 32 forward and 32 reverse gears through the combination of an eight-speed synchronized gearbox and a synchronized forward/reverse shuttle with four-speed powershift. Each of the eight gear choices provides its own four-speed powershift range for better flexibility and more usable power.

A technological highlight of the new 6124 and 6144 tractors is an electronic 3-point hitch. Agco engineers have eliminated the wear parts and linkage adjustment associated with mechanical sensing devices by introducing a 3-point hitch that electronically provides accurate draft and position controls. With a twist of a knob on the 3-point control panel, the operator can easily adjust the depth, maximum height, draft sensitivity, and lowering speed for increased production and less down-time.

Another unique feature on the new 6124 and 6144 models is an advanced electronic control system (ECS) that automatically monitors and controls five major tractor systems, including the differential lock, Power Front Axle, PTO, low pressure hydraulics, and transmission.

The differential lock is just one focus of the ECS. Applying the brakes or raising the 3-point hitch automatically disengages the tractor's rear differential lock. Lowering the 3-point hitch automatically re-engages the differential lock, reducing wheel slippage. In addition, the system automatically disengages the rear differential lock when travel speed exceeds nine mph.

Perfect for larger row crop and tillage operations, the new 6215 White Workhorse was Agco's most powerful high-horsepower tractor introduced. This new tractor depends on a heavy duty, liquid-cooled, 215 PTO horsepower "C" Series Cummins six-cylinder, 504.5 C.I.D. (8.3 liter) diesel with wastegate turbocharging and aftercooling to power it through the toughest jobs. In addition, cylinders heads with low-swirl intake and exhaust design and a high-pressure fuel injection system with five-hole injectors ensure greater fuel efficiency.

The 6215 brings all of this power to the ground with an 18-speed full powershift transmission. As used in the White 6100 Series models, it incorporates electronic powershift transmission control and single-lever shifting, which let the operator match ground speed to virtually any power load or operating condition.

Tractor Sets Neb. Test Record

ATLANTA, Ga. — Breaking the previous record, a power-front-axle equipped White Model 6125 tractor, rated at 125 PTO horsepower, recently set a new standard by pulling close to 106 percent of its own weight at the Nebraska Tractor Test Laboratory.

As tested, the Model 6125, which is powered by a 5.9 liter (359 cu. in.), 6-cylinder Cummins liquid-cooled diesel engine, had a weight of 18,824 pounds. However, during the drawbar pull test, the tractor recorded a maximum pull of 19,996 pounds, for 105.69 percent of its own weight—a record for all tractors ever tested at the facility.

In addition to the optional power-front-axle, the tested model was equipped with dual rear wheels and 18.4R-42 radial tires. No other ballast was added.

"Despite the fact the tests take place on a closed-circuit concrete track, the record says a great deal for the weight distribution and balance built into the White Workhorse tractors," said Harlan Schwertfeger, sales engineer for White tractors. "Every 6100 Series model features a rugged, 1,400-pound cast-iron mainframe that has become a trademark of White Workhorse tractors. In addition to the outstanding weight distribution it provides the tractor, the heavy mainframe also protects the entire drivetrain against torsional stress for a longer service life."

Evaluation Center Starts Test Programs

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Meat Animal Evaluation Center wishes to announce the start of the fall performance testing programs. A capacity of 75 bulls have been penned. These bulls had to meet minimum requirements and they are some of the best bulls available from some of the most progressive, performance-minded beef breeders in the eastern United States.

This group of bulls consists of 22 Angus, two Red Angus, 32 Polled Herefords, 15 Simmentals, two Charolais, one Limousin and one Beefmaster. These bulls will be given a 21-day adjustment period.

On November 8, these bulls will be weighed on test. They will then complete a 112-day testing program where they will be weighed every 28 days, individual feed consumptions will be obtained, and feed efficiencies calculated. Reports of the bulls' progress will be made available to the public.

At the conclusion of the testing period, the bulls will have their total average daily gain calculated as well as their adjusted yearling weights. The bulls are given a comprehensive breeding soundness exam and must pass minimum criteria for structural correctness and breed character. The bulls are all scanned ultrasonically to determine fat thickness and loin eye area.

The center requires all up-to-date EPDs to be made available by the owners. Final indexes are calculated for all of the bulls. These indexes compare the individual bulls to their breed group averages.

After the calculations are accomplished and the bulls are determined to pass all the minimum criteria, approximately the top 75 percent of the bulls are selected to be offered for sale in Pennsylvania's 22nd Annual Performance Tested Bull sale scheduled for March 31, 1995.

The center is also receiving pens of pigs for the winter swine progeny test. These pens of pigs consist of four to six pigs out of one sire and preferably several different litters. The purpose of a progeny test is to evaluate the sire of the pigs actually tested. This differs from an individual performance testing program where the purpose is to evaluate the individual perspective sires themselves that are on test.

The progeny pigs are delivered to the Meat Animal Evaluation Center, weighing between 40 and 65 pounds. These pigs are given a one-week adjustment period and then put on official test. On test, the pigs are weighed every 14 days, until the pen average weight reaches 230 pounds.

The pen attaining this weight concludes the testing period. At this time. the pigs are slaughtered and a variety of carcass information is collected. With the gain information, feed efficiencies, and a large amount of carcass information, this adds up to a very comprehensive evaluation of the offsprings' sire.

For more information about Pennsylvania's performance testing programs or to request sales catalogs, contact Glenn Eberly, Director, Meat Animal Evaluation Centers 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803. Phone (814) 238-2527 or (814) 865-5857.

Hunterdon Names Beef Show Winners

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — The Hunterdon County 4-H Open Beef Show was held recently here at the Flemington Fair.

The show was judged by John Neilson of Brookfield, Nova Scotia, Canada.

The show started off with the Angus heifers.

Dana's SS Erica, exhibited by Dana Mickel of Glen Gardner, N.J., was selected the grand champion Angus Heifer. Carries STK Lady, exhibited by Carrie Mickel of Glen Gardner, was named reserve champion Angus heifer.

Shaun Burger of Pitman, N.J., exhibited First Edition, a May 1993 Polled Hereford heifer to the grand championship of the Hereford class.

Jennifer Lawton of Far Hills, N.J., exhibited the grand champion Simmental heifer, C380, a September 1993 heifer.

Jennifer also showed the reserve champion Simmental heifer, D411, a March 1994 heifer.

In the cow/calf class, Jennifer Lawton exhibited her Simmental cow and March 1994 heifer calf to the championship of that class.

For the overall heifer champion, Judge John Neilson selected Dana Mickel's Dana's SS Erica, an April 1993 Angus heifer, as champion. Overall reserve champion heifer was C380, a Simmental heifer shown by Jennifer Lawton.

In the showmanship contest, Jennifer Lawton of Far Hills, N.J. won first place among beginners. Shawn Burger of Pitman, N.J. won the intermediate division. Carrie Mickel of Glen Gardner won first in the senior division.

The overall champion showman was Carrie Mickel. She received the Don Kniffen Showmanship Achievement Award. This award is a plaque named in honor of Don Kniffen, who for more than 30 years was in charge of the 4-H livestock program for the state of New Jersey. He also ran the state 4-H baby beef show and sale during that period.

The overall winner of the showmanship contest at the Hunterdon County 4-H Open Beef Show will have their name put on the plaque and it will hang in the Hunterdon County Extension office.

The steer show started off in the afternoon with the Angus class. Dana Mickel showed Ideal's Linebacker an April 1993 steer from Ideal Angus Farm of Augusta, N.J. to the grand championship.

Rose Marie Sylvester of Williamstown N.J. showed her April 1993 steer Sapphire to the reserve champion Angus steer. Sapphire also came from the Ideal Angus Farm of Jake Tanis.

Amanda Sylvester of Williamstown, N.J. showed her September steer to the championship of the Hereford division. Her steer, Strawberry came from Battleground Farms of Salem, N.J.

Adriene Malsbury of Freehold, N.J. showed her May 1993 steer Buddy to the reserve champion of the Hereford class.

Amanda Sylvester showed her Simmental steer Socks to the championship of that breed. Socks is a May 1993 steer from the herd of Meadow Hill Farms in Purcellville, Va.

The cross-bred champion was an April 1993 steer Zorro, shown by Adriene Malsbury. Reserve champion crossbred steer was a Feb. 1994 steer shown by Jennifer Lawton.

The overall grand champion steer selected by Neilson was the Angus champion, Ideal's Linebacker, shown by Dana Mickel. The overall reserve champion steer was the Simmental champion Socks, exhibited by Amanda Sylvester.

BARN CLEANERS

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.
You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

PLAN NOW FOR 1995!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

When Planning Your Forage Programs, Remember That Your Main Objective Is To Store The Plant And Remove It From Storage In As Good Condition As Possible. The Upright Silo Has Never Been Equalled In Its Ability To Do This...
On Most Dairy Farms, Forage Quality Is The Single Most Improtant Factor Relating To Profit...

Poured Concrete Silos Consistently Out-Perform All Other Methods Of Storing And Preserving The Total Digestible Nutrients In Forage Crops...

"Nobody Protects Forage Quality Like We Do..Nobody!"

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

2oz. Seal of Quality Wheeling

Genuine Old-Time Quality

Every Wheeling 2 oz sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel topped with an extra thick zinc coating and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks Build with a Wheeling 2 oz sheet and you ll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that s been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years

The Proof is in the Process

The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook Norteman manufacturing process This technology allows a more consistent quality product, and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion The process takes more handling and more time but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty

Dimensions and Specifications

If your building plans call for roofing and siding materials with exceptional corrosion resistance minimum upkeep and old time toughness you ll want to check the specs of Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality galvanized

A Natural Alternative !

Each dose of LACTO VET contains over three billion colony forming units of Lactobacillus Acidophilus-freeze dried and encapsulated in protein to prevent deterioration.

LACTO VET is an all natural product, so there is no danger of drug contamination and no milk withdrawal from untreated quarters.

Each dose consists of: Sterile Diluent, freeze dried Lacto Vet, Alcohol Pad and Candula.

You can order LACTO VET in a box of ten doses or by the case (nine boxes per case).

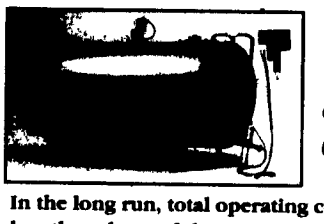
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT
Offer
Scroll-Compressor Technology
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment costs may be only a small part of your milk-cooling costs.

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 42,000 lbs milk day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

Contact your Mueller distributor for further comparisons.

LLAMAS LLAMAS LLAMAS

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer selling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, including Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

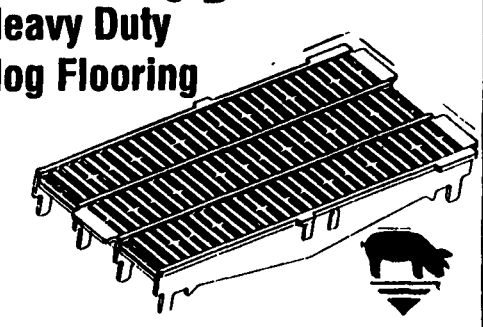
REPLACING HOG FLOORING? CONSIDERING NEW CONSTRUCTION? ☑ CHECK OUT Polygrate™
Heavy Duty Hog Flooring



Time Tested and Proven
This style of POLYGRATE was first introduced in 1981. Over the years Farocx has continued to refine this product. POLYGRATE is one of only a few "World Class" floors that has stood this test of time.

Outstanding Traction
POLYGRATE'S unique "high-low" finger design provides outstanding traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort.
◆ POLYGRATE'S rounded corners minimize injuries. The edges are beveled providing a smoother, safer surface that promotes comfort, too.

What Does This All Add Up To?
◆ More piglets survive until weaning
◆ Less splay/spraddle leg problems
◆ Heavier piglets at weaning
◆ Better conditioned sows at weaning

23 HELP WANTED

MANAGER OF INDUSTRY RELATIONS

The Pennsylvania Beef Council, a producer-funded consumer marketing organization, announces an employment opportunity for an Industry Relations Manager, based out of our Harrisburg office.

Candidate will serve as a liaison between the Beef council and the cattle industry through: serving as an information source on issues associated with the checkoff; coordination of the Beef Council's producer communications, beef quality assurance and county promotion programs; and assist in implementing a check off reporting and collection plan.

Candidate must have excellent oral and written skills to communicate well with producers, livestock dealers, auction market operators and others to ensure goodwill and collection compliance. A bachelor's degree in an agriculturally-related field, or prior experience in some facet of the cattle or agricultural industry is required.

For immediate consideration, please forward resume, including salary requirements to:

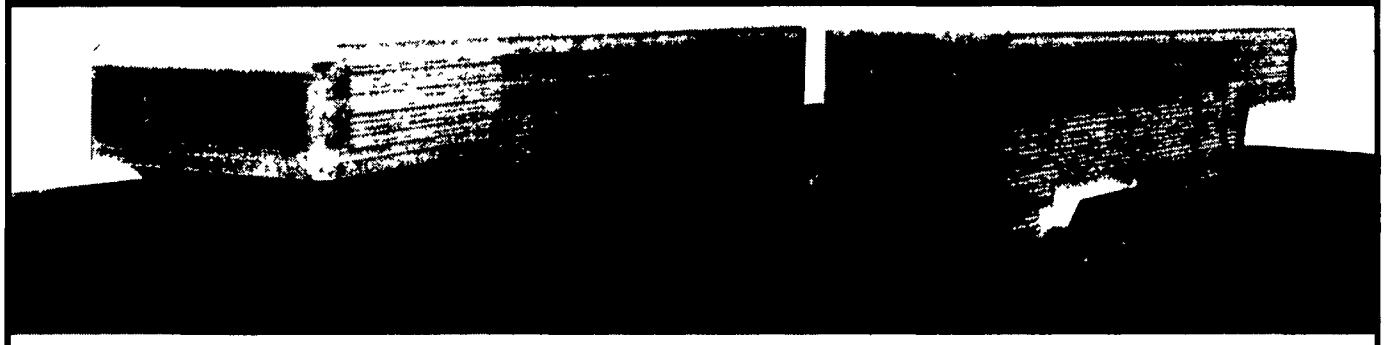
Anything Less Isn't Good Enough



If livestock is your business, Eby Gooseneck Trailers include these features to protect the livestock you transport:

- Durable all-aluminum construction with less weight for more payload
- Axles, wheels, tires and brakes that are designed to carry the weight the trailer will hold
- Gates and doors designed for easy loading/unloading
- Proven post and slat design to control airflow and easily close up for winter conditions
- Aerodynamic design to improve fuel economy

Eby Gooseneck Trailers are available in lengths from 12 to 32 feet with a choice of widths and inside heights. We offer every custom option, including stainless steel front end for great looks.

Whatever kind of livestock you transport, you can rely on EBY products to do the job right.

Eby custom-builds bodies and trailers for all types of livestock, grain and farm commodities.

IBP Challenges Industry To Assist NPPC In Promoting Pork

DES MOINES, Iowa — In response to an appeal by the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) to the nation's packers, IBP, Inc., issued a challenge to the rest of the industry in a effort to promote increased pork consumption.

The Dakota City, Neb. — based company has agreed to contribute $50,000 to the National Pork Producers Council, if all other sectors of the industry provide an additional $100,000. The money would be used to support the current promotional efforts of NPPC to keep pork moving through the food chain during this period of large supplies.

"We believe it's time to step up efforts to move the expanded supplies of high quality pork available in the marketplace today," Gene Leman, IBP executive vice president, said. "We are moving as many hogs through our plants as possible in order to provide market stability. We believe additional product promotion is also needed."

"The National Pork Producers Council is pleased IBP has stepped forward with its support," NPPC President Glen Keppy, a pork producer for Davenport, Iowa, said. "We will be encouraging others in the business to respond to this challenge to help move more high quality pork through the food chain to the consumer."

Go where you've never gone before.

The new 4WD Massey Ferguson® 240 at 41 hp and MF 253 at 48 hp give you the traction and clearance you need to get across the wet spots. Through the high weeds. And up the steep slopes.*

They can also reduce compaction. And increase stability, especially when doing loader work.

Best of all, we've kept all the great features that have made the MF 240 and 253 two of our most popular tractors:

- High-torque Perkins engines that are unequaled for rugged reliability and efficiency.
- Advanced Ferguson linkage and hydraulics to give you faster, more precise control of implements.
- Superb dealer and parts support to keep you on the job.
- And high resale value to protect your investment.

Better test drive one today before they're all sold out.

MASSEY FERGUSON

* Manufacturer's rated PTO horsepower. Massey Ferguson® is a wholly owned subsidiary of AGCO Corporation. Duluth, Georgia.

Gelbvieh Reports Record Growth

WESTMINSTER, Colo. — According to figures from the American Gelbvieh Association, the Gelbvieh breed set all-time growth records in four key areas during fiscal year 1993-1994. The association reports record expansion in inquiries, memberships, transfers, and cow inventory.

Interest in Gelbvieh cattle continues to soar; inquiries from cattlemen across the country rose 40 percent from 1992-1993. Beef producers from the cattle-rich southern and southeastern states led the movement toward Gelbvieh. Forty-eight percent of the inquiries received in 1993-1994 came from these areas.

Adult memberships increased a record 10 percent and transfers were up 8 percent, when compared to figures from 1992-1993. The total number of cows on inventory with AGA also increased 8 percent.

Despite continued fluctuations in the marketplace, Gelbvieh registrations held steady in the 1993-1994 fiscal year.

"The numbers demonstrate the practical and expanding role Gelbvieh plays in a continually changing beef industry," said AGA President Alan Albers, Nashville, Kan.

AGA Executive Director Jim Gibb said, "Steady interest and growth in these areas is particularly significant given recent price fluctuations in the industry. More and more cattle producers—both seedstock and commercial—are discovering the advantages of adding Gelbvieh to their programs."

Some of Gelbvieh's strength is attributable to AGA's dynamic Commercial Marketing Program, which improves demand for Gelbvieh by marketing over 63,000 Gelbvieh feeder calves every year. Additionally, U.S. Meat Animal Research Center data show that Gelbvieh excel in rapid early growth, lean yield, fertility, milk production, and maternal efficiency. Gelbvieh's reputation for excellence is backed up by the AGA's proven performance registration system and the selection skill and integrity of Gelbvieh breeders.

For more information on Gelbvieh and American Gelbvieh Association programs, contact AGA at 10900 Dover Street, Westminster, CO 80021, (303) 465-BEEF.

Bucks County Holds 4-H Lamb Sale

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Tracey Kimbel, Jamison, showed her first ever market lamb to grand champion in the Bucks County 4-H Market Lamb Show held recently at the Middletown, Grange Fair in Wrightstown. The 122-pound Suffolk lamb was purchased by Worthington Racing Stables of Langhorne for $450.

The reserve champion lamb was shown by Joel Nehoda of Doylestown. His 108–pound Dorset was bought by Rosenberger's Dairy of Hatfield for $375.

In all, 14 4-H members competed in the market lamb show judged by Dr. Robert Herr of Nix Besser Farm, Narvon, Pa. The sale averaged $232.50 per head with the champions and $202.50 when the champions were not included.

Show results:

Heavy Weights: 1 Lisa Nichols, Coopersburg, 2 Peter Wolff, Solebury, 3 Jenny Ruth, Pineville

Medium Weight: 1 Tracey Kimbel, Jamison-Grand Champion, 2 Joel Nehoda, Doylestown-Reserve Champion, 3 Jezik Nehoda, Doylestown

Light Weight: 1 Jesse Glover, Penns Park, 2 Ben Haskey, Lahaska

Joel Nehoda, left, Doylestown and his 108–pound reserve champion at the Bucks County 4-H Lamb Sale. Rosenberger's Dairy, represented by Warren E. Buckman III, paid $375.

Estate Planning Seminars Set

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — The Cooperative Extension Service-University of Maryland at College Park and Farm Credit Banks are offering estate planning seminars for farm, woodland, greenhouse, and nursery owners. The seminars will focus on how to keep property and possessions when land ownership is transferred from one generation to the next.

The Columbia Inn in Columbia (Howard County) will host the first seminar December 2. The second seminar will be held at the Howard Johnson Plaza Hotel in Hagerstown (Washington County) on December 3. Both seminars will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Speakers from the public and private sectors will help participants:

- Develop a working knowledge of the various types of estate planning tools that are applicable to their unique situations.
- Understand the federal and state tax implications of the various estate planning tools.
- Be motivated and comfortable in seeking local resources to establish their individual estate plans.

For example, John Becker, associate professor of agricultural law and economics at Penn State University, will discuss production agriculture and transferring assets. Ed Thompson from American Farmland Trust in Washington, D.C. will explain conservation easements in estate planning. Other featured speakers, including David Morris, an attorney at Franklin/Morris Associates in Baltimore, and Lloyd Casey from the USDA Forest Service, will cover related subjects.

Registration is $40 for individuals and $75 for a couple or partnership. This fee covers an estate planning workbook and lunch.

Dale R. Olver
Dairy and Animal Science

The nature of employment opportunities for graduates of agricultural schools is changing rapidly. Over the last few decades, there has been a noticeable shift in the United States from an industrial base to a service-oriented economy.

Likewise, increasing global competition has forced restructuring of many companies to reduce the number of middle-management employees. Finally, the largest source of economic growth in the 1990s has been smaller companies.

According to Phil Bucher, assistant director of Penn State's Career Development and Placement Service, many of the best jobs available are not even publicly advertised. Smaller companies often do not have large recruiting budgets. They tend to hire based on referrals. As a result, employment strategies for college graduates have changed dramatically.

Work Experience

What are employers looking for when hiring? Bucher cites a Michigan State survey which ranks relevant work experience first in credentials for employment. These experiences often take the form of internships and summer jobs. They are important because they show that the candidate has been exposed to the real work world.

Many Penn State students have completed agriculture-related internships over the past few years, and several have received job offers because of those experiences.

One area of work experience often overlooked by students is involvement on the family farm. In fact, some fail to even list this on their resume. But employers associate farm experience with responsibility and the ability to relate to an agricultural clientele.

Grade-Point Average

Ranking second in the Michigan State survey is grade-point average. Solid grades are a good indicator that the candidate can master subject matter easily, and employers use them as a screening mechanism.

Recruiters from Archer Daniels Midland and CIBA recently told a Penn State class that grades were used to differentiate between close candidates and that questions about low grades will be asked in interviews.

They also stated that junior/senior grades receive the most emphasis. Low grades indicate that the candidate may not have mastered time management or may be involved in too many outside activities. However, lower grades often can be overcome with positive related work experience. Bucher recommends that college students strive to maintain at least a 3.0 grade-point average.

Ability To Collaborate

In the changing nature of employment, one skill that ranks much higher than before is "ability to collaborate." This trait placed third in the survey of employers. As the economy shifts to a service base, working in teams to satisfy consumers becomes more important.

On many farms, working relationships among producer, veterinarian, financial institution, and nutritionist have become routine. Likewise, in many companies, teamwork between technical consultants and sales staff is essential for success in solving problems.

How does one show an ability to collaborate? In the college world, working together in class projects, debates, and case-decision studies are good ways to develop this team approach. A second and more fun way is to become involved in undergraduate clubs and judging teams. These activities demonstrate that members can work together for a common goal, and they also offer positive networking opportunities.

Networking

Networking is critical in searching for employment today. Bucher states that finding jobs in today's world is "like being a private detective."

Large companies are no longer doing the majority of hiring. Industry contacts made through clubs, judging teams, volunteer work, and summer internships greatly enhance the likelihood that a student can discover career opportunities in the smaller companies that hire only one or two employees per year.

Other Traits

Other candidate traits receiving high priority by employers are knowledge of total quality management (TQM), computer literacy, and "customer orientation." The basis for many of the best newly available jobs is working directly with customers, so the ability to understand their needs and limitations is critical for success. That is why employers favor candidates who have experience, even if it is working in a fast-food restaurant or a convenience store. These jobs demonstrate capabilities to relate to customers and work in teams.

The representatives from Archer Daniels Midland and CIBA also stressed willingness to relocate as a primary qualification. Many of the companies that interview at Penn State have few positions available in Pennsylvania, but they are hiring for slots in New England and the Midwest. If a candidate has rigid geographical restrictions, then chances for employment are greatly hampered.

In summary, the ideal career opportunities of 20 years ago may no longer exist. However, rapidly growing sectors of customer- and service-related careers offer many opportunities for candidates who have solid academic performance with relevant work experiences. Networking is critical in searching for and locating these positions.

Pa. Grange Endorses Ag Services

HARRISBURG, (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange Service Corporation of Harrisburg, recently announced its endorsement of Agri-Service Agencies Inc. Of Syracuse, N.Y.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Pennsylvania State Grange Service Corporation will make the products, programs, and benefits of Agri-Service available to the more than 33,000 Pennsylvania State Grange members.

"This is an outstanding addition to the growing line of services for Pennsylvania Grangers," said State Master Gordon Hiller.

Founded in March of 1987, the Pennsylvania State Grange Service Corporation provides various services to Pennsylvania State Grange members, including health, accident and auto insurance, Pennsylvania Grange Exchange (food co-op), timber service, and tool source.

For more than 25 years, Agri-Service has provided health insurance and other employee benefit programs to dairy farmers and other small agri-business owners across the Northeast.

"This alliance will provide Pennsylvania farmers and business owners greater access to our many cost-effective group programs," said Craig Buckhout, President of Agri-Services Agencies Inc. "We are pleased to be working with the Pennsylvania State Grange and its Service Corporation."

Agri-Service Agencies, Inc. is a wholly owned insurance subsidiary of Dairylea, a Syracuse-based dairy cooperative with more than 2,300 member farms throughout the Northeast, that markets approximately 3.1 billion pounds of milk annually. Dairylea participates and is invested in a milk marketing network stretching from Maine to Maryland to Ohio.

The Pennsylvania State Grange is a non-profit, rural, family, and farm organization dedicated to: improving the quality of rural living through educational, social and legislative activity; advancing the cause of agriculture; developing rural leadership and acting as a spokesperson in public affairs; and promoting family life through family-oriented activities.

EAA Meeting Reflects Philosophy

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The format for the annual meeting of Egg Association of America (EAA) was roundtable discussion, presentation on a major issue, and required business.

"That reflects our overall policy of emphasizing business over politics," said Mac McLaurin, EAA president. "We're interested in getting issues on the table, getting related input from as wide as scope as feasible, and then finding the most effective and efficient solutions."

During the roundtable discussions, participants identified the most important issues facing their companies and the whole egg industry. Topping the list were some perennial favorites such as food safety, environment quality, animal welfare, egg market, burdensome government regulations, and egg consumption.

Compared to past meetings, more emphasis this time was placed on disposal of spent fowl, a perception of decreasing USDA influence (especially related to food safety), and the negative psychology associated with several market reporting mechanisms.

Some participants took the time to suggest ways to meet some of these challenges, such as acting rather than reacting, adding value to their product, and taking advantage of opportunities in egg products.

The guest speaker, Dr. Joy Mench, an associate professor and researcher from the University of Maryland, spoke on the changing public attitudes toward animal welfare. She distinguished protests by extremists such as PETA from growing public concern about how agricultural animals are treated. She pointed out that chief public concerns today are "beak trimming, forced molt, caging (both stock and design), transport and slaughter."

Mench drew an interesting parallel with evolving attitudes about use of laboratory animals and changes in the law related to treatment of animals. She applauded EAA's efforts to be more proactive in this area.

Outgoing chairman Andy Wadsworth said, "... we need to spend our time concentrating on what your needs are going to be .. in the coming years .... Egg Association members have been on the leading edge in our industry because we aren't bound by our old paradigms ('we've always done it this way,' mentality). We have to look at new ways of doing business, develop new attitudes about who we are in business for (the customer), and promote ourselves, as well as our products. The Certified Egg Producer program is a great start .... I'm as excited as ever to be a member of EAA, to be a part of a group of my peers that loves the egg business (most of the time), wants to be successful, and supports the breakthrough concepts that come out of our association for the good of the industry."

Incoming chairman, Al Wenger, summarized his intentions, "We need to operate our association like a business," and we do that in three ways:

- Fast-recognize changing threats and opportunities and act constructively.
- Focus-on the future and on excellence.
- Flexible-bring solutions to fruition without high costs.

EAA recognized retiring Dr. John Mason for his professionalism in directing the salmonella Enteritidis Control Program. "Professional" is defined as "one who sacrifices his own interests for those of his profession," according to Andy Wadsworth.

The group then adjourned to attend the conference and trade show. Copies of the Certified Egg Producer™ program were made available in the EAA booth.

Consider an alternative market for some of your hay. As shown in the second table, the value of corn to the ration increases with the value of hay. Feed the lower quality hay to the cows with corn supplementation and sell the more valuable hay to someone who didn't read this article.

Provide a good, well balanced mineral free-choice.

USING CORN TO REDUCE WINTERING COSTS OF COWS

Corn prices are at their lowest level in a number of years. So, too, are cattle prices, which implies many producers need to find ways to reduce costs if they expect to remain profitable in feeder calf production.

One of the highest costs associated with the production of feeder calves is wintering costs for the cow herd. Using corn as part of that program may help reduce costs and improve productivity.

The major nutritional need for spring-calving cows at this time of year is energy. Protein requirements are at their lowest level for the entire year, and they can easily be met with most hay or other forages.

The standard for feeding energy is usually hay, silage, or haylage because that is what most farms have available. However, these feeds often have a high cost of energy. The following table indicates how the cost per megacalorie (1,000 calories) of energy varies among different feeds.

A cow doesn't really care where the energy comes from, so it may be a good idea to look at some different combinations of feed to provide the energy at a lower cost. The following table uses the differences in energy cost to show how feed costs can change by adding corn as a supplemental source of energy for wintering cows.

Implications: The best form of corn to use is probably whole, dry shelled corn. It is usually the easiest to locate and store. The cost of processing will not make up for any increase in efficiency of use.

Hay intake will have to be reduced to make costs go down. This may or may not be practical for some producers. Feeding high levels of corn to cows allotted to all

The following table indicates how the cost per Megacalorie (1000 calories) of energy varies among different feeds.

Feedstuff	Price	Energy cost ($/Mcal)
Corn	$2.00/bu	$.024

Grass hay	$70/ton	$.039

Model 1680 PIT PAL®

AGITATES — PIT PAL's heavy duty pump has the power to agitate a pit, mixing those heavy bottom solids into a pumpable slurry

CHOPS — PIT PAL'S unique intake-port design provides constant chopping action — up to 5,000 'shearing action' cuts per minute. This cutting action guarantees that straw and fiberous material will be chopped into a pumpable form.

PUMPS — PIT PAL'S handy gate valve permits agitating and/or pumping of 'under-barn' or outdoor manure pits PIT PAL is portable, giving you the flexibility to use it in many locations.

LOADS — Load your slurry wagon by combining your PIT PAL to force feed a vacuum tank or over the top with a load stand

PRIMES — PIT PAL will operate as a priming system for your high pressure irrigation pump.

Case IH Drills For Seeding In Stock

In Stock - • 20x6- Plain Type With Soybean And Grass
• 24x6 Seed Attachment, And Press Wheels
• 16x7- Equipped With Fertilizer Attachment, Press Wheels, Grass Seeder, And Soybean Attachment

There's nothing more important to a crop than early even emergence. To get it, you need accurate, even seeding.

The 5300 has earned a reputation for its seeding precision, a function of its exclusive feed cup design and dependable disk openers. And, to improve placement of seed, the opener drawbars are heavier than on previous models. Press wheels and opener bearings are heavier for long life operation.

Along with accuracy, the 5300 gives you fast, high capacity seeding, so you spend less time refilling hoppers. Grass seeding attachment for 16x7.

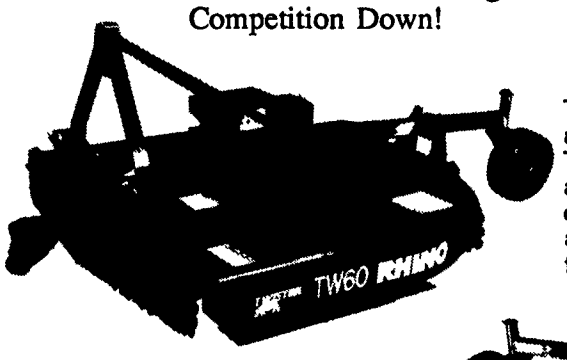
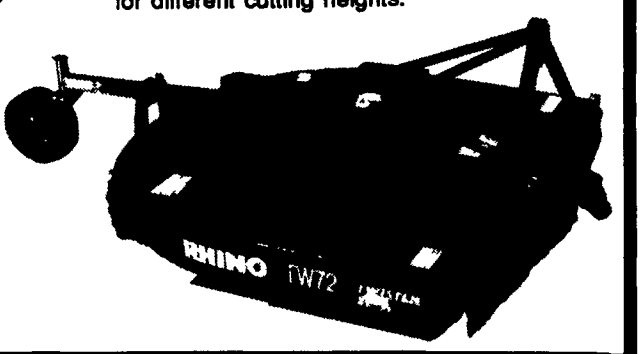
Quality, Dependability and Performance Are Three Great Reasons Why The TWISTER Family of Medium-Duty Cutters From SERVI-RHINO Is Mowing The Competition Down!



TW60

The TW60 mows a full 5' swath and is available in 540 RPM and three-point lift. The TW60 requires only a 30 HP tractor (with adequate front weight) to save on operating costs. The tail-wheel beam of the TW60, 72, and 84 lift-type cutters are easily adjustable for different cutting heights.



TW72

The TW72 mows a 6' swath of material and can be operated on a tractor as small as 40 HP (with adequate front weight). The floating top linkage of the "A" Frame allows the TW cutters to follow the contour of the ground in rough conditions without damange to the hitch.

NEW AT BINKLEY & HURST BROS.
FROM SUNFLOWER:

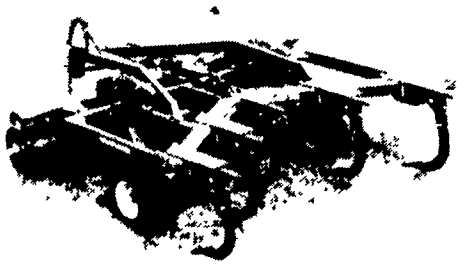
COULTER RIPPER

Conservation Tillage Equipment Built SUNFLOWER Tough!



Sunflower's Coulter Ripper is for today's conservation minded farmer demanding deep tillage with minimal residue disturbance These durable machines feature adjustable front mounted coulters on 7½ " centers The coulter blades have an added advantage of slicing hard ground to keep clod size to a minimum The V-bar ripper design gives added trash clearance and pulls smoother than straight-bar rippers These coulter rippers are built Sunflower tough and no ballast is added to the frame increasing the structural strength. Check out Sunflower's latest edition to its growing family of quality tillage equipment at a farm show or dealer near you Adjustable Coutler Gangs: The 4010/4110 both feature adjustable coulter gangs that can be raised completely in clean ground. Ratchet Jack Adjustment is standard equipment. Optional Hydraulic Gang Adjustment makes on the go changes or raising the coulters completely out of the way an easy task from the tractor seat.

COULTER CHISEL

8'9" to 18'9" Widths Available!

CHECK OUT THIS SUPERIOR NEW PRODUCT FROM SUNFLOWER!

- New extended frame length for better trash clearance
- Auto-reset trip
- Heavy-duty 4"x6"x¾ " mainframe construction.
- Hydraulically controlled coulter gangs (optional) can be adjusted on the go or raised completely in clean soils.

Four inch twisted shovels provide maximum residue incorporation. Optional 2" reversible shovels team with hydraulically-adjustable coulters to give maximum residue cover while "perforating" plow pan to encourage water retention.

Fall Is The Time To Prepare The Ground For Spring Planting Before The Winter Freeze Gets Here!

We Have 2 Models 6000 Rock Pickers Ready To Work 1 Hyd. and 1 PTO Unit

Grated Hopper Bottom
We use spring steel straps in the hopper instead of using milder steel The hopper is engineered to bounce back in shape.

Hydraulic Drive
The most popular drive on rock pickers is hydraulic which is standard on the 6000 We have incorporated a relief value to take away the shock when disengaging the drive.

Flotation Tires
The 16.5Lx16.1 flotation tires are standard equipment and are a must to reduce soil compaction

Reel Assembly
We are using the same reel as the proven Super Picker 6800 The three paddle reel has a large diameter, hard surfaced teeth and heavy duty paddles

Swing Pole
The manual swing pole is easy to maneuver in both working or transport position

Solid Shaft Grill Tines with Replaceable Grill Tips.
This modern grill is easier to maintain, has longer life giving you less down time The unique grill provides five feet of clean sifting and virtually jamless performance may be all the picker you'll need!

SEE BINKLEY & HURST FOR TRACTOR MOUNT DOZER BLADES

4600 & 5700 Series

The Degelman 4600 & 5700 hydraulic angle Bulldozer Blades attach to both front wheel assist and two wheel drive farm tractors. They incorporate a clean looking, low profile design and are built strong with tough, heavy duty construction to achieve a dozer blade that's ready to tackle demanding farm jobs.

Ease of operation, built-in quality and the convenience of finger tip hydraulic angle control are only a few of the many features you'll appreciate.

THE HARVESTING SPECIALIST

MF 800 Series corn heads.

These Quick-Attach heads are designed and built to save more crop when the going gets tough.

- Reduced snapping angle.
  Long snouts with low hinge points and 23-degree angle of snapping units, lifts low-hanging ears and slides under down, tangled crops to get lodged ears that other heads just can't.
- Hinged dividers.
  Center and outer dividers are hinged for quick, easy access to the snapping rolls, plates, gather chains, vine knives and grass shields.
- Quick-Adjust snapping plates.
  All left-hand snapping plates can be quickly adjusted from one convenient location to match crop and conditions.

William Conyngham and Sons, Frank and Will, are very proud of their Holstein herd. The September 1994 classification showed 10 EX, 34 VG, 17 GP, 2 G with a BAA of 107.4. This herd exhibits type as well as production...

Warren Sutton, Farm Manager, is responsible for the farm operation and Bill Giberson, Herdsman, works closely with the cows. Both Warren and Bill understand the importance of a balanced feeding program to maintain production and herd health.

HILLSIDE'S FEEDING PROGRAM INCLUDES:

- 1st and 2nd Cut Hay
- Rolled Shelled Corn
- Summer - Haylage
- Purina Mills Hi-E (B) 35%
- Winter - Corn Silage
- UIP Concentrate
